

UFOs? LOOK OUT FOR THESE ON NEW YEARS EVE -

Floating dark clusters, glowing red orbs, bright spheres of light and “willow the wisp” type phenomena.

For many years we have seen strange entities (for want of a better word) which are currently still very active and without fail we see them every New Years Eve, so we wanted to briefly detail these things so that others might have the opportunity to witness them also at this time. When people see these entities clearly within metres it is a reality breaking experience. We’ve simply seen them too many times now we want to know what they are or if others have shared in observing this type of phenomena.

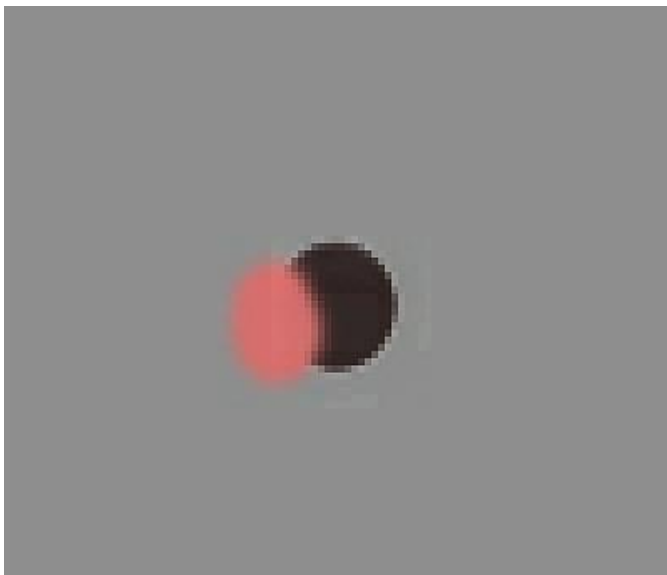

As these spherical entities appear to be often witnessed during celebrations such as Guy Fawks or New Years Eve especially, we wanted to take this opportunity to describe some of these encounters so that others can keep an eye out knowing what to look for, it is almost as if they are showing off or are blending in with the pyrotechnic display of these occasions (watch high over the sky tower and city if you are in New Zealand and can see it when the fireworks go off). During these occasions we often have a small brazier fire and sit outside to watch the show, pointing them out for other people to see, so if you want to see these you will need to be outside and watching the skies. Make sure you have a camera on hand. Our camera isn’t strong enough to pick them up at a distance but we can if focused through binocular lenses. These are very real and anyone who is perceptive can witness them, especially New Years Eve. If you do make sure you post it somewhere for others online.

Appearances:

Red Lights: During festivities these entities are often seen several hundred metres flying in the night sky, sometimes travelling in groups of many as glowing red orbs. We contacted Susan Hansen of UFONZ when we saw many of them moving in a group over Auckland city but she suggested that they were Chinese lanterns – which they are most emphatically not as they have since been witnessed up close at a few metres distance and identified as anomalous phenomena. I can almost guarantee if you look for these New Years Eve you will see these.

To the right is a frame from a video taken of one of these entities through binoculars. The video can be viewed here:

Dark Forms: As these orbs descend the red light shrinks/dims in size and brightness. Once they reach the level of power-lines or several metres about ground level the red lights turn off completely leaving only a dark shadowy spherical globular transparent morphing form, seen up close within a few metres gliding through the air. At this distance they are moving at around 5 miles per hour in a controlled intentional floating gliding movement, never stopping or sharply changing direction but only a smooth intentional floating glide several metres above the ground.

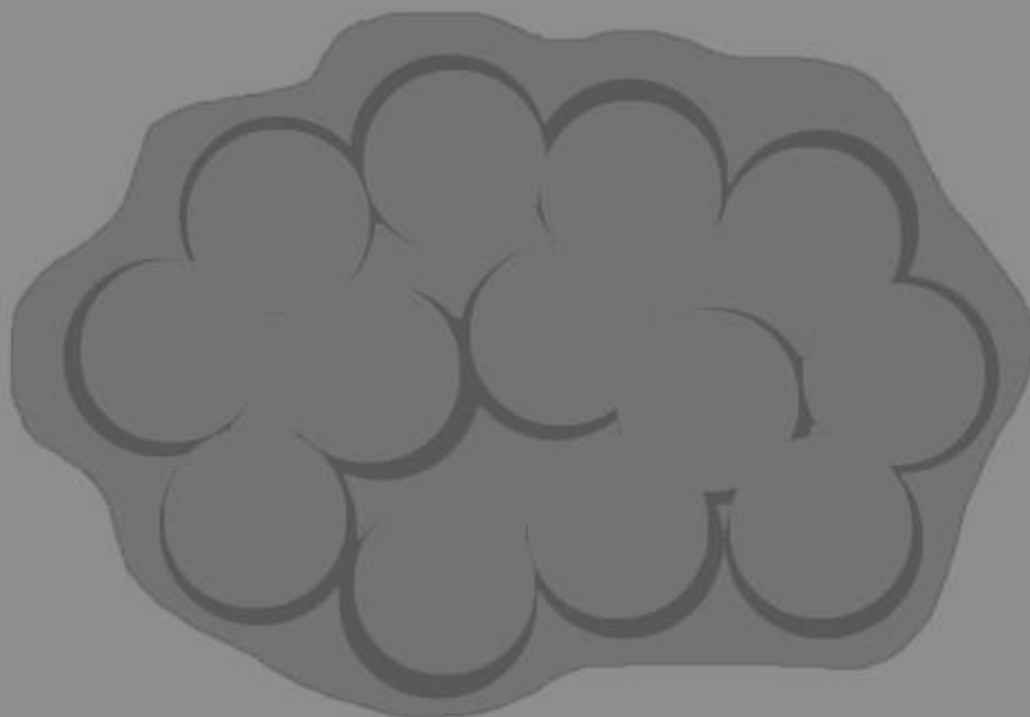

To the left is a recreated image showing an evening background with a dark sphere emitting a red light from it just before it dimmed it out completely. This may indicate intentions to remain hidden or obfuscated once they reach a certain ground level to help avoid detection (so what purpose does the red light serve?).

Clusters: Up close while they are in their dark form they appear to morph as if it is a floating sack or large net filled with moving around net balls or soccer balls, as if they have come together in a cluster to travel in this manner. Even though it is dark it shows shape and form in a globular ethereal transparent appearance. The dark shadowy cluster form of travelling can be seen when within metres of being near them. The individual spherical forms appear to gather together into this cluster formation as a desired mode of transport, almost as if a strange sort of “mother-ship” full of spherical drones returning to it.

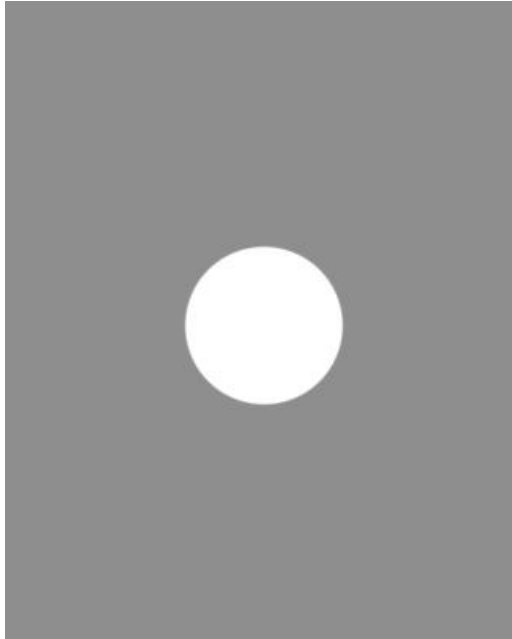

To the right an image of a transparent sack of sports balls which resembles the floating dark cluster of spheres moving and morphing within it as it glides through the air metres from the ground and witnesses. Also resembles an egg sack.

Below a recreated image showing the moving cluster of dark spheres floating 3-4 metres above ground level on Christmas 2014 around 9pm, moving West between and over two houses and over Waitakere bush reserve, a regular direction of travel or highway witnesses have seen these entities using, moving back and forth from this direction for several years.

Recreated image of a moving dark cluster of spheres floating 3-4 metres above ground level on Christmas 2014 around 9pm, Auckland, New Zealand near the roof tops of houses metres from witnesses outside. A regular occurrence and regular flight path over several years of several sightings.

Glowing Spheres: One experience involved a bright white glowing spherical orb about the size of a soccer ball which was witness about a metre or two above them. It had the appearance of a soccer ball that some neighbours had kicked into your yard but was actually floating. There is much video footage of these objects moving amongst the sky and also amongst chemtrails (what is the connection?). It is assumed that this is another appearance of the same phenomena above and that these entities can change their appearance and colours in this manner.

To the left a recreated image of a single bright white glowing spherical orb the size of a soccer ball floating about a metre above a witness a few years ago, West Auckland. The witness immediately went to get others but object was gone on return. Resembled a ball being kicked over yard but moved with a slower controlled floating glide.

Here is some footage of these such lights (they tend to be spotted around crop formations and chem trails:

Movement:

These entities move in an aware pre-determined floating/gliding motion, from as low as a few metres above the ground surface or several hundred metres above ground level. The best descriptive term for their movement is floating or gliding through the air, not as a piece of paper picked up by the wind but by an intelligent intention with propulsion of their own means. They move to avoid power-lines, houses and physical structures which imply that they have their own physicality even though they appear ethereal and transparent to some degree.

Interaction, communication and intention:

When moving along their route these entities don't appear to react to or be particularly interested in humans. Perhaps with the intention of "scanning" surroundings or delivering data along a route. Thought communication does not appear to alter their behaviour and other communication is yet to be ventured into. Their intentions are undetermined by the witnesses at this stage and currently being explored but are considered covert in Nature.

Here is a list of some experiences involving these lights and beings described briefly.

Experience 1: Children's room ball of light.

A small being approximately the size of a three year old child in height, appeared in bedroom doorway at night, originally thought to have been one of the experiencer's children who had awoken from sleep. Realising this was not the case paralysis of the body set in while still in bed (mind and eyes still functioning). The experiencer fought off the paralysis to protect her children sleeping in the adjacent room. The children's door was found to be firmly shut and could not be opened. Experiencer yelled something along the lines of "fucking leave them alone" and forced the door open. The room was flooded with bright light which immediately contracted into a bright sphere of light and propelled itself out of the room through the door that was just forced open and through the experiencer's torso knocking her to the floor. At this stage other witness in bed had arrived. Children unharmed as far as one could tell. Multiple witnesses.

Experience 2: Floating white ball of light close up.

Floating glowing white light seen approximately one metre above experiencer's head. Experiencer rushed to gather witnesses and looked for the sphere but it was gone on return. Around the size of a soccer ball. Refer to "Glowing Spheres".

Experience 3: Trail of bright red orbs and dark cluster.

One evening after dark mass group of red orbs (20-30?) seen rising from Auckland central in a trail one following the other until they went dark high up in the sky. This was videoed but the camera was not strong enough to pick up their details. At this point a clustered dark mass floated by metres from witnesses above ground level heading towards the city from West Auckland. Two witnesses and neighbours saw also.

Experience 4: Ball of light enters moving plane.

In evening at dark watching a plane (possibly military) flying towards the city from West Auckland a bright white orb appeared approx 10-20 metres to the planes left. The white sphere moved quickly in a wave type motion (like a zig zag motion but not sharp) and propelled itself towards the plane where it vanished. The appearance was that of the white sphere entering the plane. Refer to "Glowing Spheres". Two witnesses.

Experience 5: Red orb turns off its light.

A single bright red orb floating up high away from Auckland city towards West Auckland descended over adjacent house moving under powerlines. Metres from witnesses, the orb dimmed its red light completely off leaving a dark shadowy form where it continued to float/glide over the neighbour's house roof and over bush reserve. Two witnesses.

Experience 6: Dark cluster close up.

After evening Christmas 2014 most recent experience to making this document, moving from Auckland city to west Auckland, a floating dark cluster approx 3-4 metres above ground level and from witnesses glided through the air between two houses over bush reserve. The close proximity revealed the dark cluster to have moving globular spheres within it, almost like an egg sack or bag of sports balls transparent like dark cellophane and ethereal. Refer to "Clusters." Two witnesses.

Experience 7: Manifested humanoid form from ball of light.

After dark witness was in lying in bed during the evening hours with concern and worry for a friend. A ball of light appeared at the foot of the bed. The ball of light split and then rejoined and evolved/morphed into a humanoid form. This energy being of light approached the witness within a foot from her face taking on the facial features of the close friend who the witness was concerned for at the time. At this point in the experience the witness fled the room screaming in panic and fright by what they had seen and alarmed others in the house. This ended the experience and the concerned friend arrived moments later.

Video footage of these types of luminous beings can be found here:

And this 2014 footage where a luminous being emerges from a floating red sphere:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=3jmqQpLb2fQ>

This experience appears to indicate that the spheres of light are a vehicle for beings who can manifest in one form or another. Recently Sevan Bomar suggested that the sphere for the human would be the head or skull. If this can be applied to the orbs or spheres that can be seen then any manifestation resembling a humanoid figure would emerge from the sphere as its centre of consciousness i.e. the head where the seat of consciousness is said to reside.

Experience 8: Daytime floating orb.

Day time sighting going west approximately 20 metres over house, a small hand sized translucent sphere much like a floating crystal ball.

The witnesses to these experiences hope that others can use these descriptions to verify and confirm experiences they have had themselves or for sceptics something to consider. This document is shared New Years Eve 2014 so that others can observe similar phenomena during this time, specifically over cities and around fireworks. We can almost guarantee from our location something every time.

Feel free to private message if you have further information on the Nature of these objects. Thanks.
