

The Ruiner

Inside the Illuminati Mind

Saturday, May 30, 2015

PROGENITORS

These beings exist as both a physical and non physical entity who work in unison.

Their function is to oversee the development of sentient life forms throughout the universe. They are the record keepers for all life and its evolutionary development.

Most of this work seems operated solely on the physical level because this is where their works are most evident. What is overlooked at times by those aware of this race is that they "fly with Angels" in the non physical densities. (You all know what this means it's trusted)

This also means, all of their actions are decided by the Universe itself and this is why all races who know what they are stay out of their way. Many of you have seen what their mention alone can do to a room. Many of you believe they are extinct. Some believe they are feeding sleeping versions of these beings.. This last part is not completely untrue.

The physical universe is a hostile environment. Therefor these beings can seem hostile at times. They oversee the reset and reseedling of planets who have fallen out of balance for any reason.

How they came to be exactly or reproduce is all unknown. They are not all alike and seem to be produced specifically for their jobs. Despite these cold terms make no mistake, these beings have souls of the highest potency.

To maintain balance in a physical universe, dark and light must be balanced. Each needing the other to exist at all and make the whole thing work.

So as one Progenitor may be charged with creating worlds, others are charged with destroying them. These are the ones you have been feeding. (not going into detail due to the casual eyes)

For the most part they are either sleeping here, or not close at all. Currently, they are very close. Watching and waiting to see what we choose. Why? Your writer is still unsure and could only speculate along with you.

Your writer is aware however from witnessing such in other places that, should things get too out of hand, they often step in and stop the chaos.

With that said, if this is to happen it is not a pretty picture and very rarely ends well for all players involved.

Most of the time, during times of transition, they will simply watch. Then go away.

Other times their actions depend on the situation.

Progenitors are reluctant to communicate directly with any race. They often leave written / recorded instructions and never actually say or project any thought, reason, image or word directly. Efficient and to the point.

Appearance wise they can be startling not just because they are often massive in size. One of the Chosen Ones did get their image almost correctly depicted in one of their films in a similar context as well. For those who have not seen their image. (you're thinking it: no they do not have feathered wings and human bodies)

Having had the chance to communicate with them your writer is no wiser as to what their personalities are truly like. There seems to definitely be emotion, yet the actions are always calculated. They seem to share a hive mind and have individual minds simultaneously.

What matters most is they are the most powerful physical beings your writer is aware of, anywhere in the galaxy. They can assimilate any strategy or physical ability creation conjures. They do not play games or give warnings. No discussion. Simply action. If the need arises they have one of their assisting races facilitate the discussion.

The Progenitors are not our creators. Although they have sparked many races that make up our genetic soup, they have never had anything to do with us in this way, or any way, yet.

This planet is certainly dear to them.

~For every dark being the universe creates a counterpoint as part of its karmic balancing act.~

Posted by The Ruiner at 5/30/2015 06:54:00 PM 45 comments:

 +2 Recommend this on Google

Wednesday, May 27, 2015

UPBRINGING

This galaxy has some planets that are used to assist various forms of life through a certain stage of their development.

This is what your writer knows as Upbringing.

Our planet has been used for this function, over and over again, for millions of years.

Races evolve on other worlds and then are brought here by a group of races who work to assist the Progenitor race. Progenitors spark evolutionary leaps and monitor evolutionary development of new species and races. Once they reach a suitable point the Progenitors will ask one of their assisting races to relocate the species to a planet suitable for their Upbringing.

Often the race is aware of the reason for their location. At times they are not but choose to go anyways. In some cases when dealing with hostile races this relocation is done by force and not invitation.

This planet has everything a race could need. This is part of why our history is so confused.

Sometimes the race developing here learns to leave the planet. Typically they will move on to a new world.

Sometimes they don't. Once they have reached a point where they are no longer progressing the are moved to a new world.

When the majority leave some often stay behind if they can, although sometimes the process required to reset the planet so she can return to her natural state.

Same applies on other planets used for Upbringing.

We have reached a stage in our Upbringing where we are at a crossroad. It's about time we move on. Still, there is work to be done first. We can skip ahead and risk another cycle of control, or we can take a step back and correct our mistakes as to avoid once again falling under the control of others. The Choice.

Specifically, we have to become a sovereign race. In order to do this we are going to have to overcome the Parents. This is a task we are equipped but not yet prepared for.

Posted by The Ruiner at 5/27/2015 04:53:00 PM 11 comments:

 +2 Recommend this on Google

Monday, May 25, 2015

CULTS AND PROJECTS AND PROGRAMS (OH MY)

Please, stop the fighting amongst yourselves.

You've all been reading here for the same reason. You know your writer even if you don't know each other and the whole reason he has created this network for you, is so you can come together, because you asked him to. Not so you can continue the same fights. Not to save the world. To save your own mind. Disconnect it from theirs, and hopefully move on with your lives.

Whether you are in a cult, a project, or a program, you have all been a part of the same structure. You are all members within the umbrella of the "Illuminati". All of you. (Not just the cults.)

Your controllers are all the same people/ beings. This structure has been outlined. Draco control Parents. Parents control Covens. Covens control bloodlines and all cults, projects and programs.

Cultists, you do not know more than your counterparts in projects and programs. You've weaved their magic for them, but that is all. Your lies have been different.

Project members, you do not know more than the cults or programs. You may have had more influence on society, but that is all. Your lies have been different.

Program members (you are the worst for this) you do not know more than the cults or programs. You may have had a lot of direct experience they have not, but that is all. Your lies have been different.

None of you are in anyways more informed than the others. You're all simply given a different set of lies.

Program members: your groups are by far the youngest. You really think the last 50-100 years of playing with technology has taught us all more than the thousands of years the cults and projects have been active? Please give your head a shake. They set up the foundation you play upon now. Everything you have done has been done long ago as well.

Project Members: your groups have been told only what they need to know to carry out the actions you've been charged with. You are likely the least informed but the most experienced. Your work has changed and you are almost obsolete.

Cultists: the majority of what you believe is based on half truths. Which is why it doesn't work for you. Your function is to control minds and emotions, not provide information. Conjurers.

The Parents do exactly as they are told by the Draco.

Covens do exactly what they are told by the Parents.

You have all been led astray just like the dead. Even if you have witnessed more, experienced more, had access to more, the entire reason this structure has succeeded for well over ten thousand years is:

You are all deceived in specific and strategic ways.

You know as well as your writer does the only reason this is even being written is that this structure is soon to be all that is left.

Did you ever question why all the deals for technology were being made despite having Draco tech all along? Why did you have to recover all of the old broken toys and make them new, when your masters have some of the best toys in the galaxy?

The Parents have for the last 200 years been slowly developing their own methods of control. The Draco have been indifferent to this, it does not matter to them. The Parents have been setting up their own matrix and technology is their core.

They have been using all of you to achieve this. You've done their work for them. Running their simulations. Running their programs. Engineering their structures. Testing their toys. Developing their plan.

So stop the arguments. Stop sending emails disputing each other. Your writer knows, but does not care. We have all been wrong about a great many things.

What is real, and what is not, will be obvious in a hurry. Then we can all have a laugh about how wrong we were.

Posted by The Ruiner at 5/25/2015 01:40:00 PM 14 comments:

 +3 Recommend this on Google

Thursday, May 21, 2015

HOMINID (ONE)

~Finally your writer meets your request. By popular demand, here is the Sasquatch~

Although this is deliberately simplifying here:

The quickest (but still light) path to unlocking psychic ability is by connecting to the rhythm of the Universe.

Achieving this by starting with a connection to this nature and the being we call the planet, our telekinetic abilities unlock as well.

A race, such as this we call Sasquatch or Bigfoot, who have been here so long (longer than most might think) and exist in harmony with nature, have learned to adapt or tune almost perfectly to this planet. In doing so, most of them have mastered some psychic and telekinetic abilities along the way.

The benefits are plenty. A physical being which as "dead weight" would weigh hundreds of pounds can walk silently. Prints remain due to error or occasional clumsiness or even sometimes by intent, but many can walk without leaving them as well. A form of mild levitation.

Creating projections or illusions which help you evade sight are another benefit. Knowing where an intruder in your area is thanks to the ability to perceive their thoughts, or hear them make noise, breathe, cough, or break a branch from a mile away if paying attention.

Physically they have other advantages. Much more powerful than a gorilla and able to move very fast despite their size.

All this combined allows them to avoid being seen by most people unless they want to or make a major mistake. They even seems to regulate their body temperature so well that technology had to be created to detect them which works best at close range.

Part of their psychic ability includes domination over most technology. They can have incredible effects on non organic materials.

Deep in our forests are many many caves humans haven't explored (at least not recently) and many many tunnels within these caves. Therefor nothing to stop them from having their own "underground bases" of sorts.

Not everything that remains on this planet is the result of an Annunaki experimentation. Some were here before that all occurred.

We've caught them. Killed them. Studied them. Even released them afterwards. Because.. that's what we do. -shrugs-

What your writer is saying is some groups have studied these beings but don't publish books on what they find.

They are not all the same. Some groups in different areas have become, different from each other. Some are much more primal in nature and others are much more deliberate. One group will be much like any other wild animal. Another would seem almost otherworldly.

They like humans but fear them, which makes sense when you remember how many times and in so many ways we have hunted them. When your writer was young a family he was aware of in the wild was killed by shadow military types. Several places he has been aware of these beings living have suffered the same. So it is best they continue to hide.

This is all kept from the public of course due to all the questions which would arise, and the answers they have. This is not a missing link in our evolution. This is a species much older than our current version of humanity. Even more native to the planet than humans. Although they have been seeded in different parts of the Galaxy as well.

At one time they lived out in the open, forming their own types of independent - what they call - "tribes". Each tribe followed their own path and have developed along their own path while adapting to other activities on the planet for hundreds of thousands of years. This is why different groups can be so different.

These beings will also suffer or benefit from this time of choice. Their own choice is set but their will does not have the force our own does when it comes to this change. In fact one of our choices could mean they can no longer live on this planet.

Some of you have encountered these beings before. Some know where and how to find them. This can be encouraged. If you're still going to keep secrets, this is one worth keeping for now.

~Let us follow their lead. (re)Connect with our nature/self, nature / our planet. She loves us as she does them. They are a much better example than many of our visitors.~

Further posts on this subject will come at your request, based on your questions.

Posted by The Ruiner at 5/21/2015 06:56:00 PM 4 comments:

 +1 Recommend this on Google

Wednesday, May 13, 2015

THE BEGINNING: AT LEAST FOR NOW – ATLANTIS (PART ONE)

~This is for the retired cult member readers mostly. Most of your beliefs are based on fragmented stories that stem from the period of time this blog will focus on. You've been taught this was something it is not and most of your friends in programs think you're nuts. -in jest- They have part of the story you do not or were taught to disbelieve.~

This will be a quick and generalized summary. The details that are important we will return to another time. (And you will be able to fill in yourself, you've heard all the stories) Let's first see what we can start to remember:

Atlantis was the name of a ship. A space craft, that arrived on Earth. There are different date ranges, most believe this was about 150,000 years ago. (Strong second opinion seems to be 300,000 years - doesn't matter - a long time ago.)

This craft was the size of a large city and several stories high. It was home to a very diverse mix of beings. They had traveled very far, how far exactly is debated. The occupants came from various planets along the path this craft had taken through the Galaxy. The majority came from the same planet, which they claimed was destroyed, and also called Atlantis. (Although this claim was found to be false, the true planet is also debated.)

What is known for sure is this craft landed and the beings inside decided to stay, introducing themselves to the various races (mostly humans) living on this planet at the time. The craft Atlantis would become the city of Atlantis and the culture of Atlantis. In the end it would again be known as a city. (many researchers have guessed at this already)

These humans would seem primitive to some perhaps, living very simply and off of the land. They were however very in tune with the planet and themselves. Enjoying several psychic abilities and strong intuition. They could actively communicate with the flora and fauna of this planet. Full of grace. This version of humanity enjoyed long happy lives unconcerned with anything else out in space. (Not to say there were no other visitors who used the planet during their time, just that they were unaware of, or have forgotten, or paid little mind to these things)

Until Atlantis arrived and changed everything.

The beings aboard the craft who we will call Atlantians were very technologically advanced whereas the beings on this planet at the time lived in harmony with nature. The Atlantians began to replace the common practices of humans with technological substitutes. (They did so without the blessing of the many of the beings living here at the time however.) For thousands upon thousands of years this planet became a technological marvel mixed with much spiritual understanding. Harmony between the two was achieved but this balance seems to rarely last long.

Competition grew between human groups and resentment between Atlantians and Humans. This society spawned various classes of citizen and the power of the elite classes developed into a lopsided structure not unlike what we see today. Powers abused and slaves created. The culture fell out of balance and corruption took hold.

Some lived outside of this civilization with the non human beings on the planet. Some (re)formed a second, and third independent civilization which either rejected the technology and chose to stick to the "old ways" of living, or decided instead to use little technology along with their old ways.

Wars broke out on the planet between different groups and all of this action caught the attention of other races nearby. (This was all very complicated and dramatic so we will skip the details.) The Atlantians were recognized by some passing by and word returned to where they came from.

The Atlantians were running away from a broken and dying world. Also running from some very powerful enemies. The noise made on earth, found its way to the ears of this enemy, who made an attack on the Atlantians here on earth.

A war developed which involved not just our planet, not just Atlantians and humans, but also beings on nearby planets. (Much more complicated and much more dramatic)

This battle destroyed an entire planet, and all life on another. Badly damaged bases on moons and the refugees of all of this destruction ended up either departing the solar system, or on earth.

Mid-war, Atlantis left. Abandoning the civilization they had created in the wake of the damage of their war.

Our planet had to respond to the damage done to her and so, great changes occurred.

Humans and the refugees of other races were left with a badly damaged and wobbling planet. Water fell from the sky, followed by fire. Even the Sun responded with vicious force. The technology most had come to depend on was destroyed or unusable. -Some humans and some groups from the other races as well, were removed from the damage, and taken elsewhere, but that is another story entirely. One that repeats very often.-

For hundreds of years humans and other beings who remained on earth existed in this traumatized state. Constantly adjusting and adapting to the changing planet as she attempted to heal from the wounds inflicted. Generations went by and oral traditions were all we had to preserve the history of events. Groups of humans and other races spread out to all the areas they could live, often trying to get as far away from each other as possible.

Enough time passed that most of this history - was lost. Broken up into fragments. The perfect situation for another advanced race to exploit.

This is when the Draco returned.

~Do not believe, consider. Remember and know what is already a part of you~

Posted by The Ruiner at 5/13/2015 04:00:00 AM 34 comments:

 +1 Recommend this on Google

Saturday, May 9, 2015

IMAGINATION AND WILL

"Rights are not given or taken away. We choose not to execute our rights. "

There is no owning us or this planet. We choose to allow someone to control things.

This planet is a living being. She is not for sale. She cannot be owned. Beings can live on her back and fight over her all they want. Whenever they get too far out of line she has the option of shaking them off.

Our games are very small, compared to her.

She gives the living things on this planet her energy, her love, energy, spirit.

This is why being human gives you an advantage here and now.

The wave is coming, we have felt it building for some time now. You know as well as anyone that no one knows for sure how this will effect things. These unpredictable events have already begun. All eyes on deck.

Pay no mind to the rabble. Just prepare to move with the earth, sway with the wind and ride this wave.

Between now and whenever it arrives, you have many choices to make. Many things to do. Balance must be found and practiced. You will need good balance.

This wave is for her. You will simply be changing with her.

Which brings us to another set of choices: how we treat her moving forward.

How you treat her now and everyday for as long as you are visiting her is placing your vote, showing your intention for how you want the future to look for the humans of earth. This and many other such choice, of course.

Imagination and will - start small then draw bigger circles spiraling out.

Posted by The Ruiner at 5/09/2015 03:52:00 AM 18 comments:

 +6 Recommend this on Google

Sunday, May 3, 2015

WELCOME BACK

We've got a lot in motion now inside ourselves. Time to let go of things.

Now you see that all you've endured hasn't broken you. You're still here.

Things are changing all around you. In part this is your new ability to perceive the world. The mind does wonderful things when properly controlled by its soul observer. It's not just you, all life on earth is feeling something new.

It's not just earth, but let us not steer off that way for now.

All living things, to various degrees are entering a new phase in their evolution and this change can be interacted with everyday by anyone. No special membership.

For you, this matters because you will be interacting with people everyday, who have never tried to see, who begin to see. Your vibration will become a magnet for those who are searching. Be more responsible than those who you turned to in the same way.

Gently nudge, never push. Show the door, don't open it. Remember how you fell under the spell when you didn't take this responsibility for yourself.

At this point all that special information you received is shown as it truly is.. Not that special. It's everywhere. It's always been there. Now that the world has become smaller for the most part, it is so easy to find that anyone can become as well read on any given topic as most of your so called masters are. In that way the playing field is leveled.

Not unlike the progressions and compartments you've experienced, the various perspectives of history and information available to the public has made it difficult to make sense of everything. Encourage idea over belief. Be what they were not, open.

Your humble self knows that not everything you've been told is true, not everything you've seen is real, and no one is perfectly informed. This is because the details matter less than what we do with the lessons. There is no need to sort out all of this, the universe is full of different view points and in this way "as above so below" is still true. Those who gave you the special education don't know everything. Those who empower them don't know everything. Those who created them don't know everything.

Those who control us all don't know everything.

Don't focus on revenge. Leave them behind and go in the opposite direction. Don't stand still. We still have a long way to go.

Remember that looking after you, is looking after others. Looking after others, is looking after you. Everything is part of the whole and your attention causes an effect, but be conscious of the energy you give with your attention. A skill to develop: controlling where your own energy flows.

The excitement you felt as you progressed or received new clearance, is akin to the excitement anyone else feels as they break their own illusions and the defeat that they feel is akin to what you have known as well. What did you not receive?

Yes, that's right. So show compassion.

We don't have to be responsible for others we have to be responsible for ourselves as we interact with them.

You asked for this. You wanted to know. The gap between us all is closing.

So what is "the choice" you've asked? It's a series of choices. Not one.

Oh so many of the souls here have repeated patterns over various incarnations which no amount of regressive healing can't put an end to. You can heal the wound as many times as you want, but perhaps we should try avoiding wound ?

Your writer hopes that (and is attempting to himself) we can end these cycles as we ride this wave so that we can find fresh water on the other side.

Posted by The Ruiner at 5/03/2015 05:07:00 AM 13 comments:

 +1 Recommend this on Google

Newer Posts

Home

Older Posts

Subscribe to: Posts \(Atom\)

Vault

May (7)

About Me

The Ruiner

De-Occultist -- A work of fiction and part of a creative writing project. The author is not responsible for what readers choose to believe. This is not Disclosure or a source of Official Information.

View my complete profile

Copywrite TheRuiner. Awesome Inc. template. Template images by enot-poloskun. Powered by Blogger.