Cliff's Notes

1. Kali Yuga and Transition Periods: **

January 27, 5:14 AM. 🔗

Hello, humans. Hello, humans. January 27, 5:14 AM. Very interesting times we're in. Let's have a small discussion here, quick, about the concept of power.

This could be very key over these next, 6 weeks, maybe maybe a little longer. So, let me look here. So, all of February and most of March. So let's say 7 weeks. Okay.

So, in the long dis in the ancient past, what we'll think of as ancient, back in the Kalayuga, you know, back a 1000 plus years, that sort of thing, gold was a storehouse of wealth. It was also a useful metal and and has been used in, various different applications. But, as a, store of wealth, it was not a representation of power the way that that money is today So in the, in the past, power was basically defined by the ability for you to get your clan to do something. And, really, it hasn't changed much, right? Power is the application of human energy, to some purpose.

Power is the ability to motivate humans to expend that energy. And, these days, thanks to the Pharisees at the time of the second temple, when the demiurge took them over and, started them worshiping the devil, we have this, Babylonian money magic Okay? So, Jews are, I think they're like less than, less than 1% of the whole population of the planet Yet they have all this power They have this, power now because of this fake money stuff And that's all changing They they use the fake money stuff to motivate the United States to support the petrodollar And, petrodollar by virtue of violence. So the people in the United States have, American privilege. It doesn't matter what color you are or any of that kind of shit.

You have American privilege because the rest of the world is being extorted and enslaved, by the Pharisees, the Jews of the 2nd temple that control Israel and all of Judaic society they're enslaving the rest of the world to support the the, dollar that gives them their ability to express power now. So, the Jews can't motivate me. I'm not gonna go fight for the Jews. I don't give a shit about Israel. I will fight the Israelis, and I will fight Jews, but I'm not fighting for them.

Right? But but what gets them going is they have the money. And so they motivate people by saying, well, if you'll go fight and kill these other people, I'll give you money. This was basically my dad's whole life. Right?

He was quite a wet well aware of this, that he was fighting, basically for the Jews and not for the United States. There wasn't a whole lot he could do about it. He didn't put a lot of his thought and time into, into that. It wasn't it wasn't appropriate at that time. Now, we have to.

Now, I'm putting a lot of my my time and thought into these kind of things because we are at this shift of the ages. This shift is shifting us out of this old style, this Babylonian money magic, that goes back 6000 years. So we're shedding, the previous ages, Taurus and Pisces, as we move into Aquarius. Power in Aquarius is not going to be as we have seen in the past So, right now, most, humans and a lot of Americans, there's a few Americans that grasp this, but not many, but most humans don't really recognize that all of power has shifted. Okay?

No longer is money really a motivating power, a factor. Yes, you can get people to go and kill for you and do that kind of thing, but right now we have the emergence of a new force of power, in the world. And that and whoever has these drones, whoever is building these drones, and flying them around and keeping them up, that's the new power source on this planet. Planet And this is a very interesting, exciting, chaotic and dangerous time because of this, because of this aspect In the past, power was was directly applicable. So if you ran out of gold and you had the power of your clan, you would go and beat up some other clan and take their gold if you needed it.

It. It was just basically the were way the world operated. It's much more civilized than that, much more straightforward, and then it breaks down, and it and it goes into that level of chaos. Then we arise in the new, Babylonian money magic scheme that lasts, 1000 of years, and now it's dying in this transition of the ages as new forms of power are emerging. So grasp this now though.

Old style power. The ability to, embark a fleet of ships and men, and sail across the ocean to some other country, and then throw lots of lead and iron and steel at them until they submit. That kind of power is going away. So one drone, one of these new kinds of drones, could maybe effectively take out a whole fleet of battleships and their supporting, ships. Right?

Just depends. If you've got an energy shield, no no good shooting at them because any matter won't go through it. So, so this is a new form of power in the sense that one drone could now equal a, an entire navy fleet. And even though the drone is being controlled now, by some, let's say, centralized or more centralized force, that's not gonna hold. Okay?

So one of the things about our forecast for sci fi world that was, began emerging in the descriptions in my work back in 1999, not yet named sci fi world, but it was still emerging. But one of the factors there is this splintering of power, Is this, we're going back to like a, clan or a tribal kind of a a society in the sense or or humanity in the sense that various different societies, will emerge, some of them relatively small but extremely powerful. So you could have like 150 guys that had, you know, the ability to manufacture and control drones that could basically rule very large parts of the planet should they choose to exercise power that way Now we're coming into another part of our reality as well, in that as we shift into the age of Aquarius, we're going back to the ontological paradigm. So lots and lots and lots of people will start tumbling to how zero point technology works. They'll start making devices off of it.

And we're going to go into an innovation boom that will continue and continue and continue. And it's, starting up now, but it's really gonna be in force in about 20 years. So maybe 20 years from now, we'll have, 5 or 6 or 7 significant inventions per day emerging. It's gonna be that fantastic, right? Anyway, so power has shifted.

It's changed. The nature of the expression of power as force on this planet has changed. Military force has changed. So we're in the process of all of humanity, accommodating the the emergence into the age of Aquarius, and, and the thing that is changing, within humanity relative to that is our understanding of and the ability to use power, to to use force. And then also, there's all the ancillary things, the zero point energy, the the, visitors from outside, so we now have an open system.

If you have an open system, the Babylonian money magic doesn't work. And, it collapses quite rapidly. That's what's going on at the moment. It was at the end of its life lifespan anyway. It could not have survived into the age of Aquarius, even if the drones did not, emerge, and even if the visitors were not here.

So, this is a pretty cool time. It could be hugely chaotic, And, you will be seeing you are witnessing it now as, we have new expressions that will define how power is, manifest and, its effects. So I'm right now, I'm expecting that in, several countries in Europe, we will see the emergence of, what will probably be titled something like tribal or clan behavior. Okay? So the the Pharisees, the, Jew controlled media, the mainstream media will try and taint the upcoming violence and action and chaos and so forth as though it was some kind of a reversion back to, like, caveman days and that sort of thing.

Right? This is not what's going on. We're going to be witnessing power, or we're gonna be witnessing power turned into force, and that force crudely applied. In my opinion, the crude part of it is really the aspect of it. That really annoys me.

Right? But anyway, we'll we'll pass on that. I I like force and power to be executed cleanly. Anyway, so we will see the emergence of individual people, individual people that will be far more powerful in the true sense of power, that is to to say the ability to motivate people to take action and put their lives and energy into a project, these people will be emerging, the ones that can do this, these new powerful people. And there we're going to find that individual people, collecting a clan around them and avoiding all of the trappings of traditional establishment power will take over nations.

Alright? They will simply take over the nation because they're not gonna give a damn about the government anymore. People are just going to go and do stuff, and the government's gonna fall away. Because the government will try and prevent them from doing things, claiming it's it's the, the proper role of government to be doing this. That government owns that particular kind of an action.

Right? You can't feed the homeless because we own that. Right? You can't shelter the ill or that sort of thing. And that's not gonna wash.

People are just gonna push back and government will discover exactly how weak it is, over these these next couple of months. So it it would not surprise me to see several national governments, especially in Europe, in major chaos to the point of trembling, almost ready to collapse, by the time we get to spring. And then we will have, the Reconquista, the uprising. And we will have, you know, blood in the street, brains on the sidewalk, all that kind of thing. Horrible, horrible, terrible violence, which could have been avoided if we'd been adult and proceeded appropriately.

But we weren't, and there's a bunch of butt head humans out there, and so this will degenerate. It's been in there. It's been foreseen. A lot of us guys have tried to, prevent that. We now understand the true nature of these, forces that go through humanity, and it's just not worth our effort to try and push it that way.

So, you know, we basically backed off on those sorts of things, as we have learned. Right? We didn't know. Can you change the course of of history? And there are things you can change, but these large, movements are not possible to shift.

As we will see, this will be emerging, in this time now. And I'm expecting some very interesting times from February 26th onward, to consume us here. And then, in the summer, June, July, August, September, we'll have this, emergence of the, of the new power here on earth, which is the drone people. Whoever the hell the, you know, these individuals are that control this this structure. But they are not, top dog because ultimately the the real source of power is the ability to motivate humans.

And that's now coming out of the realm of the financial structure and the illusions of the Babylonian money magic, and it's going back to the nature of clans, and affiliation, and loyalty. And so, it's a different world, people, and it's emerging around you, and it's gonna be very, very chaotic. And, you need to hold yourself tight and close and protect your loved ones because of the, the chaos, the unexpected chain of events emerging from the event stream that were caused by actions of other individuals that have rippled to you. So it's a very, very risky and dangerous time, 2025, as we go forward, because of the emergence of the chaos, because of these large forces that are contending with each other, basically to try and dominate humanity. And it won't happen that way, right?

We'll have the large forces emerge, you'll have the nation states fight the, breakaway civilization and stuff, and none of that matters. What matters is the ability for one person to collect a plan. Say a 100 individuals, one guy and a 100 dedicated, friends could completely kill the chemtrail industry by going to the plants that make the, the material in there and assaulting them and burning them down and having it be public. That kills it right there. So it's a different kind of a world, and only those people that understand that it's power at this base are really gonna be effective.

And we'll see that. We'll see individuals just simply stand there, and whole countries will fall. It's coming. It's gonna be really cool. Anyway, take care, guys.

It's gonna be, strange times and very dangerous times. Endeavor to survive 2025.

2. Current 25-year Chaos Period: **

Hello, humans. Hello, humans. January 28, 4:41 AM. Cold as hell out there. Well, not quite as cold as hell.

It's, 30 degrees. It's gonna probably go down to 28 degrees by the time I hit the beach this morning. The beach freezes in an interesting fashion, and, the dogs like sniffing everything because the smells are so much more, revealed by the cold. In a sense, the cold air and the frozen sand and everything locking in all the smells, provides a a field of testing for the dogs for their nose in the testing of the scent. They can follow a scent longer when there's not that much confusion.

And we get a lot of there's a lot of smells on the beach anyway, and we get people through there and stuff. But the dogs are pretty good. You know, a dog can smell 20,000 times better than a human. So it's a decent thing. But what I wanted to talk about was, testing and red tape.

Okay? My red tape. So, I'm a, martial artist. I started when I was basically 10, almost 10, through circumstances. And I've been doing it continuously, and I do all my training every day, even at age 71.

I tested, in the early days in judo, but I never, accepted rank. And that's the point of testing. Right? Do you know the moves? Can you can you do them effectively?

That sort of thing. And then other people judge your ability to do that by seeing you do so. And then sometimes there might be tests where, you would have an actual, session, a a sort of a work it out kind of session. You're gonna demonstrate. Right?

You're gonna demonstrate with somebody. And the more advanced you get, the more need there is for somebody to aid you in this testing. But the testing is always about yourself. It's always about, show well, okay. So at its core, that's what it should be.

Nowadays, in organizations, you have people with organizational minds. They in my opinion, it's like, you know, they don't quite get the point of the art, which is not to accumulate the belts, not to accumulate the rank, but to accumulate the skill. And so, I got into fights very early. I under you know, at a very young age. So so I understood the point of, of having skill in fighting arts was not to obtain a belt, but be able to use it in in practice.

And that's, that that part is not really covered by the testing. So, so my understanding even as a kid was, because I was getting into fights all the time, was that, the real world is the ultimate test. Right? That testing for a belt, testing for rank wasn't it didn't really mean much. Now a lot of this is from my, father's attitude.

Okay? He was a, draftee in Korean war and and got a battlefield promotion. Those are very rare. That caused ripples in his military career because every other officer he ever met knew that this man had done that to get that battlefield promotion. So it made all their schooling, all of their ways of getting into that, the rank that they had, it depreciated him, right?

And my dad didn't give a shit one way or another. He was from Missouri, you know. He was used to wrangling mules, he said, and, you know, everybody's stubborn some way. Anyway, so this is the thing. We're all being tested constantly, continuously, in each and every moment.

That's the nature of this reality. Sometimes the tests are violent when someone attacks you, but most often they're not. Most of your life will be spent facing tests on a continuous basis that you do not see that way. And so sometimes you get irritated. You know, it's the, the heavy muscle hangover from having had to take the the your your kid to the ER the night before, so you're gonna be, slow and sluggish at work.

Right? And it makes you feel bad, and it eats on you, and it weighs on you. That's a test. All of these things that are irritating and so on, they're tests. They're not only tests of can you do it, you know, whatever is required, but they're also tests of you, how you do it, right, how you feel about doing it, your experience of doing it.

Universe wants you to have that experience, but you have the right to control as much as you may how you feel about it and how you do it. The way this material works and the way that our life experience is set up, you can easily do things like drive yourself crazy spiraling in on all these questions. You know? Why am I resistant to testing? Should I test?

You know, is it the whether or not I take that test for this particular rank, is that the test? And and, you know, I do know people that do that. It really does, affect their life and their their day because they're constantly seeing things in that that, view, and they have a certain level of anxiety about it. My approach is that, you know, I I will pass or not, it doesn't really you know, the outcome of that is not in my control. So, in testing, for instance, in the martial arts, you might go before, the black belt and, say, the 4 or 5 senior, belts underneath him in a dojo.

Then you would perform a particular move and then everybody would sort of judge you on it. Right? Well, their judgment is always going to be subjective to them, and I realized this at a very young age that, you know, I cannot, no matter what I do in my emotions or whatever, get across to them how I am experiencing the expression of that art. So in that sense, their opinion is very, very, very limited, and it's derived from their own experience. And, you know, I admit it.

I was an arrogant bastard even as a little shit, and I said I don't care about their experience, and I don't care about their opinion. It's just the way I was made. Right? Okay. So in testing, in life, the real test is life, in my opinion.

Right? And and as I say, you can spiral in on this stuff, too deeply and, and lose yourself in minutiae that you need not bother with. Because no matter what, you are not responsible for the outcome of that particular test, whatever it is. You know, your kid gets sick and you take him to the ER. That was the decision you made in that moment, and in that sense you faced a test.

And the outcome of that decision is not in your hands. You cannot control the nature of the illness or the reaction at the ER or the drive there, any of this kind of stuff. Right? All you have control over is your decision and how you think about it, how you feel about it, in and of and how you think about it, how you feel about it, in and of this particular instant, this particular instance of the ever present eternal now. We don't have a future, and we don't have a past.

Past is memory, future is anticipation. Neither of them are are existent. I can go into the the next room over here. Right? I can go and kick a hole in the wall over there.

There's physical matter there. I can exist now, and I'll still be existing, in the future, in what we call the future. But I have absolutely no control over that. So part of testing is to center yourself, to be in the now, to understand that your only responsibility and the only possible, responsibility you have is for the action you're about to make in this instant. And if, if, if you're smart enough to do that on ahead of those decisions, to understand that you're at a decision point, you've pretty much already passed that test because you're examining yourself in respect to the reality and what's being presented to you within the event stream that's facing you.

And that's a huge thing, guys. I mean, you cannot discount the idea of being aware within the moment. Seriously. I mean, that's why we work in the martial arts and all this stuff. That's why all the years in Zen meditation and this sort of stuff.

And it really pays off. So I'm doing these little things, these shorts, so they won't drive you crazy. Right? A few minutes on a particular subject. And I think I'll do another one today, but, it's gonna be a little bit, haphazard as we go forward because I've got some projects and stuff.

Anyway, so that's it. So bear in mind, you're participating in testing all the time. And even within each and every test, it's your attitude that you control and your actions. So, you know, basically, have fun with it and and learn. Learn to do the testing well.

I never did. I was an idiot.

Emerging New Paradigm: **

January 28th. It's, 5:24am Part II 🗞

Hello, humans. Hello, humans. It's still January 28th. It's, 5:24 in the morning. Still cold.

Down to 29 now. Anyway, I wanted to do one of these about red tape. Not like, the phrase red tape applied to bureaucrats. Right? This is red tape from, Dojo's martial arts training.

So in, martial arts training, you get injuries. It's inevitable. You'll never be quite stretched out enough, your muscles might not you know, and it depends on if you eat a heavy meal, all different kinds of things. Right? You go there and you train and you end up getting injuries.

Mostly they're little tiny injuries. Muscle strain, you know, tendon stretched a little bit too much, and so on, but you feel it as pain. And so it's wise, and there is a procedure, and what you do is you, the dojo has this little piece of, or has a roll of red tape. And what you do is you tear off a little piece of the red tape and you put it on your gi. A gi is like the judo uniform.

Right? In the arts I took, it was not like jujitsu, which uses a much lighter fabric. We did very heavy gis, especially in the early days of judo in, late fifties and early sixties. These are very heavy canvas things, and they protect you. But nonetheless, you'll still get injury.

So you put a little piece of red tape where your your muscles are sensitive, or and that kind of thing, and then your partners in the contention will know to take it easy on you, unless they're but heads, and then they'll really work that side of you, you, and you may get into a tussle with them over it. But in any event, the idea is that you're telling your partner in the contention, oh, I have a sensitivity here. Right? And then, and sooner or later, everybody gets injured, and then you really understand. It's like, oh, okay, you take it easy on them, because you too have suffered that particular kind of pain.

Right? And and it's, the pain from the martial arts from training like this is irritating, because you exercise one day, get the strain or stress, the next day you get the pain from it, but even in that day, even in that pain, you still have to do your training. And so, you know, you've gotta be careful of yourself, so you put a red flag there for yourself. Oh, I can't stretch that calf muscle or I'm gonna damage. Right?

And that's what you're trying to do. You're trying to avoid the, discovering the difference between injury and damage. Injury you recover from, damage you must repair. And so if you get damaged, maybe you can't train. So you avoid damage to all of these different parts and you put these red flags there, not only for yourself, but also for your partners and the contingent.

And so I've gotta bring one up, and so basically a red flag covers the sensitivity. It tells people a little piece of red tape says, oh, I'm sensitive about this, right? That muscle, that knee, that shoulder, that elbow, whatever. And so I'm gonna put a little bit of red tape on me here, and this is about, attitudes, okay? So I understand, to some small, small extent, how people perceive me.

And I also understand that some people get this idea, and it's like, it it kinda irritates me, I'm a little sensitive about it, because there's this feeling and I get ribbed by it, believe me, by people about it, about this cult. Okay? And I'm not trying to set up a cult. I don't want anybody to think of me as a cult leader. You know, I'm in no way special.

I'm really a nasty bastard if you push me. I have very, limited threshold for stupidity, and thus I am often, off putting, to say it mildly, and brusque with people I just meet. Right? And I may also offend you greatly just by pointing out shit about yourself that you're not prepared to face because I can see it. Okay?

So here's the thing. I don't consider myself a celebrity. I would never want to be a celebrity. It really freaks me out when I'm, locally famous, and people think they know me, and know me by name, and I have not a fucking clue as to who these people are. I've never met them yet, right?

I don't go out of my way to annoy you, but if I do, you're just gonna have to suck it up because I don't have the time to deal with that aspect of things. But I do have a sensitivity about it, so I just, it's kinda like, everybody just back the fuck off. Right? Alright. So, so we're gonna do it this way.

We're gonna say in the next life. So it's okay for you to have this attitude, tell me about it in the next life, right? Don't express it to me now because I'm sensitive about it. And yet, understand that, you know, from my side, of seeing it, I don't know individuals like this, and and I'm paranoid. And so, it is quite factual that in the last three times, a stranger has, spoken to me and called me by name, and I've never met them before.

In one of them, we got in a fight and I lost a tooth. So so so I'm not and you know, it was a stalker. Right? So I'm not inclined to accept such things, god graciously. You know, and I don't I don't mean to offend you.

And I certainly don't mean to attack you unwarranted. But you can see it from my perspective. I hope. Anyway, so And hey guys too. I got people I've gotta work with who are who are, you know, giving me shit about this cult stuff.

Oh, look. There is Clif's Cult again. It's like, oh my god, guys. Alright. Give me a break here.

We've got things to do. And this is gonna be an issue because I've got, a couple of very big projects. Okay? And so, in like a couple of years, maybe the whole thing on this one might extend out 5 years. I don't know.

Anyway, and so I'm gonna have to do some things. I'm gonna have to make some moves. And, and I just don't want to drag this whole cult sensitivity shit along with me. So if you want to say something online and that kind of thing, I would appreciate it if you would, you know, sort of acknowledge my sensitivity by saying, oh, it's that, you know, it's that nasty fucker Clif saying something, or, you know, boy is he bastard this time. Anyway, so that's just my red flag, and I'm, my red tape, and I'm sharing it with you, because I am sensitive about it.

I you know, it's not anything I want. I'm doing this because I like humans, and I can see, I don't like general stupidity. And large amounts of humans together have a tendency to be generally stupid. So so so I'm just trying to clean up my local environment in that in that sense. And, unfortunately, you know, I can't do it.

I can't go out and make the, the appropriate decisions and all of this kinda stuff. So 4 people, right, obviously. And so my approach is to to sort of be an irritant and just point out, oh, look. That path over there saves you, you you know, 20 steps, and you don't have to fight the alligator. So, anyway, take it easy, and, you know, just be aware of people's red tape.

4. Future Innovations and Cultural Shifts:

January '29, 🔗

Hello, humans. Hello, humans. January '29, 05/00 '19 30 degrees, out here on the beach, so all the sand and, stuff will be frozen, which is kinda fun. Fun. You know, hard sand to walk on.

Anyway, I wanted to talk for a few minutes about mastery. So I make the claim of being a master in aikido, not merely because I've studied it for intensely for over forty years. Now jeez. Fifty one. Fifty one years.

Okay. So so I've been in the martial arts for sixty one, but I've been studying aikido for for fifty one years. And so I claim mastery of it. Right? I've got a white belt.

The reason I've got a white belt is because of the, the attachments that go along to rank in any of these martial arts. You're expected to start teaching at some point. Right? Usually, they have the in, like, judo, they would have, certainly brown belts, and and all the black belts would be expected to teach. But some of the lower ranks would as well, you know, like three down.

Okay? But mastery is a state of mind. Alright? So I'm a white belt, and I never tested, for rank because for me, it was kind of like it was moot in the sense that, as a kid we were moving every eight to nine months, so I would never get a chance to to really participate in that level of community, within the martial art itself. And then I just sort of had the attitude.

Right? Also, there was also the question of, would I have been a good teacher? And probably not. Okay. At that point where I was still learning, I was much more concentrating on the acquisition of the skill.

So so I'm like, there there's been a few. Alright? So there are, if you're in the martial arts, you know who they are. There are several, extremely respected martial artists that have no ranking. Alright?

They have no belts or anything. And once you get to mastery, you see that, that's all organization stuff. You know, it's it's relationship stuff between, senpai kohai kind of thing, you know, who's who's instructor, and this kind of thing. And it and it does not, to some extent, does not really impact the art. It's a separate aspect of the art.

So I was more concerned in the actual, art itself. And so I'm a master of that art. Now, the thing about this is that all masters are basically the same because they all achieve the same state, which is mastery of their own mind. So, a master woodcarver is every bit a master of his own mind as a martial artist, because you have to control your mind before you can control your body, using your mind to do that, obviously. Right?

And so you find that, you know, there is a commonality among mastery that goes through, humans that is independent, % independent, of the art actually being mastered. So there are women that are masters at baking, and these these women are masters at baking. You know, they've done it for sixty years maybe, and they they can do it with a nuance and a and a clarity of what they're doing that you do not see in someone that is not a master. Right? Same thing with the martial arts.

So, aikido is an interesting art. There was a, historical period of time when General Douglas MacArthur had conquered Japan at the end of World War II, and they forbade the practice of all the martial arts because they'd been, you know, fighting these guys. Right? And the martial artists were pretty deadly, and they just wanted to put a the the occupation forces just wanted to put an end to it. Everybody was tired of fighting any but anyway, so so things like karate and so forth were forbidden to be taught for a number of years.

It was during that period of time that aikido arose because it was a new art. It had not existed before World War two as this art aikido. It had existed in various many forms, aikiju jitsu primarily. And the aik part is all about the mastery of your ki force, right? Your your life force, the energy that flows through you and how to make it flow, how to store it, all of this kind of stuff.

Very, very much derived from similar structures like Taoism and, and Buddhism. Okay. So, MacArthur forbids the teaching of this. Aikido arises. Aikido is an interesting art because it has, combinations of, it's really a very hard striking arc.

You know, you we have many hard strikes even though you don't see that taught these days. And I've learned, combat aikido, and I learned aikido in the early days, where it wasn't so refined. Okay? And this is what we're coming into is this issue of mastery. There is a particular throw.

It's called shiho nage, 4 direction throw. I'm not gonna describe it, but you do end up holding your partner's, hand at the wrist and having their arm bent back over on itself. So you can just fold your arm back up and, like, stick your hand over your shoulder, and it is an extreme form of that. That's how your hand will end up in this throw. And the master does this little spinny move that is so fast and so quick, you have no idea what's going on.

And because they're doing a spin around their own center, it's extremely powerful because of the torque involved. So this is where it comes into this. Shihonage, the 4 direction throw, for eight years, that was the most deadly throw on the planet to learn, and a number of people died. Okay? A number of students of aikido died learning that or or being, so to speak, the victim of someone who was learning to use that throat.

The way we teach it now, Shihonagi I mean, it's a very key element, the, foreign aid direction, stuff within aikido. So, so it's still taught. And shihonage is still taught, even though, like I say, it's the most deadly, throw in martial arts to learn. Much more violent and stuff. Like, I can go and kill a man by striking him 3 times in his Adam's apple, but I can kill him a lot quicker with a lot less effort using a shihonage.

Because at 1, if you stick your hand over your your shoulder there and you see how your arm is extended, the elbow is up, and the and the wrist and the fingers are down over the back of the shoulder, imagine that being pulled to the side. Imagine that being the leverage that is used to flip you over a guy's back. Back. And so what happens is it it literally rips the shoulder structure apart, and you bleed out inside because you tear all of those arteries and veins that are up in the throat. And you die very quickly.

There were people that died slowly, that they would do the training and and receive the blow when it was done badly, and they would die maybe four or five or six hours later. And it became something of, of an issue, and then there was, you know, a bunch of, Aikido guys got together, and they worked out this new method of teaching shihonage. And we go to this very, very, very gentle. So I can use, this 1 throw, and I can kill a man. And the bigger the man is, the easier it is for me to kill him because I have more leverage with that particular arm.

And no matter how big his shoulders are and no matter how structured his arm is in terms of, you know, bicep, etcetera, the leverage that you were provided with Shiho Nagi overcomes all of those, and it torques at the wrist, the elbow, and the shoulder at the joint level, not the muscle level. So you're not you're not fighting them muscle to muscle. It's not like that kind of a judo takedown. This is a a quick leverage thing. Anyway, so, so I can kill you with this throw.

Anybody can, if you know it. But I can I can I can put someone down on the mat with this throw very, very, very rapidly and with a lot of force, but so gently that when they lay on the mat, they're gonna think that I'm gonna, like, reach down and and kiss them on the cheek? That kind of a thing. Right? It is truly, and I won't, by the way, because you're a hairy bastard, but, but it is truly a marvelous, marvelous, differentiation between mastery and non mastery.

Because when you don't master that, when you're doing that, everybody ends up sore. Okay? You get lots of injuries with this, even with our current teaching technique, which is this gentle fold and lay down process. Right? And this is because, I choose this particular example, Shihonage, because it is so difficult to learn well.

But you know, it's actually what I use to define myself as a master. The day I knew, in my mind that I had controlled my mind to where I could use that and choose in the moment to use any form of that, I knew I was a master. Right? And and I stopped beating myself up about not taking belts and all of that because I could teach. I know exactly how to to teach shihonage such that someone can use this, you know, kiss on the cheek approach and lay you down on the mat, or they can rip your your arm literally.

There were a couple of instances where the structure was basically torn away from the body. All that kept it there was the skin. So you can do both with this. So mastery is the the application of control over yourself. Right?

It is the, the battle with yourself. True victory is victory over self. And so I have that at this stage. And what was remarkable for me was to discover that mastery had nothing to do with the art itself. Mastery has to do with your control over your mind.

And so I will find I'll see a woman that, you know, she can she's a master at baking. And, hey, I'll give her a % props because she has controlled her mind to the point that that is, the expression of her mind, of her mastery over her own mind. And, you know, you can do this. You'll see people that are are masters at whatever the hell they do. Maybe they're, you know, a street sweeper and they're just out there doing it as as a master street sweeper.

And it is true that, you know, at at a mastery level, all arts are equal. And and that's what we're coming into. The reason I'm bringing this up is that we're gonna start seeing the emergence of a lot of masters now in underappreciated arts as we have made this, transition as we're shifting into the Age of Aquarius. We've actually shifted, you know, there's still a bunch of people that are getting dragged along, but the majority of humanity is into it at this stage. So this this is a little bit of a long 1 here, about mastery.

Mastery is a hugely complex subject. I'll revisit it many, many, many, many times. Among masters, there is an equal acceptance. It doesn't matter to me. If your art is karate and you're a master of it, you're you're equal to myself even though your art is divergent from mine.

So just because you have karate as your tool does not mean you are any less of a master, in my opinion. Same thing with baking. So, so anyway, so, yeah, you know, a good baker is is is the equivalent of a black belt in karate or aikido, at that level. And you'll find as a master that you can always turn your thoughts and your mind control to something else. So the thing about mastery is that once you reach it at a certain level within 1 art, the mastery process that drives you, the curiosity to can I do that, Can I control myself in that in in that circumstances to this degree that I would say that I was a master of it?

And that's basically what you're searching for as a as a person seeking mastery or seeking the expression of it, because it's always in you. It's just a matter of of it getting out. Out. Anyway, we're gonna see a lot of these people, emerging now that we've got the the froth and the foam fading away off of humanity, and we're gonna go back to this level. And I think we'll have a big surge, a big resurgence in all things, leading to mastery of all these various arts as we get our our social order back into something that's more centered.

And I'm looking forward to it. So so there's that. And then I just needed to note that I'm gonna be doing some, a new project. I'll probably end up moving to do so. I need slightly different facilities.

And no, I'm not buying a compound to stick a cult into it. So anyway, you know, it's like I don't wanna be a cult leader. I've got I've got other arts I wanna go and master. And I'll, I'll be demonstrating some of those as we go along. I'm gonna try and do these talks as as long as I am able given the circumstances, which might be months.

I don't know. We'll see. And then, and then also today, there's a possibility I I have to go and do running around and stuff. So there's a possibility I'll do a long 1 of these on the, on the road. We'll just have to see if I'm gonna haul people with me or not.

We've got, I've got some other other options. I've gotta go and see people. You know, I've gotta go and accept invitations that were kindly offered to me. And I couldn't at the time because of the circumstances I was living in. And now I can, so the dogs and I are gonna go and do a little bit of local travel here and, meet and say hi to a few people over this, this next week.

Anyway, sorry, guys. It's a little long. Maybe we'll do another 1 of these, on the road, like I was saying. And I'll talk to you later. And watch out for that shihonage.

Long-Term Perspective and Personal Interests: ***

January 29th 🤣

Hello, humans. Hello, humans. It's 29th. It's about, 20 after 8. Out on the road doing my chores.

Got a lot of stuff I've gotta take care of today. So, anyway, I wanted to talk about this shift of the ages stuff. Right? We have, you know, you hear the phrase we're shifting out of Pisces and Taurus and which are sort of this combined thing, into the age of Aquarius. And, so everybody would say, oh, okay.

That's fine. You know, an Aquarius' intelligence, awareness, you know, there's all these other attributes to it. But, basically it's a sort of a new mindset kind of an age. Right? But it's the shift of the ages stuff that's that's interesting to me, because every time one of these things occur, humanity goes through this huge period of contention all around the planet.

And, you know, we're in it now as we can see with, the last 4 years, all the contention with the, the evil ones running the by Biden, regime, that sort of thing. Right? And now we've got Trump out there and we're getting the, the contention a bit more active, a bit more dynamic, a bit more visible. And we're seeing it. And this is just the start.

Right? So I'm not saying a a war like world war or anything. Although, in fact, the world is at war. Humanity is at war now, amongst itself. That's gonna alter as we go forward because we're also gonna get into, contention.

It's not war, but a contention with the space aliens who we have been doing, dirt to. Right? So we have not been good neighbors. And, and humanity has to realize that that we've gotta own that. There's some, we have to take responsibility for all the shit that the butt heads that have been in charge have done.

And, you know, the space aliens to a certain extent, I'm I'm quite sure understand our situation. You can imagine for Okay. So most people don't consider it, but when we examine reality, we see the reality as it is reflecting us. Right? So, so like all of our movies and stuff have space aliens basically being organized like humans.

Occasionally, they'll do, you know, like in a Star Trek or something, they'll show the space aliens as having what they call like a hive mind or something. Right? But they never really go into all the social organizations that would be possible with any other mindset. So we can imagine easily that the space aliens have an entirely different social order. And as a result of that entirely different social order, they're gonna come here and say, oh my God, look at the chaos.

You know, because they could have a social order that does not require government. Imagine that. Everybody living so harmoniously that there's no need for any organization, to control or dampen down on, you know, interpersonal contention. And in and in fact, that is probably much more that I think that's much more likely. I think it's much more probable than not.

So I think that successful civilizations will have a tendency to, engineer themselves towards that sort of a goal anyway. You know, just as a as the way that they wanna be organized. Humans, unfortunately, you know, we're the the we're we're just the funny guy who's living out on the end of the block there. Right? And it's true.

We're way out. Okay? We're on the very tip of the 3rd minor spiral arm of our Milky Way galaxy, and so we're not even on a major arm of the galaxy. The number of stars that we see at night, you know, they say visible stars in the desert without all the light, lume, and stuff, you're gonna see 6 to 7000. But if you go over 1 spiral arm and we're in the same position.

So, you know, at the end of this other little spiral arm, the 2nd minor spiral arm as opposed to the 2nd major. But if you just go over to the 2nd minor spiral arm and you were to put earth there, we might have 60,000. We'd have a tenfold increase in the number of stars we could see at night. There would be so many stars that you would actually have the effect of starlight, where you would have enough light on the ground from the stars that it would not be as dark as we get here on Earth. And if you go out to the, 4th, spiral arm here, which is anyway, if you go out to the 4th arm, you might have 200 stars visible, right, instead of 6 or 7000.

So it depends on where you are relative to the mass of the galaxy. And, of course, in the center of the galaxy, there is no night. Right? There is no darkness because there's just too many suns, too clustered and there's just so much light and other, energy coming out. Anyway, these things all affect us.

We're energy beings. Everything in this this universe is, energy and everything in this material. Just having an illusion of matter. Anyway, the, the forces are moving through, humanity now. We're reacting to them.

People have a tendency to simply react and be in them rather than be aware of them. This was why I've been saying endeavor to survive 2025, because 2025 is the kickoff into this very, very energetic, very dynamic, period of manifestation into our universe as we get more energy from galactic center and we go through this shift. And that's really what all of the shift is about is we're getting more energy from galactic center because we're rising up over the obscuring mass of the galaxy because our solar system, all of us stars being dragged behind the sun, actually is moving like a comet around the outer edge of the Milky Way galaxy on this third minor arm. It takes us like 25000000 years to rotate all way around the galaxy. Anyway though, these things are affecting us now and we are manifesting, the increased level of, dynamic, tension and contention, through the social order.

And you see it in all of the actions going on. Look how rapidly all of the Trump stuff is happening etcetera, etcetera. These are all aspects of Even though they may be planned and you know deliberate and all of that, they are all aspects of this increasing, emotional tension in through humanity in this shift of the ages. And we can expect this to increase. So here's here's the way it is.

The kali yuga is 1200 years each. There's a descending kali yuga, and then right away there's an ascending kali yuga. So you're basically in the kali yuga. The, you know, shit for brains can barely manage the technology of a donkey, period. So 24 100 years.

Okay? So 1200 years for each of the, yugas, each of the kali, and combined is 24 100 years. Then because the nature of the kali yuga, unlike all the other yugas, the Kali yuga, the iron yuga is dense and it and we have to sort of like fight our way out of it energetically. And so with the Kali yuga, you have a period going into it that is 375 years. And then you have a period coming out of it that is 375 years.

So the Kali yuga ended in 1700 AD. And so 300 and, 25 years later, here we are. Right? Now approaching 326th year. And we will so the the 75 years Alright.

So the the 300 years is this major transition. During that major transition we invented science. We got the, you know, the Cartesian coordinate system, all this kind of stuff. A lot of it's wrong. A lot of it's bogus and bullshit because it's coming from a gritology point of view that is itself a hangover from the kali yuga, from our not being able to see things correctly to, you know, to investigate and understand.

Really dense, fog here too by the way. Just incredibly dense. Very unusual for us. It's probably loaded with parasites like the other ones. So we'll be taking Fenbendezole for a while.

Anyway, so you got this 300 year period of a hangover. Then you have a 75 year period of transition. Okay? In the 75 year period of transition is broken into 3 chunks. So we're through the 300 years, hangover.

Now we're into the transition. In the 1st 25 years so it's broken up into 3 25 year segments. And we're just now moving into the middle of these, 3 segments. The first segment we can think of as examining ourselves relative to where we were. Right?

To the kali yuga and all of that. So that is the, the period of, that leads into where we're at now, which is this period of chaos. The period of mass change. So these 25 years are gonna just be huge, giant. You can't imagine how deep and how wide the changes are going to be year after year after year.

And if and if you are paying attention to it at that level, you will get tired. Be be just trying to, you know, categorize and and, count all of the damn changes that are occurring in such huge amounts and across all of humanity. And so this is the year the 25 year middle period frequently is described as chaos. Alright? So it's, destruction.

The 1st 25 years is the destruction of the old paradigm. The destruction of the hangover paradigms left over from the kali yuga. That's And and that has been done. It's been brought up. Everybody about the Kazarian mafia, the, you know, the Jews, the mistranslated bibles, all the religion being bogus, yada yada yada.

So that's all part of the destruction period. Now we're into the chaos period where we have dynamic change that upsets the old paradigm and is in the process of degrading it and and making it into to crumble and then we'll sweep it all away as debris. And then the last 25 years are the rebuild. Okay? The new the emergence of the new paradigm, the and it's solid.

It's got its feet under it, and it's starting to really go. It's starting to make things happen. And so that, that last 25 years will be very, very, very exciting, and that's 24 years from now. And, but it's a transition. So we will see a lot of the effects that will be occurring in mass in those 25 years of rebuild, new paradigm construction.

We will see a lot of those effects as the new paradigm creeps into existence now. And we start seeing some of the benefits of this new paradigm and people start applying it. In my opinion, we're going to adopt what is known as the ontological paradigm, as opposed to the grid. Basically, the difference is that the gritology view is that if all life died, the planets and the dust and the dirt and stuff would still be here. The ontology view understands that that is an illusion, that that's a delusion.

It does not exist that way. That if all life died, there if all consciousness left, there would be nothing here, because we're all a subset of consciousness. Anyway, so this paradigm is emerging. It's emerging now. It'll be spotty during these first couple of years, but starting to get its, you know, it it it's nascent.

It's new. It's starting to get some adherence. People are it's shiny. It's attractive. It's different.

It has some possibilities, and we want to explore it because of all the dead ends of the the gritology, Einstein relativity, you know, special relativity, general relativity. Gotta have a constant for this and gotta have a constant for that because we can't really figure out the math. Right? So light is not a constant. So e equals mc squared is is false.

It does not exist because it's assuming that light has a constant speed, and that's not true. The speed of light changes based on how and when it emerges out of the ether. The ether is the media for it. So anyway, so, you know, I can dispute it. We can actually prove this, logically as well as, empirically.

And we will be proving them empirically quite frequently as we go forward validating the new, paradigm. During this period of 25 years of chaos is also the beginning of the 25 years of rebuilding. So we will see a lot of new major inventions come on in. Right? And so we might see in this 25 year period the, we will see actually the rollout of 0 point technology, of 0 point energy.

That's where we'll begin is with the energy part. And so pretty soon we'll have these little suitcase or football things that'll that everybody in a village can come and plug every every one of their appliances into. And and you have infinite energy at no cost other than the original cost of the production of the device. That will appear. That's gonna lead to so much stuff.

So you could take one of those devices and you could create a factory and that thing could run the factory. You could power the factory, or you could power a recreational center. Any damn thing you want. And and it's portable. You take it wherever you wanna go.

There's no no copper lines strung everywhere to get the the juice to you, and nobody is making money off of it. That's the big issue. Right? Is that nobody's continuously drawing down and sucking and and taking away all of your life's work in the form of a hidden tax that you pay on energy you need not pay for. So, so this will be emerging over these next 25 years, and this is gonna destroy the oil industry.

It's gonna destroy governments as we understand it now. I do not believe it's gonna take the United States down because of who's in place now and what they are doing. Right? Because I think they're actually anticipating this occurring and are now freaking out and making plans about it. I see some signs.

I see some linguistic signs that there's stuff going on in the background that people are thinking. And, you know, they'll probably make stupid decisions, but at least they're thinking in in the right, right direction. So, this, this 25 year period is gonna be extremely chaotic and this is the first of the kickoff of that of that period. And, this year okay. So I actually think the Kale Yuga ended, we could say it ended on 16/99.

That's why we're we're actually 1 year ahead of what the math would tend to indicate. So it depends on when you think the kali yuga ended. And and I have reasons for choosing 16 99 as opposed to 1700, which is the more obvious one. But shit happens earlier than it actually linguistics back from the, 1600 that indicate to me that 16 99 was the was the end of the kali yuga. And we moved in that year in to, the ascending bronze age that we're in now.

And this will last 24 100 years. And then there will be a slight transition period as we go into the silver age. But nothing at all like what we've had to deal with, coming out of the kali yuga because, you know, we're all as as dense as donkeys then. So gonna be interesting times, could be extremely chaotic. And in the chaos, there's all there's a lot of, possibility for, you know, you being in the wrong place at the wrong time and suffering as a result of that.

There's something you want to avoid, so you have to have situational awareness and you also have to have situational situational awareness at a large level, so that you're aware of these larger, trends that are going on. Right? And, and thus you can not be where there's gonna be expected action. And and, dynamic action that would cause you problems. The, shift of the ages stuff is you can go back through and look at all of the, shifts.

If you take, Yukteswar's understanding of the yoga, of the yuga, 1200 for a kali yuga, double that for the bronze, double that for the silver, double that for the gold, ages, and you look at it and go back through human history, even just the history we have, as garbage as it is, as as mangled and destroyed as it is by the Pharisees, the people that give Jews a bad name, we still have indications of these great shifts and we can see it in all of the activity that occurred. You know, the big battles, the the fall of empires, all of this kind of thing. Right? And then also the rise of various different kinds of technologies and the superseding of others. And this is the one of the key indicators, about the mind aspect of the Yugas and the shift of the ages.

So it is, you know, we have it as an astrological thing, a shift into the Aquarian age, but we also have it as this shift in the Yugas which is basically just mathematical relative to time. This makes perfect sense of course because astrology is all about the timing, given to us by the stars, by the planetary movements. That sort of thing. So so really, basically that's it. It's like yeah, things are extremely chaotic and there's a reason for that chaos and it's gonna continue for at least another 24 years, although it will be in a waning, fashion.

Right? So it'll be the at the end of this little period will not be like the beginning. So 24 years from now will be a much peaceful, much more peaceful year as we shift into, the build out and there'll be a lot more positive activity and we will see more positive activity beginning. It's actually beginning now, and it will come to dominate. And then we'll get into this innovation boom that'll just blow everybody away.

And I'll get my floating RV, you know, and I'll go be able to go build this house on this magnificent property I have that overlooks the Olympic mountains here in Washington state. And I can't build there now because of the legal and physical complications of getting a road to it. But if I've got a floating RV, hey, I own the land. I as long as I can get the materials there and I have a source of power, my ZP, 0 point, energy, device, I can just plop it there, haul material in, and, myself and a bunch of guys can build a house there. And it'll be fun.

Incredibly, incredible view. I mean, you just can't imagine. We'll take pictures and and we'll show them. It'll be fun. I've got 471, 1 feet of waterfront on Hood Canal, the most pristine waters.

It's a fjord, extremely deep, and I actually wanted to cultivate, various different kinds of seaweed there, along it. But anyway, so that's a couple years out. But I'll be able to do it because of where we are in this transition from one age to the other and what's going to be occurring in this next age. Right? So Alright.

So if we get or when the rollout of z p, e comes, when we have 0 point energy rolling out, bear in mind that it will only be a few short years, and we will start having actual, demonstrably effective, no bullshit, no testimony required, medical devices that will work on energy and frequency. Not med beds. None of that bullshit. None of these little patches you put on it. None of that stupid shit like, Jeff Berwick's Tesla machine.

Bear in mind, guys, he's rubbing these light bulbs on himself. These light bulbs can only produce a very specific frequency of light no matter what kind of electricity you shoot in there. It's because the coating on the inside of the bulb is what determines the frequency of the light that comes out. You know? So people are just not very technically minded, nor do they know how to analyze things at a technical level.

So but we will have energetic, transformation of the body. It probably will not well, we'll think of it as healing, but it's not gonna be the way we do healing now. So I'm actually expecting that we will have energetic processes that will allow you to regrow limbs and, like, even regrow teeth. Right? Grow new teeth.

I don't know if we'll do hair or not. Anyway, though, so, so I suspect that we will have this, but bear in mind, it's not going to not gonna be magical or miraculous in that sense. Right? You're not suddenly going to have a new tooth. You're gonna have to grow that fucker.

You're gonna have to go through all of that agony of your teeth growing again. You know, the all of that sort of thing, and it'll be different as an adult. Same thing is true of your broken arm or that sort of thing. You know, in healing those sorts of things you will have to endure that. We do not have any capacity, for altering time such that you could be, you know, broken at this moment, zapped with a bunch of, electricity and other stuff, and then in a time field and and have it all happen instantly.

So if you've gotta heal a bone, you know, it will be healed very, very, very well and you may even be able to regrow chunks of bone, but it will it will not be in any kind of a magic time bubble where it happens instantly nor without pain. So you will have to endure that. That's just the nature of our, man materium here, our manifestation as embodied beings, is that we have to deal with the flesh and the limitations of it imposed by this stuff that we call duration or time. However, a lot of this stuff is like, oh, yeah. You know, I'll I'll take that pain, you know.

Lucatori. I'll I'll eat my pain now. Right? And I will achieve whatever it is, you know. I've got so many I would actually have I've got so many scars and and, damage to me.

I would have to prioritize as to what I wanted repaired. And it would probably take quite a while. I think I've had like I once calculated and I think I've had over 3,000 stitches in my life, you know, and and not all in one incident. Right? So 300 here, a 100 there, you know, 50 here, 75 there, that sort of thing.

Right? Based on the various different injuries. So it's gonna take a long time to heal. So the thing, in my opinion, the way to approach this now as an old guy is to do all of the stuff that I can to maintain as much health as I can now, such that when this energetic, healing process appears, maybe it's 10 years off. Alright?

That's my thinking. Okay. 10 years from now, we may have something that delivers even it it will deliver the functionality that everybody has in their minds when you tell them med beds, but it won't be a bed you lie down in. It'll probably be multiple multiple trips to get things to happen. And, you know, being zapped with energy, go away, come back, be zapped, and so on in order to get this shit to happen.

So it will be a long and slow process, but it will be able to be done. And I think that's 10 years out assuming that we get the first ZPT units introduced into the social order this year. And it'll probably be about 10 years after this the zero point energy, is introduced. It's my thinking. Just on it's a guesstimate based on the, progression of, various different kinds of chip architectures and technology introductions that we've seen in recent past.

And we'll see because I'm assuming that it'll be, you know, computer controlled and all of that kind of thing. Anyway, I'm gonna have to shut this off. I've got a lot of stops. First one's coming up, and I probably will not make one on the way back, because I've got a bunch of stops there too. It's just a very unusual day, and then I've gotta get into some serious work here.

So, take care, and remember, endeavor to survive 2025. It's gonna be a real bitch.

January 31, 5/19 AM 🔗

Hello, humans. Hello, humans. January 31, 5/19 AM. It's raining and so it's slow when we're out with the dogs and stuff. So today I'm gonna talk about failure and how to use it.

Okay? So you have to understand that we live in a really goofy reality. Alright? And so the, it's a duality. Don't let anybody ever tell you that it's not a binary universe.

You know, live, dead, hot, cold, all of that kind of stuff. Right? Yeah. There's gradients, but there's, it's the extremes that define it. So, in this world, in this reality, in this material, you don't ever learn anything by succeeding at anything.

The only way a human learns is by failure. And this is true of all life. Right? You must fail at it in order for you to stop and say, okay, what the fuck happened? Why didn't that work?

And puzzle out what you need to do to make it work. So failure teaches. Success does not. Success reinforces. And once you understand this, then you start looking at, okay, in every situation with which we are, in which we, okay, every situation we encounter, in which we must participate because there is a decision being made or requested from us by universe, the the paths will always be obscured.

So it's like that yin yang symbol. Right? So within every set of circumstances, even those that appear to be opposing what you want, what you want is actually buried within that. So, I I was presented in this conversation with this, picture of this just absolutely, beautiful woman. Right?

Absolutely. She's, like, very young at the time. And there is this, thing text that's with it there. Basically telling all the men to go piss off. Right?

That she's so gorgeous. You can't even have a hope in hell. And she was nominally discussing things about, this relative to, you know, the men that were hassling her online. Right? But within the words itself, if you really look at it, it's actually a a barrier, and at the same time it's an invitation.

Right? She puts the barrier up there because she wants to screen out all of the trash guys. But she's really kinda desperate that there that some non trash guy, would approach her and over come the barriers that she has placed there. And she may deny this, but the language sure does indicate that. Right?

And it's the way it is with almost everything for for humans here. And that is that the, what you want or or your goal will be you'll be faced with all of these barriers. That's the whole point of this reality, is to see what you will do, to see what will actually happen. Not what could happen, not what may happen or what might happen, but what will actually happen based on the individuals and so on right there. Because our universe, seeks this certainty, there will never ever be time travel as we might imagine, because time travel would allow you to do things that would cause undoing and reversibility.

And the universe can't have that. The material cannot have, reversibility. In fact, it is designed, and we can see that with irreversibility. And the idea of, any form of time travel is fantasy. So, you know, and also the energetic aspect of it.

It takes too much energy to shove a single molecule of hydrogen, back one second in time. Right? A bunch of people have calculated that. Vernansky went at it one way, and, Richard Feynman went at it another. And Feynman's conclusion was that it would take 7 or 8 times the amount of energy in the available universe to shove 1 hydrogen ion back one full second in time.

And it doesn't really matter if it's a full second or it's a millisecond, you're just not gonna be able to do it, and the energy barrier is there all the way around. The point being that our our social order or our our materium informs our social order. Right? So the fact that we can't go back and undo stuff, our much fantasy that is out there and these people thinking that's possible. You know, all the nut job, butthead, Corey Good kind of guys, 20 and back, you know, all of this sort of horseshit.

Aside, all of that aside, the universe wants you to understand that there is irrevocability about every one of your actions. As soon as you take that action, it's done. You can't undo it. Right? You can apologize for being a a butt hit and a and a shit and getting it wrong.

But really, that's the whole point. Is to learn and you don't learn by success. You only learn by failure. When you say, uh-oh, that didn't work. And then you'd, you know, if you're smart, you try it again in a different approach.

Right? As opposed to abandoning it. But everything within our, universe is actually set up to have failure teach you, and success reinforce that teaching. It's, you know, it's a it's a goofy reality in that sense, that everything is the opposite of what it is presented to you as within its core. And so, you know, in like the martial arts, the person that is attacking you is actually your partner in this contention.

And their actions provide for you, if you're a smart martial artist, they provide for you the pivot points upon which you will act. So your enemy in that sense, the the uke, the guy you're gonna be flipping around there, is is giving you what you need, to to be effective in that particular point of contention. As the women will do that to the guys. Right? Listen to their language, even when they're telling you that, you know, go away.

Don't bother me, and so on. Right? If you listen to their language, you'll get hints about what's coming out of it, really. Look for those undercurrents. Because maybe it's just like this one woman saying, you know, you have to prove yourself worthy.

You know? That's just what like that, basically all of the, fairy tales and this sort of thing. Right? The the Rapunzel, you know, she's up there knitting at the top of a tower and lowers her hair. Well, the the barrier there is the tower.

She's cooperating. She's providing you the access, but you have to achieve it. You've got to do it. So it's, you know, you have to expend the energy, and you have to understand you will fail. And it's like, okay.

No big deal. Right? You will be rebuffed. No big deal. You know?

It's it's not like she's actually took a knife and plunged it into you, however much your mind may be trying to make you think that is the case. This is a case of of, you know, you must overcome if you want that goal. And this is all of life is this way. So, you know, get used to it kind of thing. It's a it's a goofy reality.

Humanity has been beset by this woke mind virus shit. The infiltrators, the communists, all of this kind of stuff for many 100 of years. The Elohim worship cult has been with us for 1000 of years. And we're at the shift of the ages where all of that is changing. And in the in the the uke here, the people we're gonna throw, the bad guys, the satanists, you know, the elohim worship cult, the mother weffers, all of these guys are in the process of providing us pivot points to flip them into the dustbin of history, to, you know, slap the lid on it and send them on their way.

Doesn't mean we're gonna be without contention, because then universe is gonna provide us the next level of contention. It's like a video game in that regard. Once we succeed at one level, it has to challenge us and present us with more potential for failure, because we don't learn through success. And if you examine your own life, you'll see that's the case. Anything you ever learned, came at a cost of you having failed.

And the more difficult it is, the more often you're going to fail. The greater the prize, the the larger the barriers. It's just the way this shit works out. And so once you make up your mind, and once you understand this, then you can come to a couple of conclusions that will aid you, in your pursuit of reality here. Right?

And that is that failure doesn't kill you, right? It doesn't. You you know, it's you know, she bitch slaps you and and and, pushes you down and all of that kind of stuff but it's just, an opportunity for you to prove that you can get get up on your feet and do it. And that's what she wants to see because she's not gonna go with some weak guy. Right?

That's basically how our all of our reality works. If you want that prize, if you wanna get that, you know, golden skull out of there, you gotta risk that long tunnel with the spikes and the snakes and the spiders and stuff. Right? And, you need to get the gold. So you've got to extend yourself in order to achieve.

In order to to know you can do that, you must have had a long history of failure. Because that's the only way you learn to get to that point. So basically, the the message here is that failure teaches and success reinforces. Therefore, a wise man will learn to be very, very good at failing.

February 1st 2025 🔗

Hello, humans. Hello, humans. February 1st, 4:12 in the morning. Oh my god. Getting up at 3 is its own punishment.

Anyway, so I wanna talk for a few minutes about this real bitch. Just a terrible bitch. But before I get into talking about her, let's talk about, hyperspace for a second. Okay? So, first off, when humans take psychedelics, there are these predictable effects beyond getting stoned and going off and getting weird and shit.

There are these, ancillary effects that come on later, after the process has matured within your mentition. Right? So it it fucks with your mind, and you get to, resettle all your thoughts and how your thoughts work and stuff at a very deep, deep level at a consciousness level, but also at a biochemical level. And so you might take some psychedelics. If you took it once, maybe you would have this happen once.

Right? And what would happen is that maybe for the next 2 months, things would be like a little little odd in your brain, different connections being formed and this kind of thing. It would you'd feel it. You'd be sort of aware of it. Most of the time, maybe it wouldn't rise to your consciousness, your your awareness perception level, but you'd hover close to that because your brain is thinking in new and unique ways to you, and you actually experience this in, hormonal production and stuff.

Right? So you would feel it. You'd have sensation that would tell you about that. All right. So you also have predictable effects that occur sometime afterwards.

And, the you know, they call them flashbacks, but it's not really. What's actually going on is further reintegration at a deeper level of the meanings and stuff that you picked up in that experience. So it's a an ongoing process that can continue for decades. And, of course, the and it's intermittent. It's not con continuous.

So it might happen for 2 months after you took the psychedelic if you took enough of a dose, and then maybe 7 or 8 months after that, you'd have a few days of it. And then maybe the next 2 or 3 years, it might happen again. And that would basically be it. Right? But if you took a lot of psychedelics, you could expect to have, having these kind of effects for a number of years.

And sometimes people report that, you know, on specific kinds of psychedelics, especially things that are known as teachers, right, in the strains, like golden teacher mushrooms, right, or or the, sky teacher, mescaline. These will have effects that are like that will come on you 20 and and plus years later. You get another insight. And it's a natural process, and it's the evolution of the biochemistry of the brain relative to the hormones, blah blah blah blah. Anyway, though, so what I wanted to present today was talk about this bitch.

Right? And and but before we get into that, I wanna describe hyperspace. When you take psychedelics, if you take a, large enough dose, you have, you have these 2 major effects that are are determinant. They're part of the definition for reaching hyperspace. Right?

And the first part of this is the dissolution, the actual dissolution of your body. Your body actually you actually feel like you're you're dying. And, and your body separates, and ultimately it separates into all of its atoms and you just the body just kinda disappears, and all that is left is your awareness. Because your consciousness never goes anywhere. It never never gets damaged or changed in any way.

Anybody saying they can raise your consciousness is full of horseshit. So you you take the psychedelics and you go through the dissolution, the death of the body. You will see paint, paintings in caves that they're able to, because of the nature of the paint that was used, because it was a biological and not synthetics, they're able to date this stuff. Carbon dating, I think, is stupid, but in any event, they they claim dates on it that may be reasonably accurate. In which case, we might have drawings in these caves that go back 300000000 years, in Africa and in Central America, of people, trying to express what they went through in this psychedelic experience that they had at that time.

And they frequently draw the human body lying on its back, because you everybody's a groundhogger if you take enough of this stuff. And, and the body being separated, you know, like the finger joints separate, the wrist, elbow, etcetera, etcetera. And all these pieces moving off in disparate ways. And that's really the effect. You actually feel your body dissolving in that sense.

So, that's number 1, is the dissolution of the body. And I put that down to the actual transit of the, of the life death barrier, that that you have to have your have shed your body to some degree in order to get through this barrier, because it's my understanding that hyperspace is on the other side of that barrier. It's also my understanding that hyperspace is actually where, the event stream forms. Right? The shit that's gonna gonna pop into our material material reality here in the material is forming in hyperspace, Hyperspace is just the other side of the life death barrier and presents to us what I describe as the, event stream here in the material.

And the feed for the event stream, so to speak, the feed for the bazillions of hoses that are the event stream is within hyperspace. And so the number one effect of this that you can tell, okay, I'm really going this time, is your body dissolves. Right? And then the second effect is that you actually literally you feel as though your body is you don't have a body. You recognize you don't have a body, but you still feel stuff, and you feel as though you've gone through a membrane.

And in my opinion, that membrane is actually the life energetic life death barrier. And then suddenly you're into hyperspace, and it is an absolute absolute incredible chaos that you cannot imagine. Noise and and sight and everything, and you have no ears and have no eyes. So I don't know how you're seeing this. But nonetheless, your consciousness is picking up all of this.

Your awareness is picking up the huge, fantastic amounts of, of dynamic actions every everywhere. Every little being in there is talking at you and trying to get your attention and putting thoughts in your head. There's lights everywhere. There's just constant noise. Everything is vibrating and moving.

There's no real, steady place to set anything on. Bear in mind, this is not a material. There's no matter there. Well, there is matter because I think it's in with with the ether, and you can form things. And I think what you're actually doing at that point is using your mind to manipulate the ether because you can't words don't make any, any sense in the circumstances.

So there's not really words as you understand them, and there's not really numbers and stuff as you understand them. Okay. So now getting back to the bitch. Right? The bitch is karma, and I think and and people have understandings of karma that are, that are accurate because they're on a personal level.

You know, if you go slap that guy or kick him in the nuts, you're gonna get an instant karma reaction. Right? But there's also the longer delayed karma. If you go and do something bad and you hide it like Bill Gates, well, he's he's hid all of his bad shit, but his karma's coming to get him. And and we may kill him on this planet to rid rid ourselves of him.

We may kill him on this planet in retribution for all the evil he has done. But his real karmic, impact is after he dies, and he's very desperately afraid of that, as are all these satanists. In any event okay. So one thing I wanted to point out was that karma is not quite as we understand it because we think of karma at a personal level, and we rarely stop to think of ourselves as one of an infinite number that cannot possibly be calculated of life, as individual units here in this material. And all of that life is constantly creating new karma because every action has a an equal and opposite reaction, so to speak.

Right? Every action induces some level of karma into the system as a total. And it's my understanding now that by going into hyperspace, you're actually looking at the place where the event stream is forming, the source of the event stream in that sense. Right? It's not the source of life or any of that.

It's the source of the dynamic action as the energy is transmitted into the material. And that's where the mechanism of karma actually things, because every single one of your actions has karmic import, whether you understand it or not. And frequently or mostly, probably, in some magnificently high number, high percentage, 99999% kind of thing, right, of your actions are in fact providing karmic, down chain, manifestations for someone else. So every action you do will produce karma, but it's not necessarily gonna be a karmic blowback on you. Certainly, there are those.

There's no question about that. And so you can think of that this is one of the things that Kathari understood, was that every action has this downstream effect. And so you could could purify the downstream effect by having a conscious attention to your actions. Right? And this is also what, the Bhagavad Gita says in in terms of, Krishna talking to Arjuna.

Right? There are downstream effects, but and you can eliminate those downstream effects in certain cases, by the the mental content and the and the awareness of in in doing that act. So as a warrior, you're supposed to kill, but killing causes karmic repercussions for you as well as everybody else. Right? Because you're always cont contributing to the event stream by every action you take, having all these karmic ripples that go on and on and there's all these common auric effects, and so no wonder hyperspace and the event stream are just so incredibly intense in terms of dynamic action.

And it's because there's all these, you know, uncountable number of beings in this universe, and we're all in there contributing to this giant karmic, dispute. And so, so anyway, so the kathari believed you could purify the event stream this way by watching your actions at a mental level, and they are not wrong. So tedious incredibly tedious takes a lot amount of of work and so on and so on. But, also though, they understood, as do some of the Hindus, they understand that you must act. Not only must it be done in that moment, but it must be done in that moment, for its repercussions further into the event stream.

And so, the avoidance of acting is itself an act. You're polluting the event stream with your and you'll get a blowback from that if you try and avoid taking actions. Just just try at some point being, in a position and not make a decision, you know, or just simply refuse to make a decision. That's not gonna go very well for you. Okay?

Anyway, so just wanted to note this about, you know, karma is a highly complex bitch. Highly complex. But you can indeed, sort of cover your ass by, you know, your mental attitude and emotional balance and stuff when you make those decisions in the moment. But they must be made, and not for you, but to help further everything because they're part of the continuing, drama that is the event stream, through which we all live, basically. Anyway, that's it.

This is a long one. I gotta get the dogs out. Somebody needs to pee over here. So, another one tomorrow.

February 2nd 🔗

Hello, humans. Hello, humans. February 2nd, 5:38 in the morning. We're in rough times. Okay.

So I'm not gonna, waste time with this, and I'll get right to it. 2025 is gonna be really rough. It already is. We're just barely into the 2nd month, and look at all the chaos of January. Okay?

So it's gonna get a lot worse. My expectations for what will occur are, divergent from what I hope would occur. And they're probably reasonably accurate in a broad brush. So we're get in my opinion, we're gonna be going into a spring offensive that will get more and more of these migrant to invader, 5th columnists, saboteur guys setting out, fires and doing all this kinda shit. This will include ANTIFA, at least up until about June or so.

Then there will be an incident or 2, in which, USA citizens, in the form of, you know, blue haired ANTIFA people, will be shot dead, in an assault, where they should not have been messing around. Right? I don't know what the circumstances will be, but the the suggestions are that there'll be a bunch of dead people in, some kind of an assault and they'll turn out to be antifa. And after that, it's gonna be, antifa themselves are gonna be really freaked out. Again, I don't know what the circumstances are that are gonna cause this.

That appears to be like in, late April or early May or so. In any event, so I think we're gonna have a spring offensive. 2025 is gonna be even worse. We're gonna have more shit falling from the sky. We'll end up with a lot of UFO and UAP activity increasing all the way up, through until sort of a, visibility peak.

I mean, we'll be really paying attention to it in summer, likely July August. I don't think it's act the activity is gonna peak. I think it's just that we're gonna become aware of it, and it'll be hitting the media very, very heavily. I actually don't think that there will be organized assaults on KimTrail factories. I don't think it in planes.

I don't think it's gonna be necessary, simply because there's gonna be a huge impact to the airline industry, that it's gonna be continent wide. Well, it'll be global. Okay? Because the American continent's gonna be under attack, and because there will be ongoing war between, government and cartels inside the US and outside, it's gonna be very risky for these Kimtrail planes to be flying about. Plus there's gonna be a lot of other ancillary activity focused on the weather modification business.

You know, a lot of them are gonna be doxxed, their their bank accounts revealed. All this kind of shit's coming out on the Tor network, and they're just gonna let the, loonies pick it up and bring it over into the regular Internet. So that'll be that'll probably be, maybe that'll be in the end of February that that'll start. I don't know. There's a big bulge of, alright.

So we're in a a steepish, hill climb at the moment in terms of building tension language. There's a lot of release language with every plane crash, yes, but the general trend is that the language still is building even with these individual release episodes. Over the course of, February, we'll ramp up to the point where where we get into this this bulge, where we have to take a big step up in building tension language sometime near the end of the month. It will involve, finances, banks, money, that kind of thing. It may be ancillary in the form it may be, you know, tariff activity and that sort of thing at at a international level.

It's hard to say at this point. But nonetheless, it'll be impacting of the money supply and what people do with their money and such. And that's when we start really getting into it. The finances start crumbling, and then we have, a number of months of, the spring assault building. Right?

So you can think, Vietnam, 1967, spring of 1967 leading up to the, Ted offensive in 69. That's their plan. Right? Their plan is to overwhelm us 2 years out, after crumbling the infrastructure. This is the same playbook they used in Vietnam, China, Russia, everywhere.

This one's gonna be different. Okay? So it's not gonna go the way the communists want. It's gonna be, chaotic beyond their ability to control, because their plans are known and because they're really stupid fuckers and have been made more stupid by, you know, breathing chemtrails and shit. Right?

It's not gonna work out that way. It's gonna be very, very, very terrible for just ordinary guys here in the US. You know, people that are just normies and just wanna live their lives and are not participating in any any of the war at this active level. The people that are participating in the war at the active level will have a very, very tough year. Okay?

And it'll really ramp up after the 26th February, and it will keep going. And so, March is gonna be chaotic. There appears to be a slight lull in the chaos around 10th or so. And then we get into more examples of the stuff through the end of March. March 15 has a an interesting aspect to it.

So there might be something big that happens that day. But it'll just be within the rest of the developing melee. A lot of people will still be uncertain as to who's fighting who, how, and and why, that kind of thing. Right? And there will be the debris falling from the sky.

We'll be seeing more UFO in UAP appearances, and then we'll also be starting to focus on the water, because of information coming out about what's going on under the waves relative to the UAPs and submarines and this sort of thing. So we get into end of March, then we go into April. We get decent weather. And so the my my thinking is that there's some pressure that is put on by some, force, whether it's a human force or external or whatever in terms of, you know, weather itself or something. But but the thinking the the suggestion is that by the time we get into the end of March and then into April, we have many, many, many more clear days indicating that the chemtrail stuff may be fading away.

That they may not be doing it anymore simply because, you know, they can't get the the crud to the planes, they can't get the fuel because of the disruption to the infrastructure, they can't take the planes into the sky because the UFOs and UAPs are too thick. Any number of things, right? And so in, the expectation is, and and there is geography associated with one part of it, and that is the Portland, Oregon area. Okay? And so, April alright.

So, sometime between the end of March and the end of May, I have an expectation that we may see a chemtrail plane, plunge out of the sky, and that it will end up somewhere between Portland and the coast. It'll crash, and there will be damage and stuff just like in Philadelphia. It'll crash into a, not really inhabited area, but a place where there are indeed people. So it's not like it gonna hit big apartment buildings in downtown Portland or anything. And it's gonna, apparently crash according to the brief little bits of info I've gotten on this.

You know, there's a forecast. It's just a forecast. Right? So hopefully it will not occur this way. But anyway, that they would that the plane would crash over closer to, the confluence of the Columbia and the coast.

And it it'll crash to the point where there's debris, and people go and take pictures of it for days, you know, and it gets all over the Internet. You can see the guts of the the plane and stuff. So a somewhat controlled crash. Doesn't doesn't obliterate itself into just a pile of smoking rubble. Anyway, so, we get into that's that's a key thing for me, because I think that's a temporal marker for the end of the chemtrail industry forever.

I don't know why it comes down though. So, you know, it could be UFO or who the fuck knows? Anyway, okay. And so, April May are gonna be really fierce. Right?

That's gonna be the ramping up of the spring offensive. That's when all these invaders are gonna, you know, think that they can get their shit done and start doing things. And also they will be pressured. Right? So through February March and into April, there's gonna be moves in the background by officialdom to the point where the, cartel people and then Antifa and the, the NGO supplied migrants will really be, feeling the pressure.

They'll be agitated. Also, now that we're, getting into the financial stuff, it gets quite severe at the end of February, such that the trend lines of chopping the NGOs off at the knees in terms of their funding and stuff really start having an effect. Okay? Once that spigot is shut off, all of the downstream people, including the antifa, including the invaders, and all of these fuckers don't get their money. And they don't have any resources.

They're not like the guys that have been skimming 1,000,000 off at the top. These guys are on the street. They're living from paycheck to paycheck from these NGOs. And once those those, debit cards don't get refilled, they cut maybe 3 days, and they're gonna react. And so we're gonna get chaos at that level as the, cohesion of the, invaders fractures because they won't be getting the support that they need, and that cohesion breaks it starts breaking at the end of February, around on 26th, and so by the time we get into 1st March, 4 or 5 days later, we're starting to see the effects of it, and that really kicks off this, spring offensive thing as these people get really, really agitated because, you know, they don't have the support, things aren't comfy anymore, you know, they're hearing rumors of the ICE.

They're hearing, not rumors. They're hearing news of gun battles that are involving migrants and officialdom. They're seeing the news of the cartels going crazy on the on the the borders, and at that point, so that'll be the end of March. Into April, we'll start seeing the border war, on the northern border really erupt. And, that's gonna be quite interesting.

We'll see foreign troops being killed on the Canadian side. It won't be Canadian troops. And it's gonna get, quite ugly up in my neck of the woods. You know, we're we're sort of preparing for it, that kind of thing. Anyway and so the chaos level in the melee aspect of it continues, in my opinion, until we get through this peak or or not peak, but the peak of visibility of the, UFO, UAP stuff that comes out in June or so.

Alright. So at that point, there appears to be a general, shift within the populace, towards a greater understanding on the part of the normies as to what the fuck's really going on. Not that we know. Right? But we're getting more cohesion around things that we don't know.

So we, you know, at that point, we can say, no. We these people aren't involved in this sort of thing. We don't know what's really going on, but we know that it's not, you know or or that the cartels are only a minor part of it. Right? So they're not the end all be all.

We know that the, CCP is behind other parts of it, Fentanyl and this kind of shit, but they're not the actual controllers. So we don't know who the actual controllers are, but at the time we get into the summer here, in this, peak of visibility where we really start paying attention to the skies and things, and then also the ocean, the war takes on a different character. And so, control starts to emerge, and so I'm saying that probably sometime between the end of June and the first, week of September, we will get to a point where we can say, We're no longer in a melee. We now understand there is control. There's organization to this war.

We're starting to see some progress. And then by the end of the year, we should see some real progress. Right? And and a lot of people will be, be more comfortable in what's going on. I think it'll be personally, I think it's gonna be very chaotic this summer, and I think that the Trumpetos, organization plan for a big, party, may somewhat be put in jeopardy.

I think that they will go for the planning for, a major celebration thing for 2026, but, it it and it'll come off, but not as anybody's going to expect because of the changes that will occur between, this summer and summer of 2026, which really, I think, in in my way of thinking now, I would have to peg the summer of 2026 as the visibility, of sci fi world, that could be seen if you wanted to look at it. A lot of people won't understand it. They they won't even see it even in hindsight, you know, 4 years later. But I think that's when we start really emerging into sci fi world. So I have some hope that that between this summer, in June of 2025 and June of 2026, that's when we're gonna get enough of the zero point technology, enough of the openness about the UFOs and the UAPs to change the core nature of the social order.

Right? So right now you've got leftists that are supporting antifa and this kind of thing. Actually and soon they'll the antifa and these people will be begging for money as all the NGOs dry up. Right? So they'll go to their local supporters and beg or extort money from them.

And they're gonna get, met with a rude reception because these people won't have money to kick out. And, also, as we go through this period where we have peak visibility and stuff, there will be a tendency for humans to think of other humans as, you know, we're all in this together kind of thing, us against the aliens. And there so there'll be less tolerance for aberrant behavior, especially the, antifa kind of shit. And also people will be getting really really, touchy and twitchy. So I'm suspecting that by let me see here.

So sometime in April. So let's just say April 15th. So sometime by the middle of April or so, we should start seeing lots lots of people with open carry weapons. Just walking around the street with an AR 15 because you never know what the fuck's gonna go on. Right?

And there'll be far less prohibition of it and far less social stigma of it because of the situation that's ongoing with the spring offensive against the United States. And so like I say, this, to me, lines up very, neatly with what had been done in Vietnam in 1967. And I think that, because we know the playbook, because of all of these different kinds of things, it's not going to have the end same result. And, in fact, the conditions of the visibility of the UFOs and UAPs change everything this summer. And they change the mindset and, humanity changes over the course of the next couple of years at a very deep level as a result of this particular level of exposure.

Now we get into all kinds of chaos and stuff after that, and so it's gonna be a rough, you know, 10 or 20 years in this shit. But this is the the peak of it, The spring offensive coming out and the violence in the across the United States. And I think, you know, if I had to bed in a pool, I would say that we would have, mainstream media such as it is, legacy media, you know, New York Times, these kind of fuckers, admitting that we're at war and to some extent admitting that they were wrong to support the left. And I think that'll come out, by the 1st March. Okay?

I think what's really gonna kick us is what's gonna happen at the end of February, and it's gonna re re or it's gonna take these, these organizations and shake them to their core. And they're gonna start, you know, getting on board, so to speak. Right? Anyway, it's gonna be a rough year. Endeavor to survive.

2025 is not just a saying. Keep proximity. You know, be aware of what the hell is going on around you people. Don't walk around looking at your phone because that may end up getting you killed.

Feb. 3 ^{GF}

Hello, humans. Hello, humans. Feb. 3, 05/00 '50 01/00 snow out there slowing everything down. Got a couple of inches.

Very unusual. We don't usually get that kind of stuff here on the, the coast. Because the ocean is so moderating of temperature, they the snowstorms and stuff hit the Olympic Mountains and they get a lot of snow. But, usually we don't. Anyway, today I wanted to, talk about humans as light creatures.

So, there's a whole science that's mostly neglected. You never hear it talked about in the, Pharisees controlled mainstream media, nor do the, Pharisees really teach it to the doctors and stuff. They're really ignorant about all of this. But throughout your entire body, you emit light. Most of the biological systems in your body are not chemically or they're chemical, but they're triggered by light, by biophoton production.

Or they produce light as part of their process. So your body is, filled with biophotons all the time, and this accounts for auras. Right? So, people get sensitive and they're able to see auras. They're able to see the bio, photons that your your body is emitting.

And these are gonna change on a, you know, second by second by second basis because they are reflective of not only your thought processes, but the, the other processes within the body, and your health at that time. And so it's, it's an interesting gauge of health and so on. But here's, I was thinking about this, and especially relative to, other species, other hominid kinds of species, space aliens. I bet you that almost all bodies operate on one biophotons. And it's conceivable that you would have, some species that did not have the same kind of biological construction and could produce, more biophotons and or, have less, of a filtering stuff that keeps it in the body.

And so you could have space aliens that had a huge, magnificent aura Doesn't mean they're more advanced Doesn't mean they've got higher consciousness or or greater awareness or any of that kind of shit, right? And stupid humans will indeed take this as being read that that's the way. Oh, they've got a giant aura, therefore they're a good alien or whatever. Right? Munch munch munch, there goes a human.

Anyway though, so, so light is the mechanism by which the body functions and stuff. But what was really, what was striking to me in terms of some of the things I was thinking about relative to this was the, this weird incident. Okay? And I won't go into all the details. It's too much, to do.

But I was working with Dick Allgaier in the Future Forecasting Group. This was years ago. And we did this target on the moon. And we got our wires crossed. Everything was goofy in terms of the targeting and so on.

So it was sort of, it was sort of a wasted effort to have done the remote viewing. But one of the things that came out of it, and Dick Allgeier was really good, was that we were remote viewing on the moon, you know, this particular spot on the moon. Anyway, he got a really good description of like an energy field, And, it could have been a transport in the sense of, like, a portal, but it appeared to be more of a communications device in the sense of a big, floaty screen in the off of a little stand, and there was this guy in the middle of it that was, apparently giving instructions to his minions on the moon. And what was really interesting about this guy relative to this discussion of biophotons was that this guy emitted green light light from his eyes, that he was pissed, and the, very, very, very irritated at the minions or whatever the hell was going on. This is unknown to us, but, Dick drew the, the guy with really fierce green light coming out of his eyes.

It's sort of, it's difficult to tell if he had a, you know, an extreme aura at the same time because he was standing in this, you know, transportation field and or communication field. We don't know what it was. So he could have been beaming in or he could have just been issuing orders through a big TV like device. But, so that's not the only, description of that. So, I had been thinking about this for a couple of years after the, episode and had gone through, I don't know, maybe let me see seven different cultures like Teutonic and, Turkish and Hindu and Chinese and so on looking for references of beings that emit, light out of their eyes.

You know, flashing green eyes, all of these kind of things, right? And in fact, you find quite a number of those. Surprisingly, a number of those, both in literature, in like like, novels and that kind of thing, or basically poems if you get back far enough. They didn't have a novel construction, and they told their stories in in lyrics. Anyway, so you find a surprising number of of, mentions of light coming out of people's eyes, of beings' eyes, in these, ancient literature.

And, if we go through, both the Teutonic, Turkish, and then, Hindu and Chinese, you find that this is almost always associated with, the gods. And or occasionally, a demigod, which really is a reference to a hybrid, somebody that's, you know, half human and half god. Right? So interesting, construction there. So gods are not creators of universe.

God's just something in here with us. Right? It's a description of a being that somehow is more powerful than us. Usually, it's by virtue of the technology. But I can see where, it would be really freaky to deal with somebody that had the control over their biophotonic emissions, or even didn't, that it was reacting to their emotion, and it upped the amount of biophotons coming out, humans would perceive that very definitely, and we would perceive it in some instances as dangerous or a threat.

Right? Very much like, the sound of a rattlesnake rattling its rattle, is a warning of danger sign. Right? So, this would be the same case. And if we go back through all of the literature and you find that the best description I found were the Chinese or the German.

Because they really got into it, and you didn't have to deal with, too much poetic references. And they describe these, their demigods, the pantheon of gods they've got, as actually emitting light. Walking around in in giant, auras and being able to shoot out various colors of light out of their eyes either on demand or as a result of the, the state of their body and their mind, right, and their emotions. So anyway, so just to to point out that when you, when you you can actually see this in humans too. Okay?

So an astute observer can can see auras in humans, and an astute observer can see, I wanna I I don't wanna get into the poetic aspect of it, but you can actually observe, let's just say, key force or, an indicator of life force and what's going on with that person within their eyes. So we don't emit in the sense of the description that that Dick Allgaier had where these beams of a green light, were coming out of this angry mother on the on the stand there. But we do have that ability. Right? There are people you will see and that you will meet that, are advanced enough in their, humanness that that they actually do, emit light out of their eyes in a way that other humans do not.

And so this is why we have this saying, that the eyes are the windows to the soul. And it goes all the way back, like I say, to ancient literature that people had noticed this. Right? And you'll see references in other kinds of literature, you know, flashing green eyes when they're angry or whatever. Right?

Startlingly blue, these kind of things. So it's actually a factual part of the biochemistry, the, in the biophotonic chemistry of the human body that you are perceiving that. It actually does exist. But, of course, you know, the the medical people aren't ever gonna tell you any of the cool stuff about being a human. So and you can you know, I know people that read auras, and they they say, hey.

We gotta get the fuck out of here. Had this happen once. Okay? So I was in a, restaurant in, Mexico City. It was after the earthquake that I was there in 1993.

I was thinking about this, last night. And, in that in that restaurant, this guy that I was with, ancillary to my contract, he just there were three or four of us at the table, and he said, hey. We gotta get out of here. And there were he'd just seen these two guys, separate independent, And he said, look, he he said, that guy over there, he's he's itching for a fight. We gotta get out of here.

Sure enough, as we're leaving, the the other guy starts getting really, intimidated and responds to it. And next thing you know, there's crashing and bashing.

10 Hello, humans. Hello, humans. February 4th, 6:55 AM. A little late today. The snow has slowed us all down on everything.

The dogs are out having more fun than doing their peeing and that sort of thing. Anyway, this is a little talk about chrysalis. That's this, process that caterpillars go through in order to convert themselves into butterflies. They eat this last leaf, they've got enough storehouse of nutrition, and then they create, they wrap themselves in this, protective, shell for the transformative process. Right?

You cannot transform out in the open. There's always some part of a process, that prevents, you from being, messed with during the transformation because you have to put all your energy into the transformation and can't really react to the outside world. And we see this in, myths and so on, like the phoenix rises from, the flames, not the ashes. Right? That's really the situation.

And the flames keep the phoenix protected during that transformative process. So we're looking at transformation at a huge level across all of humanity as we go through this shift from the combined age of Taurus and Pisces, which is authority and subjugation into Aquarius, which is, freedom and, liberation of thought. Right? And so we're in a very transformative time. We're actually in this, shift of the ages here.

And these, forces are flowing through us at the same time that we recognize that we're actually getting more, energy from galactic center, and we are actually being energetically transformed. It's a slow process, but nonetheless, there are, appreciable, noticeable effects already. Lots of psychic people are more psychic and, are are more accurate in their psychicness and so on, and we can expect this part to continue for some time. 1000 of years, perhaps, who knows, in terms of the energy from the, galactic center. But we're also transforming at a national level here.

We're transforming at, I mean, you know, in all kinds of nations are in the process of transforming themselves. We're we're in the process in the United States of hardening up our little chrysalis here by shutting the borders and turning our attention internally to get our house in order, etcetera, right? And you'll see that this is also reflected not only at broad levels around through humanity and so on. But at personal levels, lots and lots of, individuals are are finding their lives transformed really rather shockingly, right, in in terms of the all of a sudden it just starts happening and then it's just too late and you discover you're trapped in a snowball rolling down the hill, and you're into this process of transformation whether you like it or not. It's just the way it's happening.

We also find that this is the I I find, because I look for it, that, this is at a very deep, abstract level within the the material, within the mind of humanity, and this, I think, is the transformation of our paradigm. And this has some really wide ranging effects that a lot of people will not understand now, nor if they do understand it, will they give credence to this idea that I'm about to suggest. But in my opinion, we're changing from the old paradigm of the Pharisees of a god within the material that's a commander and a and a warlord and a blood drinker and all of that kind of shit. Right? We're changing from that idea, over to the, view of ontology to the same and I'm of the opinion that the space aliens, when they show up, they're gonna have that understanding of universe as well, and that's why all their actions that they've taken so far are both inexplicable to us and are as they are.

They're they're operating from a very high moral perspective. Whereas, we we have we have basically no morals because we have this grit view imposed on us. So my suggestion is that we're gonna change into this ontological viewpoint of reality, and that this ontological viewpoint brings with it some side effects that a lot of people have not really thought about. Okay? Some of these are that, addictions may fall off in a very large way, very huge way.

And here's why. If you are, an addict, it doesn't matter what you're addicted to, but if you're an addict, you're actually, attempting to force a transformation on yourself, right? You find your life too, too much to deal with, too much to cope, so you take drugs to transform that life into something that you can manage, right? Or you're a sex addict, it's the same thing.

You're trying to, transform yourself into something you are not at this moment, but that you can envision would exist if certain conditions were there.

Now, drug addiction usually leads to a spiral that, you know, basically goes down to a spiral of death, which is the ultimate, transformation. Right? And, also the one of the worst ones to go through. But here's the thing. If we have an ontological viewpoint, then everybody's gonna understand that karma exists, but also that they are actively as individuals, they are actively participating in the transformation of the whole material, And that that transformation is happening on a millisecond by millisecond basis through the actions of uncountable numbers of individual life forms all acting in and of their own interest, and that is the combined nature of all of that that is hopefully going to create the novelty that the ontology seeks.

And that we may, in fact Okay. So that's basically the premise, that we're all participating in the transformation of of this material in this, experiment seeking for novelty for the ontology. Space aliens are gonna know this, and they'll they'll try and discuss things with us relative to that viewpoint. They will very likely be unable to, understand the gretology viewpoint. They'll they would think it, they'd reject it out of hand and think it, wildly inappropriate to have ever ever emerged.

So it's not like we're childish. It's like we're retards. So, anyway, so I think that that's the case, that that communications with the space aliens is gonna be basically nil until they understand or find people that understand the ontology because they're never going to understand humans in our grittology viewpoint. The grittology is falling away. We're getting getting rid of lots of the from the Pharisees, from the Jew dominated physics and all of this, right?

And the the entire structure that they have overlaid on science is a bunch of horseshit. And it's dying now in the process of this transformation of the global social order through the which is actually most evident in the politics at the moment, but I think in the end, will become much more, powerful and much more striking as we get closer to the transformation of the paradigm. In that transformation of the paradigm, I expect a lot of the people that are addicted to now have a different viewpoint to, to examine that addiction, and the the addiction part may fall off. Because, if you know that your life is miserable at the moment because of your attitude, you you're comparing your life with is as it is now within the grit viewpoint, and and then all of a sudden you get this and and it goes nowhere. It's just, you know, death and destruction and suffering and all this kind of shit for no fucking point.

Right? Because it's all happenstance. It's all, random odds kinda shit, and there's this weird ass god that's sitting over on a throne over there. So it's it's material, and he's munching on human bones and, and sucking blood out of kids and adrenochrome out of kids. Right?

And so who the fuck wants to live in a world that where that is your god? And and and I would if I thought that was the case here, I'd be a drug addict too. Why not? You know, anything to obliterate that that, paradigm, that vision of the, the reality in which you find yourself. Now, on the other hand, if you find yourself in a reality where the ontology creates, individual beings to actively participate in this experiment, then things really start taking off in terms of the viewpoint from which you can examine all of your own actions, your own life, and your own feelings, because they're all participatory in this greater, not movement but in this greater purpose.

And so in the ontology, everybody has purpose. No matter how mean and miserable and terrible and and greatly afflicted you are by suffering. All of that has purpose relative to the ontology and the and the laws and rules that, govern the material. And I think that as I say, the space aliens will want to discuss things, from that viewpoint. And we're in the process of transforming ourselves into beings that understand this and in this chrysalis process of becoming the butterfly out of the caterpillar and we will, we'll be emerging into this very quickly.

I'm suspecting for my own reasons here that we're gonna get into the Space Alien issue very intensely over summer, and it should start sometime about mid June. Right? This appears to be the year of the mid month. Everything seems to be happening about the middle of the month and then going on from there. So we'll see.

Anyway, take care. You know, enjoy your transformation. You know, accept learn to accept the pain, learn to accept the, the change, and it sure as fuck is not easy. Okay, guys. Take care.

February 5 2025 🗞

Hello, humans. Hello, humans. February 5, '4 '50 '1 AM. Had a good sleep. Got to got to sleep early yesterday.

I had, had to drive through the snow and go and deliver, some legal papers to be filed. In the process, I was, I'd encountered some people that in this county, we got a lot of damaged individuals. And, I'll talk to some of these people sometimes. One of them yesterday told me why he had approached me, was because he said I was radiant. Okay?

And, and I I think it's the, what he's really referring to is the the fact that I'm old. I'm 72 years old. And, I don't act it. Right? I don't I don't move like it.

This sort of thing. Right? I've had people tell me that they think I'm 50. I've had people tell me that they think I'm in my forties. And I would agree that, you know, I'm moving as though I'm at my peak, levels.

I'm I'm not old and creaky in that regard. It takes a lot of work for me, especially with the cancer that I've had. So, you know, so I'm, gratified. I'm pleased. Right?

But anyway, so we're we're talking and, myself and a bunch of the old guys here. And and, as usual, all kinds of health stuff comes on up, and then I give them what, you know, what advice I can, based on my experience. And so, this is what's gonna be a big portion of your medical care here for the next ten years. It's my expectation that, the zero point technology will come out sometime this year, in some form. And that that tech and the this is probably the technology they're running those drones on.

But, I mean, we'll we'll be examining the technology, not the, the effect of it by the anti gravity drone, but rather the source of the power for it. Right? That same source is gonna be used for, energetic healing. But we're not talking MedBeds. We're not talking anything soon.

Expectation. Sometime in the next ten years, following the release of zero point technology, we will get energetic healing that will be in an entirely, up leveling of our our understanding of how to achieve health. You'll still have to you can't be a butthead, and, you know, and you can't be a heroin addict and doing all this other weird shit and and expect that these machines are gonna cure you. But, they will give us a big boost, for other things. So in the meantime, though, since I wanna say maybe it was 02/2002, we had data showing that The United States was gonna become just a hotbed of this alternative medicine that was gonna be based on, old style stuff, but not like old western medicine, but rather, magic.

Herbal magic, basically. And it's really evolving now. We have a situation now where you can go and find in-depth, biochemical analyses of the active ingredients of of all the supplements that are available. All of them. So if you wanted to set up an Al doctor kind of a thing, an Al curandero curandero is somebody, in in South America and Central America as well, and even up into The US here.

But it's somebody, usually an old man, who has suffered and cured himself. Right? Curandaro. They're also called brujo, which means witch, but it's a warlock or a male witch. It's not really that, that applicable.

It's much more you don't really I wouldn't wanna get involved with a brujo in any case. But a currendero is somebody who's cured themselves. Right? So they have something to offer you. I'm one of those.

So I've cured cured myself, and in that sense, I'm an expert on recovering from cancer, and getting fit again and stuff. And I'm I'm close to reaching some of my fitness goals. You know, I'm starting to feel good again and and, getting into fighting trim and, you know, not hesitant to go on up and and engage because I don't worry about my physical form, having been weakened by the cancer because I've overcome all of that. It's taken me a number of years, but it's been quite gratifying. This will be the nature of your medical experience in the in this interim ten years.

You've abandoned these fuckers and the white coats in the clinics, who just wanna jab you with big pharma shit and make you more ill longer so they can milk you for money. So then you you gotta ask yourself, what you gotta do? Well, now you should be able to start locating people that are curanderos but have some level of acumen and, like myself, can can take a particular supplement or something and run it through all of the various different databases to see what everybody knows about its biochemical reaction at very deep levels. And after a while doing this, you get a real good idea of, you know, what's gonna become a good combination, what's gonna be, combining into something that's, more powerful than either of the elements that or any of the elements that you're taking individually. This is this, as as I say, is where we're headed.

Now we also have AI to use with this. And to a certain extent, everybody's gonna end up having to be sort of self dosing. Right? Curanderos don't do they don't usually even do a physical exam, so to speak. And, you know, they usually are waiting for you to donate something to them after the thing when you survive or, you know, you get better.

Right? So they're not necessarily offer asking for money upfront other than for perhaps the herbs or whatever. The datasets from 02/2002 had The United States turning a % around, going into organic farming at an extremely serious level, you know, growing all different kinds of, medicinal plants in very pristine conditions for maximum effect, and then drilling down on these in terms of, you know, how to combine them, how to make them more potent as they grow, this sort of thing, and new sources. This is one of the reasons I wanted to set up this, seaweed farm on, on this property I've got in Hood Canal. There's no house there.

You can't get or can't get there because of the legal shit with the road, but, you know, if we had a floating vehicle, hey. It solves everything. Right? So anyway, what I wanted to say here was that you need to start casting a wider net for health because our current health system with all these clinic dudes that are slaves of big pharma is falling apart. And that that'll be one of the larger outfalls, larger, shedding, this year is that we're gonna and it'll start in the language.

Already has started. But we'll start seeing a, elevation of people who know what they're doing because they can demonstrate they survived, and they're doing okay. Right? And so they can say you're gonna have some confidence when they say, well, if you take this herb for maybe this long with this other stuff, you know, this is very likely to affect you if you've got the same shit that I had. And that's the deal is.

Right? They're not gonna be able to, so I would never try and advise a woman on any menstrual issues. Right? But if you wanna know about cancer, hey, I've had that shit three times. And, you know, I know some things about it.

So so this is what you're gonna what you're gonna have to get is the crazy old farts that are actually expert in some things. Right? Our, our medical system is crumbling now. It's good because it's a death system and an enslavement system, and we're gonna go to these other other directions. So if someone were, like, in the Al business, hey, There's a huge potential for money there is to get an Al that really understands, or that that has, is trained on all of the biochemical databases in in the studies and can put this stuff together without making mistakes.

Al is prone to that because of the nature of these weighted indices. But I'm working with, a couple of companies here, and we're gonna try another approach. We'll see if that that, aids by giving us a better Al. Anyway, guys, a little bit long today, but, the the point is to find your local curandero and see what they know, because they obviously know a whole hell of a lot more than the physicians. Right?

The the guys in the white coats. I I don't see many doctors, you know, licensed medical practitioners that are all that healthy. Some of them are in pretty bad shape. Anyway, guys, later.

12 Hello humans, hello humans. February 6, 526 a.m. running a little late today because of the heavy snow we had that stuff falling off the roof all night and it's not a difficult sleep. Then I had a late night phone call and an early morning one talking to some Al guys early this morning. They're starting to get it. They've had some, they've taken some of my suggestions and applied them it doesn't involve changing code. I won't go into the details but it has to do with how to appropriately wait indices in the process of training your Al. Anyway, so they're having some success so they're very much encouraged and so we've taken it to the next step and I didn't realize how difficult it would be to get the concept across but so it took a number of hours but they've got it now and so they're on to phase two there. A couple of other things here real quick. I'm in the process of crafting and finishing a novel and I should have it out in a couple of months. I'll put it on Amazon and I've got my own plans for it from that point forward but it is somewhat unique novel because I'm writing it now set in 2030 and it's going to throughout the book it's going to have scattered bits of information about what will be occurring at that time. So in that sense it's a different kind of an approach. Anyway, what I wanted to talk about today was this thing that I had labeled in 2002. I had labeled this time we're in now as secrets revealed and secrets revealed is quite obvious. I mean USAID and all of this other stuff right the UN all of the horrors of what's been done to us by our own money and you know Bill Gates and Clinton and all these ditties and all of this kind of shit right secrets revealed. Secrets revealed in the data is a big deal okay giant it went on for years I kept getting that from 2002 until today I mean you still get the secrets revealed sets being populated but and they had a huge growth and became just giant dominating set okay. There's two others in there that are almost as dominating but this really has the secrets revealed really has the edge on everything else. This period was described as going on for an intense period of about 10 years. Within that 10 years the first two years would be the most huge dump and within the first two years the first six months of this is going to be the biggest dump of data the biggest shock okay let's just put it that way the biggest shock value will be within the first six months of this secrets revealed but that shock value will not wane much but it will come down a little bit as people become acclimatized to the idea of all of this stuff that's been hidden from them and then that'll continue for another 18 months or more and then it'll it'll take another step down in terms of shock value and it'll go on for another decade that kind of a deal right and then a hundred years from now ACAD Domitions will come on in and be rooting around in all of the history from this time to get out details that will have not yet been revealed because they're it's so deep and so complex and so you'll get those minds you know you're some now that want to write a book about you know basically who was fucking who with whose money and so that'll that's all coming out there you know bear in mind this is incredible guys it's not yet been a month and look what's what's occurred right so everything's changed everything's crumbling this is the way that change happens it happens suddenly rapidly and irrevocably so we can't go back right nobody's going back to the way that the Democrats used to run things that sort of thing Democrats are gonna be screwing off hiding and getting arrested and all of this sort of shit and it's all gonna blow up now here are some things to bear in mind for your immediate future so I have a bulge in the data for February 26 onward we're on a steeply inclined hill as you might know all the emotional tension that's coming out all this building tension we're getting daily releases but the overall trend is still upward in this like hill we're climbing a fairly steep hill if we were to imagine it it is a hill that is steep enough that you get a feeling in your thighs in the first couple of minutes and by the time you're halfway up the hill or even a quarter of the way up the hill you're gonna lungs or you'll be laboring because of the steep altitude you're climbing and your feet will be at an angle that you'll notice relative to the where your legs are in terms of you know the angle of the foot when it's hitting the ground so this steep thing goes on for a while we hit a bump in that another rise in that on the 26th of this month so 20 days from now and that appeared to be financial so everything in February appeared to be financial as we were talking about in October and last September and last June that sort of thing everything in the February period was hinging on something financial we didn't know if it's gonna be a crash or what right now we know all right it's USAID and UN and all of the fuckery going on in the government to kill the population to kill kill the humans and enslave them okay so on the 26th is the beginning of this bump that bump in and of itself would be like a like a road bumper is another small hill you would have to climb over this thing is so steep that if you were to imagine it on your hillside you'd have to get down on your hands and knees to go up over this bump it's it's just that that steep of an angle you wouldn't be able to do it walking up and upright and then after we get over that which it lasts maybe a month okay so it fades off a little bit the emotions drop down some and maybe we're talking about mid-March or a little bit later and then we go off on that same angle that we're on before we hit this bump continuing on up into June all right and that's really about as far as I trust the projections it looks like it continues further but I don't have enough supporting data to make any real good conclusions about that so just we'll just say up until about mid June anyway so from February 26th on we're gonna get an interesting effect the USAID money supplies all the money supplies that they're shutting down now will take a little tiny bit of time to ripple through the system but not that not that long they're drying up all of the funds that are going to the to the invaders and they're going to the criminals that brought the invaders here and they're going to the child predators the traffickers all of this kind of shit so all of those people are going to be without money in a short period of time well I think it'll probably start showing up around February 26th and here's what's going to happen we're gonna have a a delayed effect that's going to hit these two disparate groups slightly different on timing and then but the effect is going to be the same it's going to cause real panic and it's going to cause action okay so you can imagine that the invaders are going to be the right now they're supported they've got the credit cards they can get money they cause problems their idiots they take orders and they go cause other problems on orders but they're causing problems on their own just because they're they're stupid and they're stujous right they're just wandering around without direction all right so as this goes forward here on the 26th I'm expecting that these guys won't have their credit cards being refilled and so they'll they're debit cards and so they'll start becoming desperate for money because they won't be able to buy anything that they are able to do so now and that's going to affect their behavior they're going to start trying to get money to survive and then they're going to start finding out that the environment is wildly changed around them bear in mind many of these people are not following the media as intently as you are and many of them do not speak English so they're not going to pick up on the nuance even if they are in any event so my next expectation is that sometime after the 26 we're going to start seeing these invaders become active and it will be motivated by a growing sense of panic as they start feeling the walls close around them because the people that they are dependent upon all of the NGOs all of the sycophants all of the sociopaths and all of the ultimately all the psychopaths will abandon them they'll just just drop communicating with them they won't they won't be any more orders issued the bank cards won't be filled etc etc because these people now have their own problems as they've been identified as being the money conduit to own this illegal activity and so they're going to start panicking and they're going to try and do everything they can to distance themselves from this growing problem and thus we're going to see action in my opinion we're going to see a much greater propensity towards action from irrational stressed and panicked individuals that will begin on or around the 26th as the and I'm thinking now it will be because their funds will start really drying up by that time it'll take a little bit of time for them to use up the money they've got but once the spigot shuts down they're basically on paycheck to paycheck as it is they have no resources in this country so it's going to be quite desperate for them so I'm suggesting that you know near the end of this month everybody be very very very wary especially if you're in crowds because you're not going to be able to predict who's the panicky son of a bitch who's just going to lash out in a near irrational action simply because of the pressures that are applying to them now there's also going to extend over to Democrats and all of the the stujas that they employ I'm expecting that around that time also they won't have money coming on in all of a sudden their luxurious lifestyles will go away and then there will be the threat that the greater social order is coming back at them to retrieve all of the money that they have stolen illegally right that was given to them illegally and so this could cause them a great deal of panic as well so basically from the 26th of February onward for at least another month we're going to have a very active period of time with a lot of irrationality especially in the form of like insane actions because you won't be able to understand why these people are doing it it'll look really bizarre and insane and dangerous actions so just everybody start you know watching your watching your six look behind you see who's around you you know pay attention to yourself in crowds and all of that sort of thing because it's going to get really really wonky and a lot of these people will be extremely agitated and unpredictable and so basically that's what we're coming into is a part of the secrets revealed which will go on for a long time and ultimately will and not even ultimately this year will lead to the revelation of this zero point technology being suppressed on a mass level interaction with space aliens all of this kind of shit all that's coming out expect a lot of that to be dumped on us about in the June period of time and I'm very anticipatory of that looking forward to it so I'm trying to get my novel done so that I can you know pay attention and get my popcorn ready for that period but anyway guys stay safe it's going to be a key period of time to make sure that you endeavor to survive 2025

February 7 S

Hello, humans. Hello, humans. It's Friday, February 7, 7:06 AM. It's dark. We've got a cloud cover.

Maybe we'll get some more snow. It's 31 degrees here. So I wanted to take a few minutes today, to discuss the secrets revealed part that relates to the zero point technology and space aliens and all of that. That had always been, indicated to come out some ways into the secrets revealed, period. Now we know it's likely to come out relative to the funding and how all that's been abused, and, you know, we've been paying trillions of dollars a year for that all went into these black projects in order to build out this, breakaway civilization.

So basically, The USA taxpayers own that technology, zero point technology, and it'll free the planet. Right? Everybody will be able to cook their food without having to cut down forests or go grub for grasses, that kind of thing. Right? You'll have energy to, create whatever vision kind of thing you have for your life, I mean.

So, the whole of the secrets revealed period is very, very exciting because it's a fundamental change for humanity. We're gonna get we're basically gonna lift up, half of the planet out of three generations here. But each generation will live longer and better as we go forward because of the rollout of this technology and the removal of the, corruption part that's, kept us all down, for all of my life. But for, you know, eighty plus years that they've been running this scam of securing all of this kind of information into these vaults and not letting you have it and then paying vast quantities of money to ridicule it and make everybody think that conspiracy theorists are wackadoodles and so on. You know, it's all a designed plan.

And it's all gonna fall away as we get into this period. I'm of the opinion, because of the way that the data laid out over these decades, that we're gonna get, into the serious revelations about UFOs and ZeroPoint Tech probably sometime, as we get into June. From there on, we go a little bit of time, so maybe sixty, eighty days after it starts coming out, then we get a big flood of information about it. Zero point technology, and which ancillarily brings in the space aliens, right? And at that point, so so maybe it'll be August, maybe it'll be early September, and we'll all start watching the water.

And we'll start watching the oceans, and we'll have people that will dedicate themselves to, sussing out, because they'll be quite fascinated, all of the activity, under the surface of, the world's oceans. And it'll turn out that there's a vast quantity of such activity, much of which we won't have a clue as to what is going on or why. Nor, because of the sheer scale of what's involved, are we in a position to interfere with it, to stop it if we want it. We'd have to take, like, extreme measures, and even then, they may not be successful. We're talking about the discovery of, animation, motion.

We don't know if it's life. We don't know if it's, automated, but it'll be massive. So so it would be like the the concept of discovering that, Mount Rainier here in Washington state, was moving on its own, for its own purpose. And, there's nothing you can do except get out of the way. Right?

That kind of thing just because it's so huge. Anyway, there will be, vast quantities of speculation about point, the point, and the purpose of it all, probably all of which is gonna be wrong. Governments are gonna be, in a tizzy about this kind of stuff. It'll actually, this this leaking out of this information into a more general, population, is gonna prompt, officialdom to start having, like, formal discussions among themselves about it. Right?

But that the discussions will have been going on at a more practical level for a long time before the formal discussions get get moving. But it's gonna be very exciting. From like I said, maybe we we we'll start getting into the zero point technology stuff, I think, in June, maybe early June, and then, we'll get into some of this serious watch the water alien stuff, August and September. Now at that point, we're gonna be also, having some breakthroughs with our understanding of what our actual history is as well as, potential for new kinds of, technology, that will emerge from this understanding of our history as and combined with, the stuff in the secret black projects. Because it's all been so compartmentalized, it's really not as efficient as it could have been because there are ideas that these, black project guys could have used had they known that these ideas existed.

And so because of the, the walls between all the projects, we end up with a situation where they're missing a whole lot of, what they could have actually, discovered had they had a slightly different paradigm. And that's where we're we're moving into, in my opinion, is that our our fundamental scientific paradigm is going to be changing. It is changing now. It's been ongoing for, a number of years, maybe for at least five years actively, and then really started ramping up as COVID came in and all of the bullshit started coming out. You know, trust the science, that kinda horseshit.

So, we're getting into this period where the paradigm is gonna shift as and on it, the entire structure of our, our physics, you know, which is all bogus and all of this kind of stuff. It'll be shown to be as corrupt as all of the politics and the NGOs and and all of the other machinations that have been moving the social order. And so it'll be discovered that Einstein and all of the all of his ilk, all of the pharisean led, physics, was there to obscure. It was not there to be a real physics. It was just there as a, something to be discovered in and lead you off into a dead end.

And that's gonna break out this summer. It's gonna be really cool in my opinion, but it's gonna be, shattering both to the school systems, the way we teach people, and our understanding of ourselves, within a scientific paradigm. So it's gonna be a rough year that way, and I expect a lot more of the institutions to crumble as this goes forward. So the school system will be in upheaval this summer based on the information that's going to be, coming out about stuff that parts of our government have known for decades. And, how are the schools gonna react, right, when they discover that, oh, you know, the physics you're teaching is bullshit, that Einstein was, you know, he was a a falky.

He was another falky. So anyway, anyway, I gotta get moving. I gotta a lot of work to do, and another call coming in pretty soon. So take care, guys, and it's gonna be one hell of a year. Endeavor to survive 2025.

February 8th 2025 🔗

Hello humans, hello humans. It's February 8th, 522 in the morning here on the Pacific coast. It's not that cold, it's 35, the snows melting. We had chemtrails yesterday. Lots of them. Heavy jet for, it was heavy because it was low just on the other side of the clouds. Maybe only like 2,000 feet up or something. Who knows? Very low.

Anyway, so I had been irritated into having this particular set of thoughts. Then I went and set up some stuff and ran some things on the data. You have to understand that I'm not using my usual process. There's a lot of stuff that is potentially wonky and potentially wrong.

The only way to find out if it's actually functioning is to wait until the time passes and see if it manifests. I'm having to do this because of hardware failure and I don't want to invest in new hardware for this ancient code. This code is from the 90s. Anyway, so I've converted a lot of the algorithms over to Al and then used Al to write a bunch of code to try and make this thing work involving the Al. You have to understand that Al does not have what programmers call accumulators. It has no persistent cache. It doesn't have memory per se the way that many computer programs do. It works off of collapsing a weighted indices profile potential at some point based on an algorithm. It doesn't really, it can't add. That's what I need to have happen here is adding up all kinds of aspect numbers around language. Anyway, I was trying to get at whether or not we have this particular rising tension continuing after June or does it fade off.

I have been able to determine even absent effective accumulators, which I think I've sort of solved. I've got a way of getting the AI to spit it out as it goes along and not worry about adding it up. Then I just run separate programs that are dedicated brute force counters.

That's all. Anyway, so it would suggest if the data is accurate and the AI hasn't made a mistake along the way, which it does so many times, that I'm going to have to go back and concentrate and check everything. Get a sample.

But if there are no major mistakes, then it appears that the building tension ramp we're on now with all of these releases and all of the secrets revealed and all of the emotional turmoil and that kind of stuff will continue at a lower level through to June. Then sometime between June and, let's say, the end of August, in that period of time, about 78 days somewhere in there, we're going to reach this confluence of events. It's not really a confluence of events so much as a confluence of event streams. We'll have a mixture of the building tension caused by these different forces. Each level of the building tension or each one of these forces will cause a different aspect of building tension to originate. So basically, it's going to be a very event filled and emotion filled summer.

And that this summer will really pick up and go on its own with this confluence of things sometime in those 78 days between June and the end of August. The confluence is going to be from a number of forces. It's going to be from the efforts that are ongoing in government now, which will have accelerated and be very, very large in terms of their impact on the social order in June and through summer.

Okay, and there's going to be big bulges of government activity or inactivity, I guess, if we're going to be saying we're going to be destroying the money laundering and all of the theft and all of that.

Anyways, so there's also going to be a general freak out by the globalists and they'll be doing everything they can from a very weakened position, but they'll still be irritants. And we'll have to deal with those guys. And they're going to come in there as well. Then we have various different aspects of the die off from the COVID and its impact on us, right? Because we'll really be getting into that this summer. It's going to bring up all kinds of emotions. Lots of people are going to get reinforced in hatred for the Fauky fuckers, that kind of thing, right? Then we're going to have the generalized populace, which apparently is going to have a very optimistic mood in the US and that's going to spread to lots of other countries. It's going to really piss off and distort the mental processes of the globalists, right? So Israel, the data would suggest they're going to be in a huge funk.

I mean, they just can't stand it because of all the bad shit that's coming out about them, etc, etc, that sort of thing, right? We're also going to have this third force, okay? These breakaway civilization guys. They're apparently going to be very, very pressured because all the black project funding will have shut off sometime in March, it looks like. So apparently they're going to dig in the doge guys, they're going to dig into the, I like calling them doggies. The doggies are going to dig into the DoD and start shutting off spigots there sometime in March, probably close to the end of March.

And shutting off these spigots is going to really pressure a lot of these corporations that are involved in shit they cannot and have not been able to bring out into the open. So it's going to really put the screws to them. There's also going to be this aspect of the confluence of these event streams that's going to involve aliens. Now I don't have any data sets about how the aliens think or how they're going to be feeling or anything like that, but what I do have is data sets that suggest the interaction or the actions of the humans that are dealing with what we'll call is like our alien problem. Because there's a lot of big aspects around it. And there's probably divergent interests within that, but it's a generalized problem, so we can just call it that way. So we're going to have the corporations, which will be this third force, not government, not the people off on their own.

And they're also not the Pharisees, they're not the Elohim worship cult. They're not the organized, rabbinnically controlled Jews, right? There may be some of those in there I suspect that corporations are heavily infiltrated, but they're not controlled by that. A lot of the corporation stuff apparently is this third force part, these ones that are working with the zero point technology that's hidden and stuff. A lot of them are going to be disrupted along with the money flow, but they'll be disrupted when the Epstein list comes out and their board of directors kind of guys are all wiped out, going to hide all of that sort of stuff. They become very ineffective at that level.

And so the data would suggest that sometime in April or so the corporations will be emerging as a new, slightly cleaner third force, right? They'll be on their own, they'll be working on this stuff, they're going to be acting on their own, but not in control of all of these old pitos that had been running them up to this point. We also get the, as part of the aliens, there's this interesting set. Okay, so as I had said yesterday, a lot of the alien stuff over the summer is going to come down into the, under the ocean, right? Under the surface of the water. And so we'll now be focusing not only on the air where these things are transiting, but whatever the hell is going on under the waves. And so there's this thing showing up about an island, there's some sort of, going to be some sort of a meeting, not like financial, not like Jekyll Island, but they choose an island.

Because of the proximity to wherever these, this alien group is, maybe the aliens choose it, I don't know, but there's going to be some kind of quasi formal meeting. The data would suggest we find out about it after the fact, not ahead of the fact, right? Not ahead of the meeting, but that it's a somewhat substantial meeting and it itself may serve as one of these temporal markers on the way into sci-fi world, right?

So this would be like a power meeting, not necessarily people you would recognize out of any of the governments, not one government alone, much more of a disparate and grumbling, but semi-united front being presented to whoever is on the other side of the table. But this is suggesting that the island situation will arise this summer. Maybe it'll just be planned this summer. There's nothing in the data to suggest that we get any information out of it other than we find out about the thing after the fact.

So this will also have a, there's all kinds of really interesting language around this, some of which is very suggestive of individual discrete event streams popping up. And there's also a lot of froth or disruptions and this kind of thing because a lot of these event streams are disparate. They don't have a common goal or any of that kind of stuff. So it's going to be quite the interesting summer and it should provide us with a lot of knowledge between, sometime in that point of those 78 days from the end of June.

And it should go out, that part of it should go out fairly smoothly because the data is showing that there's a very large reaction among the populace, that all of the people around the planet suddenly start having a very large reaction among the populace. That all of the people around the planet suddenly start having new views about things because of what comes out in that period of time.

And it's not going to be like, you know, NASA faked this or something like that. This could be truly shocking stuff. This has been going on a little long and I've got to wrap it up. But one thing I wanted to say was that I'm figuring that probably from maybe the middle of May, something like that, through the end of this summer, this could be a rough time for the woo guys. Because so many of those people that have been following LARPERS and GRIFTERS will come to a real abrupt end in their relationship with these people that they follow. So I'm expecting a lot of the woo guys to simply fold up their tents and run away during this period of time for a lot of different reasons. But basically because it'll be shown that their stuff is horseshit and the reality is not as these people have been portraying it.

So it's going to be a big crash in that aspect of things. There will have been a big uptick in a lot of the attention being paid to woo-woo guys, including all of the nut jobs, the LARPERS, the grifters, the people that are limited to the planet. The people that are living in their heads as, you know, fantasies and so on. There will be a big uptick in them of attention being paid to them from the end of March through April and into May. And then we get into this period where the whatever kind of a contact situation is going to emerge. And then we also get the corporations coming out and a lot of the horseshit falls away. And so that's also going to drop everybody's interest in listening to these people.

Many of us in the woo business are quite annoying. So I can see why there'd be a propensity to not follow us anyway, right? Especially when you find out that the information is 100% bullshit. So it's a good thing for me. I think all of the Corey Good crap is going to fade. Those guys will be dealing with their own real serious legal issues in April. And a lot of that whole, all of the people that spun off of the Gaia TV, you know, all of the books and so on, will be in a world of hurt because their audiences will just be fading like that.

Because there will be real stuff to pay attention to that will just be apparently quite riveting for all of us and it'll emerge over this summer. And it's going to cause some real problems for official them in many different ways. I can't get into that now. I'd have to talk for an hour or more about the hints that are coming out of this. But I'll keep pursuing this as I can. If I hadn't been irritated into a particular thought, I wouldn't have done this last night. But I'll keep this thread going as I can. I'm trying to get the novel done. I've got a lot of work on the house and stuff. So I'm not going to put a lot of attention to it. But I think I've got a way of letting AI manage some of these other interim processes that can be run on standalone brute force code. And so I'll just see how it goes. I'm having a little bit of fun messing with it.

Sorry, it was so long this time, guys, but it's going to be a really intense summer. And I suspect that all of the stuff that had been forecast for decades to come out in a riot period will have riots associated with it. And it probably won't be food riots other than there may be some nominal aspect of food brought into it. I think it'll be one of the last gasps of the Pharisees, of the Elohim worship cult, the World Economic Forum, the Democrat Communist.

I think they're going to basically expend their last bit of cohesive energy, and that should happen around August 15th through the 20th sometime in there. And it'll be a stupid thing, the approach they're taking, because it's doomed, but I think they're doing it in order to cover up something, to allow someone to flee or some damn thing. Anyway, we'll find out. It's going to be an interesting summer. Sorry for the length.

February 9 2025 *****

Hello, humans. Hello, humans. February 9, '8 '20 '6 AM. Late for this one. Cold.

Still 33 degrees out there. Everything's melting in terms of the snow, but it's still cold. So today I wanted to talk about this idea. It's called pee waves. No.

It's not bunches of dogs on the beach having to pee. It's, waves of energy coming in from galactic center. And I'm labeling them as pee or psychic psi waves, but they may just be simply energetic waves, and our response to them is to become more psychic. But that's the end result. The reason I'm doing this is because of, a series of events that have happened to me personally over these last few days, going into, early last week and then culminating or so far, reaching, a little peak yesterday with a rather bizarre, psychic incident.

Okay. And these are not just like regular psychic incidents where you might, you know, might get an impression that someone's gonna come to the door and then they come in there. It's a little bit more much more detailed. Much more detailed, much more involved. Many people involved.

It's very much like, Kurt Vonnegut's idea of a karass, a meaningful association of souls that are not necessarily aware that they're connected to all these other people. In my case, I'm becoming aware that these things, are happening. Okay? So universe obviously wants that. I think that may may be an outgrowth of these p waves coming in, these psi waves.

I don't know. We do have more energy. The data had forecast way back in, like, 02/2005 or '6, somewhere in there, started picking it up, that we would get these energetic waves, coming in, the strange energies from space, and that they would have a definite impact on humans. There were lots of psychic associations, but it wasn't at that time able to be determined that this the psychicness was, directly related to these energies. I believe that to be the case now, having experienced it myself.

In addition to the psychic aspect of this, the ability to connect with another person in in a, shockingly meaningful fashion in terms of, information that's conveyed and how it all comes out timing wise and all of that. It's just like it really shocks you when you discover you're in the middle of one of these things happening. There's nothing you can do about it. You don't know how to interpret it necessarily, but it is quite clear that there is something going on here. Another aspect of this is that, if you're psychic enough and and attuned to yourself enough, you start picking up on, the universe, the ontology, the supreme consciousness, seeking the the limits of its own existence.

You start picking up on the ontology talking to you. Right? Very specifically sending messages to you, like, sort of messages that are that are quite clear, like, go here. You know, that kind of stuff. Right?

Sit down. Duck. That kind of thing. You know, it's not messing around. Yeah.

Many of these, connections and psychic impressions can be, disputed, interpreted, etcetera. But at this level, no. You may not understand the nature of what's going on or the grander purpose of it all, but you realize you're caught up in it. You're in a karass that Kurt Vonnegut called it, a meaningful collection of souls. Okay?

It's meaningful to universe, but not necessarily known to or meaningful to us. But when we discover it, it's like a big shocking thing smacking you right in the face. Okay? So this has happened to me over the past couple of weeks. I won't go into the details.

It's too bizarre to even try and describe because of all these temporal aspects. You know, the time that it happens to another person in the same time that it's happening to you and what you're doing, etcetera, etcetera. Right? It's all intertied there. I'm not gonna get into the details of that.

But I got up at 02:15 this morning after a very late night phone call, so I'm all, you know, gritty eyed trying to to think and stuff. But at 02:15, I was awake, so I figured, okay. I'm gonna come on out and just deal with the data, see if there is something there. That's why this, little little talk here is late. It's because I just let it run.

Dogs and I went down to the beach ahead of the tourists. We went around and, did our little chores here this morning and came back, and the data indeed had, processed to the point where I could get some meaningful connections out of it, cross links. These are the, tertiary layer of cross links are very, very meaningful. That's a huge volume of processing. We only are into this secondary layer.

And these are extremely meaningful, but you just don't have a whole lot of them. But what we do have is clearly showing that the ramping up of the strange energies from space is upon us now and is part of this year and part of our transformation, part of the boost in the sci fi world and the change of the paradigm out of the grit into the ontology. All of this stuff is all interconnected. So, so it's happening now. It's happened to me.

I have demonstrable evidence that's been, validated by other people who also had this weird spooky shit happen to them, simultaneously to it happening to me, and they participated in it in their own actions. And are, astute enough observers of themselves to realize that they were not in their, let's call it usual headspace or usual frame of reference when this stuff was going on. So, it's quite clear to me that the ontology is speaking. Right? And it's speaking to me and these other individuals.

But I don't think it's limited to that in any way, shape, or form. I think the ontology is speaking or is constantly speaking to all of us, but that these psi waves that are coming on in are, boosting our ability to become aware of it. It's actually, altering, in my opinion, some level of our awareness and perception. It's not changing our consciousness. You can't change that.

Anyway, but our awareness is of what's going on is is rising, and our ability to catch these things as they are occurring is rising, at least with myself and a lot of these woo people with whom I am connected. Okay? Because they are not bound by a gratology, not bound by a paradigm that limits their thinking, and they are, self examining, and they use themselves, as an antennae as an antennae for perception of, incoming information from universe. So I look at the data, and, it it is confirming this. Right?

I do see that we've got these increased waves. These increased waves are are here now, but they're going to really ramp up through March. Okay? So, the extent of this appears it appears that we'll have a, a near term crest in the latter or in the March, okay, in the last few days of March. That'll be like the crest of this particular wave.

It'll break and, and will sort of, relax, so to speak. Right? The level of psychic tension and stuff will will abate a little bit. But these things are being described in the data as, that in a term I'm gonna term it as threshold waves. Alright?

And so I'm fairly sensitive. I keep, you know, a good diet, keep myself in in trim, and I'm aware of my vibration. So I'm very attuned. And so thus, this wave that came in crossed a threshold for me and elevated my awareness and thinking about all of this stuff, all in a big rush, very scary big rush. But but, beyond that, I was able to pick it up.

These other individuals that were also part of this karass, are picking it up. Some don't. They pick up the energies, they react, and they're doing stuff, but they're not aware of what's motivating them or why it's all occurring. Right? But nonetheless, they are participating.

So it's a validation, and also it shows me that the group is, bigger than just myself. Right? Anyway, the data is describing this as this year, next year, and 2027 as being a series of these psi waves breaking over our solar system. So now that we're up to a certain point in our, sinusoidal, motion around the, galactic center around the galactic periphery, We're up high enough to get more energy from galactic center, and the, the data is supporting that idea that we will indeed get, more of these waves and that they will act as, what I'm calling a threshold wave. So each time we get one of these waves in, and there is no real description of curiosity and I always distrust numbers coming out of the datasets here, but some temporal markers lead me to believe that we're looking at these things, basically as like a nine as a ninety day series.

Two months out of that ninety days, sixty days out of that ninety days, it's gonna be the rising wave that then crests. Then the next thirty days will be this, like, little pause, like the little, dip between the the waves cresting on the beach. And then we'll get another one. So every ninety days will be emerged into, one of these new psi waves. This one appears to crest and peak at the March, and then so, presumably, April would be, a slight low, and then we'd get back into it in May, which would peak sometime around the June.

July would be a slight low, and there we go. So I'm expecting that this will be the the way of this particular year. And it would appear from the data description that each of these, cresting psi waves, each of these thresholds being crossed will bring more and more humans into an awareness of this aspect of their particular lives, right, of their connections to other people, of the psychic nature, the of everything that's going on around them and the ontology speaking, to them perhaps, but also in a very broad level to everyone. So it's gonna be a very interesting year. And I think that this is the year that we can just say that, all right, that as these things come in, these cresting threshold psychic waves, that at some point here, we will cross another threshold, which will be the number of people that are aware of this, and that we can actually say that that, at that point, marks the real shift into this new paradigm out of the, gridology and into the ontology.

And, it looks like maybe we would get into that somewhere in this coming fall or winter, that we're gonna go through a lot of these waves. It looks like the one in August, so far in the data, anyway, the one in August and into September is going to bring a, very large, group of humanity. And so it'll be quite, shocking to a lot of normies and all these other people that are not really tuned in to what's going on to discover themselves in the midst of this. So it's sort of like, be prepared for everybody being a little bit mentally unstable in and of themselves, you know, uncomfortable in their skin, in, in this coming fall as we get into September. At that point, I don't know how we're going to help these people integrate what's going on because they live in a world where this stuff should not exist.

And now they're discovering that it does exist, so that means they've gotta change their paradigm. So, anyway, so this is apparently the year for it. I'll do these, little reports on it as we get more info. I'm gonna run the data today. Maybe I'll get I've gotta try and dig down into the tertiary layer to see what I can get in the way of cross links there.

And maybe I'll have some more tomorrow on it. But that's long processing, so it may be Tuesday or Wednesday. It just depends. Anyway, guys, take care. And, you know, if you feel some psychic shit or if the universe tells you to duck, duck.

Don't mess around. Talk to you later.

February 10 🔗

Hello, humans. Hello, humans. It's 8:11AM at, on February 10. Gonna hurry to get this done. And in a minute, the dogs are gonna go crazy barking because we're gonna have, some humans here to haul off a lot of tree debris.

Anyway, so I've got, I'm I'm running my processes. I'm having the algorithms run against the data. I'm using AI, so it's a little bit wonky. It's not like my usual system. It works, but there's parts of it that are actually slower than brute force because you have to spool off all of the things that need to be, summed and averaged.

Al doesn't have accumulators you can trust. It can't add worth a damn. Anyway though, so, I'm into the very beginning of the tertiary cross links, the third layer down. And, this is where I start coming into temporally meaningful associations. And it breaks out into, immediacy data, which is from like right now, but usually about three days out, all the way out to the end of the third week.

And then there's, the intermediate datasets from the third week out to the nineteenth month, in general. And then, from that point on, we have, longer data datasets. Those, cross links are the ones at the very end of the processing, just the way it's organized here. In any event though, the immediacy data is yielding a focus I had not been able to see without the cross links by associating these different sets around this February 26 emotional bump, this, step upward in building tension. It appears that what we've got, coming out is, contention on a financial level and contention on political levels, which we already have, and then then contention on a street level kind of thing.

Right? The street level stuff doesn't seem very well organized. It comes out as very much a melee, where they start off with something, so it'd be like, you know, they got tried to get some kind of BLM thing going and just a few people showed up. Right? That sort of thing.

And that these few people start marauding around, and, there's a police response, and then these these few people decide they're gonna fight. Right? And so it becomes something of, on their part, they don't have any organization or command, and so that becomes, you know, every person for themselves fighting against the organization of the cops. That sort of a deal. So there's that level of street contention going on.

It doesn't appear to be, extremely large or overwhelming or ubiquitous. It doesn't even appear to be it's spotty. It shows up as spotty in the datasets. The other part of this, though, that's interesting is this financial contention. And so it looks like from the twenty sixth onward, there's the a, alright.

So one way to look at it would be that people who had minions in place in government, start ordering minions to destroy data and, literally take action, you know, bashing computers or or shooting hard drives or whatever the hell. But they order them to destroy data, which is kinda stupid because of the backup situation. But in any event, this would be one way to interpret this, that there is a deliberate attempt to, obscure the, ever widening and ever deepening search into all of the corruption. Right? It's flowing out anyway at that point, so this is a retreating action, I'm quite sure.

They're attempting to protect their core people or something, trying to protect some level of association with this, which is not in any way revealed by the data. It just says that in the twenty sixth, we start getting into this financial contention that's gonna spill over, into the general populace in the sense of affecting, financial instruments. Alright? So so the, the word instruments is key here because it's in a set that goes to securities, bonds, paper, documents, you know, as in terms of bonds, actual printed out kind of things, as well as paper in the form of, physical currency as opposed to digital currency. So the instrument aspect of this comes in really key.

And a lot of these, instrument sets go off into all manner of contracts. So apparently or one way to interpret this set would be that the contention that arises financially, and maybe in involving this, retreating action of destroying the data, is going to affect a large number of international contracts to the point that, international court systems dealing with corporate contractual obligations are basically shut down because their source of validity of proof of things turns out to be wholly corrupt. So in other words, you could think of it this way. There's a big lawsuit, two corporations, or a bunch of people suing a corporation, something like that, and it comes down to hinging on a contract, right? And, and then in the in the process of this, financial contention, it comes out that the corporation deliberately altered the contract, as a forgery after the fact in order to cover their ass.

That kind of thing is is going to be exposed. Maybe that's what they're trying to cover up. The two are not that closely connected, and I don't have any, extending cross links to, suggest that that's going to continue onward or anything. It appears to be just a brief burst. It goes from, February 26 and seems to go almost two weeks, so, into the March.

And then it is resolved in some way. The court system is still fucked. The court system internationally and even nationally, and all over around the planet, the courts that are dealing with any kind of contractual obligations with corporations, and especially with corporations and government, just grind to a halt. And there's, you know, judges that have nothing to do. The whole system is shut down.

The clerks are sitting around just sitting there, right, because they can't process anything. They can't their whole procedure thing is just shut down. How much of the court system globally, this happens to, I can't say. But, it's significant enough that it should rise to general awareness, and people should be discussing it in many different ways, because I think maybe this is a trigger to go back to something, back to something like common law. Hang on a second.

My guys are here. So well, that's the end of this one. The humans are here and the doggos know. So so, anyway, so it looks like we'll be getting into the legal stuff as well as the financial stuff, after the twenty sixth, and it should go on for a couple of weeks. If you're involved in weak legal matters in that period of time, you may find that there's absolutely no progress, and some of the stuff is derailed.

Just to let you know. Sorry about the doggos.

February 11 🔗

Hello, humans. Hello, humans. February 11, 04:37AM. Cold as hell out there. 25.9 degrees.

I had to bring in the hummingbird food to defrost it. It. Can't have them try and suck off of ice. Anyway, so I wanted to talk about, 20%. Okay?

In the data that I've got now, we're still building cross links, but the way I've got it, set up, the AI spools off, files. I mean, it saves the stuff for me intermittently, and I can get at it while it's still processing. So anyway, it looks like about, there's a bulge. Okay? So we're coming up into a period of time here.

This is again centered around February 26 or later. So it might be a few days after that before we start seeing some of the non financial effects of this period. But we're gonna get into this, contention that will arise from all of the invaders and the NGOs and all these people being cut off for money. Right? And that'll, maybe it'll take sixty days on, more well heeled ones.

And those that have a big, stash of cash aren't really gonna sweat that part of it, but they're gonna be very, very, concerned because all of a sudden their, their income stream will be shut down, and so they know that they're being targeted, or at least are being picked up ancillary ancillary on a, a target of the, efficiency guys, right? So anyway, there's a lot of, there's a set that is defined by, 20%. So it's basically representing 20% of the, subsets. So, you could apply it and say, like, you know, 20% of the financial system would do this, that sort of thing. Right?

We rarely get get numbers, but this is reinforced not only by 20%, but onefive and other pointers to that fraction. So it seems fairly, fairly reliable. And this, set is split. It's showing that there's about 20% of the population that will fall into this category of being, on the wrong side of history at this point. We're talking about US population.

This is entirely US centered. Doesn't even go up into Canada in that regard. Then there's gonna be another 20%, of the population that we could think of as being really fierce. Okay? That have really gotten, gotten the steam up.

Right? And, they they got a full head of pressure, and the steam is coming out a little bit. So things are gonna get a lot more active, relative to, social change. And, 20 and the the mass of humanity that has been pushed down, by the globalists for all these years, but especially, like, say, the last fifteen or twenty years where they really pushed on all the woke stuff and all of that. Okay.

So that mass of the populace, about 20% of it, was seriously oppressed. We were deplatformed, you know, people came after us, we had stalkers, they took us off of this platform, then that one, they shut down our bank accounts, they did all kinds of nasties to us. That population is, primarily, non vaxxed. These people are, as we can be, as much as we can be in this social order, we're healthy. And so they're gonna have, these, this 20% is gonna, get ahead of steam.

Right? So they're gonna be powered, they're gonna be pressured, and so on. So you'll see a lot of, what, dwindling far left is gonna call, agenda politics coming out because the 20% are gonna be pushing their idea of let's return to this form of a social order. This 20% is gonna show up both, it shows up now both as, cooperating with, but also in contention with, the Trump admin. Right?

Not the Elon Musk Doge kinda thing. Right? They're not in contention with any of the actual activity. They're gonna be in contention with the, apparent, cooperation with Israel and the Elohim worship cult. The reason that this appears to be coming out is that sometime after the February 26, we're gonna get another and part of that big bulge of emotional tension language that's been showing up for, since at least the end of twenty twenty three.

But I spoke about it in 2024, for sure. I mean, it it I got into it in the 2024 period. Right? Anyway, so, after the twenty sixth, we're gonna get this bulge that will hit us on a financial level, but it's also gonna bring out, this contention with, all things Jewish, all things Elohim worship cult, and all things globalist. So there's gonna be it looks like okay, so my interpretation is that there's gonna be some effort on the part of the Trump administration to try and provide a level of nuance.

Right? To separate out the good Jews from the bad Jews, so to speak. That sort of thing. This is gonna cause all kinds of problems, all kinds of contention, at a social level, all the way into the into the society, but also up into what we can think of as the the ruling, cohort of our matrix here. This contention, is gonna spread around a lot.

It's gonna be kinda mixed in with a lot of the other contention. But this contention of the 20% trying to push back for, not a return, but a new vision of what the human society should be. And we're not talking transhumanism or any of that kind of shit. We're not talking about Al coming and eating your liver or taking over your brain or any of this other, fantasy shit that is spewed out by a lot of the fringe woo people, right? And all the LARPers and stuff.

But the 20% here, the contention that's gonna be caused will be visible to us all and will all, to some extent being be forced into or pushed towards making, some kind of a decision. So you'll see probably a lot of, the Democrats suddenly, swapping over to say, Oh, oh, we're all for the Jews. You can't say that. And all this kind of thing. Right?

So they'll try and do anything they can to get into a position of power to retain control as they think. It's not gonna happen. It's gonna be really wonky. We're gonna get into, internal, social disorder more than we are now even though we're gonna be entering or walking into, a broader sense of social order as we correct all these problems. So, from February 26 on, the cross links are pointing to a period of maybe sixty to eighty days.

So, you know, we're reaching into a spring that will, have a tendency to bring up points that will be redefining our social order all through this year, and that will be coming up in a big way as we transit out of fall into winter at the end of this year. So the contention we're gonna go through in this winter that leads into spring, especially relative to, social identity in the sense of, you know, who's claiming to be what, claiming to be part of what cult. Right? And so, so it's gonna be wonky as hell, but this is gonna participate with the financial stuff. And the reason it's coming up is because the it's gonna be the 20% of the criminals, of the population's the criminals are gonna be trying to do things to, combat the 20% that are pushing really hard, for a more, natural and, cohesive approach to things.

So in this period of time, from the twenty sixth on, is when I think big pharma is really good at good at croak. Right? Also, other things in there from the February 26 on, I suspect that we'll start seeing some signs that people within DOGE and all of these kind of guys are talking or are thinking about, a lot of the patents that Reggie Milgerton, had acquired on his, distributed, tech here, right, on his, Veritasium network, all of that sort of stuff. Right? He's really got a superior approach to things.

And I think that at that point is when we start getting the, officialdom looking at it. Whether they're talking to him at that time or not, I have no idea. It just seems that there's gonna be an interest at that level. So big changes are coming. A lot of the stuff you'll see, both the woo woo guys, the far extreme there, the also the, what we can think of as like right wing independents, as well as, fundamental radical Christians, and, Democrats all go in at each other, but also all supporting each other against some other aspect of the, the social order relative to these individual, points here, relative to the individual points of contention.

So the contention is really gonna wrap up. It'll go from February 26 through, March, April, and into May, on this particular theme. I think that maybe by the May, we'll start seeing some level of settling down. The dust will start settling on a lot of the financial stuff. Right?

The financial system is gonna take a big hit. It's gonna be giant because it's gonna be proven that all of these companies that are out there as hedge funds and all of this sort of thing are bogus. They're just all they are really are just, money laundering fronts for, the Elohim worship cult, for, you know, the Jewish organizations globally, and all of this. As they get shut down, a lot of the money returns to the system, so it's somewhat flush for a little bit. But then we start seeing how many of the assets that are claimed to to underpin it all are bogus.

So we're going through a really hard time. Okay? In these eighty days of this contention where the 20% on the top or, you know, the new 20% with power is pushing back on the, old 20% with power, during that period of time is when we're gonna start seeing secrets revealed take a giant leap up. Maybe at the end of that time, we'll get into the Smithsonian. But for sure, in the beginning of that time, we're gonna be getting into how much of the Social Security system is bankrupt, bogus, legit, how much of the money system is is bogus and or legit.

And we'll see attacks on the Federal Reserve System. We'll see people within the Federal Reserve System start walking away from their job because they don't wanna be shot, they don't wanna be killed, they don't wanna be sent to jail. And really, a lot of them will prefer going to jail rather than being out in the general population because people will be so pissed, about all of this. Gotta be fantastically huge, the amount of stuff that's gonna be coming on out, and how many and normies are just gonna their heads are gonna explode. A lot of us will.

It'll just be so staggering. You know, you'll you're gonna have people like, you know, UPS drivers that are just driving along, and all of a sudden a particular thought will strike them, and it'll and it'll just stop. I mean, it'll just be, stunning to them, the you know, to regular normies the, the amount of stuff that'll start coming out. So we have not even touched the secrets revealed yet. We're just getting in and opening up the doors and and looking at the stuff that's spilling out at the moment.

We haven't started rooting around in it at all. And that really appears to take off after the February 26 and go in a very intense rush, for the next eighty days. And so I would suspect from the way the data is saying it that maybe we're gonna, like, say maybe after the twenty sixth, somebody hits the Department of Defense, you know, dojis go there, or maybe they go to the Federal Reserve or something. And then for the next eighty days, they're just spooling out all of the secrets within that organization. Doesn't mean that they're over or anything like that.

It just means that there's just this huge tranche that'll be coming out for that eighty days, that'll take us all almost all the year to, absorb, integrate, and figure out what the fuck we're gonna do, now that we know how bad it is. Right? So so that's that's gonna be the, the sort of the thread of the rest of this winter and into spring. It's like, oh my god. Look how fucked we really are.

So I don't mean to laugh, but, you know, you you have to just to stay sane. Anyway, so take care, guys. Sorry this was a little long. I'm gonna have to shut these down because I've gotta start working on getting a setup for well, I gotta I gotta work on the house here, and then I've also gotta figure out how I'm gonna do, make a soundproof chamber for doing the audio book and stuff. Anyway, so, talk to you later.

February 12 🔗

Hello, humans. Hello, humans. February 12, '6 '14 AM. So today, I wanted to talk about, the Pharisees and, meteors, asteroids. You're gonna see a lot of these brought up soon.

We're seeing them now. We've, had people, encounter them in platforms like TikTok and all of these other sorts. Right? It's gonna become a new meme out there. Oh my god.

Oh my god. The end of the planet is near. We're gonna be hit by asteroids. This is all because the Pharisees need to have fear in order to have control. The Pharisees are a, social order that arose, suddenly and claimed a false heritage in the time of the second temple of the, Judaics, in the Torah.

They took over all of Judaism, and they've controlled it ever since. They focus on the Talmud. Their view is what I call grittology. Okay? They think all of universe is grit, and that everything happens by random chance, that life originated because of some random smacking together of two god particles.

These people are stupid. The Pharisees are really fucking dumb. Jews are not particularly intelligent. Jews simply have the system weighted to, give them a, numeric that they that they claim makes them smarter than everybody else, makes them more intelligent. Right?

They're really stupid, like I say. Okay? There is they all of their they invented a religion. The Pharisees, took over Judaism. We go through time, and then we come out of the Kali Yuga, and we get into what everybody calls the age of enlightenment in the seventeen hundreds.

At that time, the Pharisees brought on a new religion. This religion they called science, and they had a bunch of, high priests, Descartes and all of these other guys that came up with all these weird rules as to how we should, analyze our reality. All of these weird rules go to the idea that there is no consciousness, that if all consciousness died and left, all the grit would still remain. The universe would still exist. This idea is bogus on the on the face of it.

You can dispute this effectively in so many different ways. Right? But they just keep insisting that you're wrong and you can't analyze things with the idea that the Judas, the, the Jews, the Pharisees come up with, at its core, it will always go down to something that they can't explain and they just label. And they label this the observer effect. Doesn't matter if you're talking physics or any other science.

Right? The observer effect comes in when people perform experiments. And it turns out that you can prove in every single fucking experiment ever conducted by a human that the human's consciousness participated in the outcome. And that, and in fact, we know that there is a proof to this because the high priests now of the, Pharisees are the people that are involved in these things they call quantum computers, which is yet another dead end. And no, you don't have anything like a network.

Quantum computers cannot be networked. In fact, most of the money spent on quantum computers, on the machine itself, right, not the software or any of that, but even that participates. But most of the money spent on the machine is in a desperate attempt to isolate the outcome from the local human consciousness. I swear to you, that's the case. Over 90% of the dollars that go into a quantum computer are to try and isolate it from the from the humans that are operating it, from their consciousness, because of this observer effect.

The observer effect disproves all of their science. Every single bit of their science is dependent upon the idea that, random chance. And yet random does not exist in this universe. I know this. I worked with mainframes back in the day.

Then along come, PCs. PCs were were great because they were small enough and portable enough and cheap enough that a guy like me could get hold of them and I could get into it really deeply. If you get into PCs really deeply, you ultimately get down to assembly language or firmware. These are, software routines that are encoded in a hard fashion, so to speak, built into the chips. There's one in, in all computer chips everywhere.

And if you look at it from an assembly language, which is a computer coding language that's just one step up above, writing your computer code in ones and zeros, right? And this assembly language gives you little tiny words in in the in formula into which you can plug variables in the form of numbers. But there's one function in there that is called RND, and it is the attempt after many years, a, constrained attempt to create a random feature in software, and it doesn't happen. You can't have random. Random in digital world is constraint bound.

It can only be within this bound. Right? The number you will get in a random function will will, be within this range. And then if you look at it statistically, the random function will, has patterns and has repetition. So if you were to just run random, tell it, give me a random number and and then take that number and print it on, a screen and then then, put in a carriage return line feed so you advance one more line, then tell it again, give me a random.

And you just have it do this, spit out some supposed random numbers all day and just watch the screen. Your eye will pick out patterns that are emerging in how that that, chip is, providing you with supposedly random numbers because these random numbers do not exist. The observer effect negates the idea of random. The observer effect negates the idea that life is from random chance. The observer effect, puts the lie to the idea that consciousness is not present in everything within this universe.

If all consciousness leaves, there will be no matter. I can quite I can assure you of that. Okay. So here's the thing. The Pharisees have this religion they call science that at its core has no god, and they want you to deny the idea of a supreme consciousness.

Now I deny the idea of a god because god by definition is something that's in here in the material with us, and it all derives from all these encounters with space aliens. The Pharisees are worshipers of these Elohim. Okay? These space aliens aliens that came and abused the Judaics way back in the day, which maybe not all that far back. Right?

Because the Pharisees have fucked with all the history, and they've added in an extra thousand years. Go read, Fomenko's, History Fact or Fiction series, and he proves it, right, factually. We don't know what happened in a lot of these instances, but we know that something happened that they tried to disguise by fucking with the the history and the timeline. Anyway, so, the the meteor and asteroid part of this is because the pharisees believe they want you, under their control because they they believe themselves to be the manager of the herd that is humanity. They harvest this herd for adrenochrome, for money, for sex slaves, all different kinds of things.

Right? The Pharisees are truly wicked and evil, evil motherfuckers and kid fuckers. So, the Pharisees not being good people, they have the all these, hidden agendas. One of the hidden agendas is that they believe that the Elohim are coming back. And this is why we're gonna have all these, Pharisees that are popping up with the idea of, oh my god.

Earth's gonna be hit by this giant asteroid. Okay? They want you in fear of this shit, and they want you in fear of random shit. Okay? So they're gonna say, oh, there's a, you know, a 6.5%, chance that this asteroid's gonna hit Earth.

And that's bogus, that's horseshit. If the asteroid is gonna hit Earth, it will hit Earth, and there's nothing that and no amount of, of anything will change that. And also, if it's not gonna hit Earth, there's no possibility of putting any kind of odds on it because random and odds do not exist in a in a universe that's created by consciousness. So we live in a universe that's created by a supreme consciousness. I call it the ontology because I believe that consciousness is seeking the limits of its own existence by trying to discover if novelty could exist.

I'm not alone in this thinking. This thinking goes back thousands of years. We don't know how many thousands. But it's also been rediscovered continuously through time by people that think on these things. So, there is no random chance the supreme consciousness, creates everything, and thus, everything happens for a reason.

We are not able to discern these reasons, and there's many, many millions of them at any given time. Right? Because all acts participate in the in the, what's called the yoga of karma, in the totality of karma. Right? You have to do a particular thing in a particular morning.

You have to knock over your your coffee cup and have to make a second cup, so you're two minutes late. And then you miss that accident. Okay? That's karma. And it's operating in your favor at that time.

Right? But in order for you to miss that accident, you had to knock over the coffee, get that attitude, and so on and so on. And all of these things participate in this thing that is called the event stream. All of these events that build and build and build creating the, the distractions of our life, right, the minutia. Okay.

So the Pharisees are gonna bombard you with the idea in order to try and create fear, that you're at risk of these giant asteroids and meteors. They're gonna use their, horror media to do this, the propagandists that are so fucking stupid they don't know that they're serving evil. And, they're gonna keep telling you, Oh, it's all random chance. Random chance. Right?

And, because they want you to spend more money on their religion, which is science. From their religion, you get such things as Marxism and communism, which is their religion reapplied to, destroy other religions. Right? And I think all religions are horseshit because at the core of all religions are the idea of gods, gods exist from space aliens. Because if it's the supreme consciousness, it's not here in the materium with us.

It's got better things to do, so to speak, right? Creating the materium in us. Anyway, so that's what's gonna happen with Apophis and all of these other meteors. If they're gonna hit Earth, they're gonna hit Earth. And should anybody do about it, and worrying about it is stupid.

Right? And and no, the Pharisees have no ability to place any kind of odds. So if they say it's 6% now, they're gonna elevate that to, oh, 7.5% and then 11% the closer we get to this time period, whereby and then in that time period the asteroid goes zipping by us and doesn't hit us because that does not serve the ontology. Right? So, so that's the way this universe works.

There is no random and you can't prove that random exists. There's nothing you can do to do that. In order to get random even close to it, and we know it's, only marginally close to it, you have to have, like, video cameras focused on stuff that may occur, that you can't control. So, the amount of light versus dark on a video camera set for black and white looking at a, lava lamp. Okay?

Theoretically, those things of oil floating around through other parts of oil are gonna be random. And they are far more random than we can ever achieve in a, computer chip. But they are themselves not random. So anyway, this one's a little bit long, but I was just, we're gonna get we're gonna get inundated with these things. Be aware of this.

They're trying to generate fear. There is no random, you know. You cannot there isn't your death is not a random factor. When you die, you will, you'll discover this when you die that that it wasn't random, that it had to happen at that point for certain things, for certain reasons, for the karma, for the event stream. But, and it's not random in any regard on anything here.

So listening to the Pharisees on this, the stuff about the, asteroids and stuff, it's like, well, yeah. Yeah, that's fine. You know, they wanna generate some fear on this shit. Now I'm gonna get on with my business, which basically is, you know, aiding to recreate a or to create a, sci fi world that has a sound underpinning. Because there's another thing about this.

All Pharisee science, okay, all of the grittology, all of the Jew dominated physics, all of it breaks when it comes down to the observer effect. And, no none of them will ever debate me on this because they have no answer for it. Yet I can explain it, sim simply and, it takes a few words, but relatively easily. Right? But it comes down to something that they deny, which is that consciousness exists before the illusion of matter, and that all matter is an illusion within an ontology, and that there is no such thing as random in our existence now, which proves we live in an ontology.

And, they can't debate. Right? Debates are stupid anyway because debates have, moderators and rules and shit. Right? Anything else is an argument.

The Pharisees are very good at arguing, in circuitous ways with their, limited minds, not in solving problems, as we know from all the shit that they're doing. I mean, these people are spending millions of dollars on wackadoodle crap at CERN, supposedly looking for a god particle so that they can create life. And, you know, don't humans can never create life other than through, what universe has provided to us in the form of reproduction. Anyway, just getting pissed again.

February 13 %

Hello, humans. Hello, humans. February 13, '5 zero '3 AM. It's cold. It's 32 degrees.

We've had it down to 25 the other day, so not too bad. It's nice not having the chemtrails. We get sun in the, afternoon when it moves around over the Olympics. So this is good.

Anyway, wanted to talk today about are you ready?

You really think so? Okay. So are you ready for aliens? That's what we're gonna talk about because there's a lot, a lot in, the datasets that we're there saying that we're there now for what everybody calls disclosure. I call it emergence because they've been part of our social order for, you know, who knows how long.

Our history's all garbage. We can't trust anything that comes from academia or officialdom at all because it's all polluted and deliberately corrupted. But we know that the aliens have been around. You can, see the signs of it everywhere, right? In previous civilizations here on the planet, all different kinds of things.

So all this is gonna be coming out. It's gonna be a really incredibly wild 2025 relative to the amount of information pouring out. And we're just getting into the secrets revealed part. We've only been doing this three weeks, Right? I suspect that the, big bulk of the space alien stuff will come out this, this summer.

There's a lot of reasons to in the data to suggest that it'll be, really emerging in June. So we might have, like, two or three weeks in June, start off on, like, June 7 or something. And, it'll be, two to three weeks very much like we've got now, with details about all of this, human to alien interaction. And, then it'll really get moving in, July and August. It's always since, like, I don't know, maybe 02/2002, it's it's always been associated with, summertime and, those kind of activities.

Anyway, the, part of the point here is that as this stuff comes out about the space aliens, it's gonna start dawning on a lot of people, including some of the normies, to think, I wonder what's going on up on the moon. And that's where we get into some really interesting contention here on the planet and, between the selenites and the Earthers, you know, the moon people and ourselves. And so it starts becoming, quite a big deal. And that'll continue on for decades and decades and decades as we unravel all of these, these hidden aspects of, this common shared reality. Part of the stuff we're gonna have to get through and beyond, and honestly, I have no idea how the social order is really going to deal with it, is the, the really dirty aspect of the secrecy around space aliens.

Right? Not only is there the zero point technology that frees all of humanity from, poverty and grubbing in the mud for grass in order to dry it, in order to have something to burn to cook some food. Right? Half our planet is is energy deficient. They don't have personal energy to use at their residence.

Right? So, not only is there the zero point energy and the evil that was done to suppress that, but there's also this other aspect where recently, and I'm talking within my lifetime, the powers that be have been killing off people that discovered, and explored the presence of, aliens and human alien interaction. I mean, these, Elohim worship cult, the Pharisees, they were real they are really, really, really desperate for whatever reasons not to have this come out. So as we go forward here in this, disclosure into the space aliens and stuff, you're gonna see a lot of the woo people will be standing up, you know, like, you know, famous woo people like Jay Weidner, right? He's a famous, moviemaker.

And and he'll be standing up saying, hey, I know people that were killed to suppress this information. And I'll say that as well. You know? I know I know three people, and I suspect strongly that it's actually five, But I know three people pretty for sure that I think the deep state, killed in order to keep them from pursuing their work. This latest one was Bruce Seesawl.

He had a really good setup, telescope, showing you the shit on the moon, showing you the battles up there, the space aliens fucking around, structures, you know, explosions the size of nuclear weapons, all different kinds of shit. And, they did whatever it is, and he died in like two and a half or or three months once he started, you know, in the process. And I know, another person, a female, that died that exact same way. And it's, and she was involved in researching this stuff. She was coming at it from a different angle.

So, you know, these people are killing you. They used to kill you for stumbling across this secret and pursuing it, for going down that rabbit hole. And, now we're gonna have to we're gonna have a bunch of woo guys stand up and say, hey, look, know, there needs to be acknowledgment. We need to understand who it was, you know, how they paid for it, all of this kind of stuff. Probably paid for by USAID shit, that level of corruption.

Anyway, though, so people have been killed, just to protect the information, just to keep the secrecy. And it has just magnified and multiplied and magnified over the years. So I'm just one guy. Right? And I think I know five people in this business that, that were murdered.

And and, these people are not the same people that Jay Weidner knows. And these people are not the same people that, you know, these other people know. So there have been a lot of people killed by the deep state just to keep you from thinking about aliens. And here they are. You know, they're gonna have to release it.

Now, the question is, why now? Right? And in okay. So I'm speculating that I think I know, why they have to get this shit out now. And that's because, the deep state is dying, but the control system is still out there.

And parts of the control system reach in even to the Trump guys, and they can't help it because they grew up in an environment and have certain assumptions and allegiances and loyalties and things. Right? So they they're part of a system in which a few words can make them, react and have, different different, actions. And and they're not, they're not being duplicitous. They don't even know they're being controlled, right, because they have assumptions that other people can leverage off of.

And that's a a big issue for me, is I always go back to what's called first principles, dig all the way down through, and then start building back up and see where all the assumptions are wrong. It makes me less wrong, you know, it makes me more accurate doing things that way, although sometimes it can be a little slow. Anyway, though, so, we're at this point now where the secrecy is gonna be, broken, the secrets will be revealed, the aliens are gonna be, discussed, and so on. And I'm of the opinion that the motivation for this is the Pharisees. This collection of Kazarian mafia and their allies pretending to be Jews have, there's common interest, a deep interest in space aliens and all of that stuff.

In that deep interest, they, have taken actions, and if you're looking at it from like a 40,000 foot view and you're just looking at these actions, you can say, I suspect that these actions were taken in regards to, in response to, specific understandings. And so you can, derive the understandings, the assumptions, that drove those actions. Okay? And so I've seen something occur, and there was this, deep, deep, deep agenda. A lot of this stuff comes on the dark web, on Tor network.

Right? It's not the HTTPS side of things, on that side of the Internet, and it's quite large. There's no indexing facility. There there are search engines. I know of a guy who's got an Al search engine that's quite good for that, even though it's the, data is not really set up to be stored well.

Anyway, so there used to be a deep, deep, deep agenda within the Freemasons, within the Elohim worship cult, the Pharisees, even down into the deep state, you can see the, fingerprints of this all over in terms of how they use their dates and symbols. You know, it reveals everything, these stupid people. Anyway, though, they, they used to have this thing where everybody in the in the Pharisee world was anticipating some form of an event in in 2070. Okay? And, they had, put up masks on their data to make you think that that event was related to a natural event, affecting the Earth.

Right? One of their disaster scenario kind of things. Then that event disappears over time, and this that event was, pegged and used in the early 1950s. Then as we go go advance in time, we go through the 50s and 60s, that event drops off and we start seeing, agenda 02/1950 appear. And then after and it was actually agenda 02/1951 the first time it appeared, and then, basically that same year, it came out and it was revised, agenda '2 thousand and '50.

And then we come down to the point where they're they're doing agenda 02/1930. And it's like, why isn't it advancing? Right? Is it a reaction to the, populace waking up? No, not really.

It was something else. And so I think the something else is this external thing. There are all these other threads that go back to the, Talmudic community and these, and the rabbis, who are also the Elohim worship cultists and so on. But there's also an ancillary group of these, structured, organized, Jewish, Talmudic focused, religious organizations that are not they're into power politics and stuff, but they're not the primary movers and shakers because these guys are driven by a philosophical purpose and stuff. Right?

Anyway, within that Talmudic understanding, within those guys, the language leaking out from them, shows that they're very much concerned with the Elohim, these evil space alien fuckers that came down and and, harvest humans for, meat, fats, bone, and, adrenochrome, or fluids, all the different kinds of fluids. They just harvest us for this. Right? Use it in their social order in various different ways. Anyways, so and the and the Pharisees are safe because they're the herd managers.

They don't get harvested. And that's the whole deal. That's the power politics involved here. The Elohim are extremely powerful, very long lived, really evil motherfuckers from our viewpoint, but they're acting in their own self interest. And they appoint the, this group that we call, Jews, but they're really the Pharisees, and they they created Jews around them, and they manage everything, and they hide in the middle of the Jewish society.

Right? These guys are the herd managers for the Elohim. And that's all breaking down now, and they're really freaking out, especially since they think that the Elohim are coming back. And they now now apparently, they're they think it's coming back in 2,032. That's the estimation from the, the commenters and the philosophers within the the, the deep pharisean culture, and that's their hard contact date.

It hasn't shifted in a couple of years, so maybe they're settled on that, that it'll be 2032 because it kept creeping down. And it was always a couple of years after their agenda stuff came up. Anyway, so get ready for space aliens. Apparently, according to the Pharisees, they're actually on their way. But between now and then, we've gotta go through this reveal.

Right? We've gotta go through the, exposure of all of the shit that's gone on suppressing all of this. And also, at the same time, that's gonna release all the zero point energy. So we truly are stepping into sci fi world, and it really does seem now that it was very, very prescient and very accurate to suggest that the Trump and Rogan interview would be the the threshold that we have to step over, into this part. Secrets revealed, going on into emergence or disclosure, and then, the zero point technology, and then the rebuilding of our human social order at a at a fantastic level.

Elimination of poverty and all of this kind of stuff. So there's all kinds of good stuff, but within all of that, we have the contention. We have contention within the humanity and, external to humanity as we now start dealing with these nonhuman intelligences. And, again, bear in mind, how we deal with them will be affected by our base understandings, okay, by our assumptions. This is why I am so hot to go on over there and start kicking ass in all of these grittology people because their base understanding places humanity at risk in dealing with these outsiders, in the obviously open system that is Earth.

So, gonna be really interesting, period of time. Sorry for the length on this one. But in this interesting period of time, there's going to be great risk, so we gotta think very carefully about, basically, how we're gonna respond to things, what is the true nature of contention, and, our base level of assumptions. We need to get our shit together. We're gonna have to, have to use this pretty quick.
