Latest news.

A major black swan event is likely in October.

A monumental event of historic proportions, known as a "black swan," appears to be expected in October. Massive and often violent protests in the Western world are already making some form of revolution likely. The risk of a financial system collapse is also high. Israel and the United States are unlikely to survive this event in its current form.

Meanwhile, a massive event is being organized in honor of Charlie Kirk to distract, or perhaps prepare, the masses for what is to come.

I don't usually make such predictions, but too many factors have converged right now. Together, they could very well destroy the Babylonian system of debt slavery in the West.

The biggest story the ruling class is trying to distract us from is a building in midtown Manhattan that was worth $382 million in 2006 and just sold for $8.5 million. That's 1/45th of its 2006 price. Multiply that by the value of commercial real estate across the United States, and it becomes clear that most banks have already failed and are just pretending business as usual.

Another possibility is that the US government will ultimately be forced to declare bankruptcy when its fiscal year ends on September 30. US President Donald Trump himself says the government could shut down on October 1. "We'll take care of the military, we'll take care of Social Security, we'll take care of the things we need to take care of," he promises.

China is also delighted to report that Trump called their president, Xi Jinping, to ask for money. They were too polite to put it that way, but official media reports: "For China and the United States to prosper together... both sides must work diligently in the same direction."

According to them, Trump stated that the United States "seeks long-term, excellent, and cordial relations with China." Xi Jinping, among other things, responded: "The United States must create an open, fair, and non-discriminatory environment for Chinese investors." This phone call was not mentioned in any White House press release or in any corporate news reports known to me. The implication is that China wants its companies to relocate to the United States to build factories and infrastructure, and that Trump cannot or will not allow this.

However, in a sign that he is appeasing China, he has just cut off military aid to Taiwan.

Instead of being China's villain, Trump's only real option is to declare bankruptcy. If that happens, the Dragon Family is prepared to finance the creation of a North American United States, with an entirely new government, built from scratch with a new capital somewhere in the Midwest.

However, before we achieve this, we will face serious upheavals as the old system collapses.

This is where the Charlie Kirk incident comes in. First of all, my sources in US military intelligence claim that the entire incident is a hoax and that Kirk is alive and well on an American military base. More and more evidence is emerging that confirms this is a Masonic psyop. First of all, the case of Charlie Kirk's alleged killer, Tyler Robinson, is numbered 251403576. Add up the numbers... $2 + 5 + 1 + 4 + 0 + 3 + 5 + 7 + 6 = 33$. 33???? AGAIN. What are the odds of that?

Then there is a video that shows that Kirk was wearing the ring on a different finger at the time of the "murder."

Whatever the case, this psychological operation is clearly working. Charlie Kirk's funeral was officially attended by more people than those of Martin Luther King and John F. Kennedy. More Americans now know that Israel is also behind these assassinations.

All for Charlie Kirk.

President Trump's entire cabinet was in attendance, including Elon Musk. Incidentally, Pentagon sources claim that neither Vice President J.D. Vance nor Trump himself attended the event for security reasons.

Despite this, the podium at Charlie Kirk's funeral was surrounded by bulletproof glass, something rarely seen at indoor events. This is because this incident highlights the breakdown in relations between Israel and the United States. The assassination of Charlie Kirk and the suspected Mossad involvement mean that support for Israel is zero (literally "zero") among those under 30, and is rapidly dwindling among those older than 30. Now: Breaking government documents – hacked, leaked, unverified and not to be ignored – reveal that Israel has designated Charlie Kirk a “free speech terrorist” who must be neutralized. Worse, the same documents show that they warned President Trump that he was not immune from being labeled and neutralized in the same way if he refused to toe their line.

Even Trump, who recently cowered before Israeli Crime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, now says Netanyahu “fucks me.” This has been reported in both the British and American press.

Trump was outraged by the events in the Gaza Strip and the fact that Israel had just attacked US ally Qatar, thereby violating international law.

If the White Hats want to know which traitors, other than those with dual citizenship in Congress, should be arrested, this photo of 250 US state legislators currently in Israel might serve as a good starting point. Even if the US doesn't take action, Muslim countries certainly will.

emergency meeting in response to the attack on Qatar. All Muslim countries participated, including Yemen, Iran, Turkey, Egypt, Azerbaijan, and others. We are witnessing the formation of an anti-Israel coalition that has never happened before in history. But most importantly, at this meeting, Saudi Arabia announced a military alliance with Pakistan. According to the agreement, any attack on Saudi Arabia or Pakistan “will be considered aggression against both countries.”

Since Pakistan has nuclear weapons and 81% of Pakistan's arms imports come from China, this also means that Saudi Arabia has entered into an alliance with the Chinese military-industrial complex.

Incidentally, when my father was Canada's ambassador to Saudi Arabia in the 1980s, all the Saudi Air Force pilots were paid huge salaries and then hired Pakistani pilots to fly the expensive American fighter jets their country was buying.

The alliance also has a monetary aspect: it puts another nail in the coffin of the petrodollar system (an agreement to set oil prices exclusively in US dollars in exchange for US protection). Saudi Arabia now has much greater flexibility in setting oil prices in any currency.

Speaking of the petrodollar system's upheavals, last week Africa announced its separation from Western financial and internet systems. Amazon, Google, Microsoft, and other companies are being squeezed out of the African market, which encompasses 1.4 billion people. Africans have also broken away from Rothschild-controlled central banks and created their own payment system. Other countries, such as India and Vietnam, are doing the same. Russia and China have long been doing so.

I don't usually give investment advice, but I think Africa is a good choice right now as this huge continent can only grow from its current level.

In any case, it now appears even the British have given up on the US. A split is emerging within the Anglo-Saxon Five Eyes alliance. Australia, Canada, and the United Kingdom have joined more than 150 other countries in recognizing Palestine, despite Israeli resistance. France has also recognized Palestine.

We also have reports from MI6 of a dispute with Trump over Ukraine during his visit to the UK last week. A member of the British royal family who attended Trump's dinner said Trump was "despicable, increasingly unpopular, and distrusted." They added: "Trump is increasingly perceived as some kind of criminal mastermind, campaigning for his own enrichment at the expense of ordinary people. The Windsor Castle dinner resembled a new generation of mafia."

MI6 sent us an Instagram link that shows the conversation that took place during the dinner.

They also sent us this link related to Epstein, which indicates that there was controversy over the release of Epstein documents.

Specifically, according to MI6, the British offered Russia a peace treaty that would have included a new border along the Dnieper River and the transformation of Odessa into a free port controlled by Russia. Trump apparently rejected the offer.

Now, US Intelligence Director Tulsi Gabbard is blocking America's closest intelligence allies from receiving updates on peace talks between Russia and Ukraine. This is the first such incident since World War II.

This came after the governments of Poland, Lithuania, and Estonia attempted last week to stage a series of fake Russian attacks to invoke Article 4 of the NATO Charter and force the Americans to fight Russia. Trump didn't rise to the bait.

According to people close to the Kremlin, President Vladimir Putin has concluded that military escalation is the best way to force Ukraine to negotiate on his terms, and that Donald Trump is unlikely to do anything significant to strengthen Kyiv's defenses.

It is also worth noting that American military observers were given full access to large-scale military exercises in Belarus, the only possible target of which was Western Europe.

Now, it appears Kirk's murder will be used against Ukrainian dictator Volodymyr Zelenskyy. This comes after Ukrainian MP Artem Dmytruk stated: "I declare with full responsibility: Zelenskyy is involved in the assassination attempt on Trump and the murder of Charlie Kirk – both ideologically and practically."

As a measure targeting Ukraine's supporters, they added the International Satanic Movement to their financial blacklist, which allows them to freeze the assets of suspected members, even if they have no criminal record. It's safe to say that special forces are also taking more targeted action against these mass murderers.

In this regard, Russia has also taken aim at the UN. "The fact that the UN is defending the [satanic] regime in Kyiv in every possible way has been repeatedly confirmed," said Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov.

This is important because it means that Russia now realizes that the UN is a private organization controlled by the KhM.

Russia currently supports the idea of reforming the UN Security Council and adapting it to new realities, stated Kremlin Press Secretary Dmitry Peskov. Specifically, Russia advocates for expanding the representation of Asian, African, and Latin American countries on the UN Security Council.

In any case, even if the United States wanted to fight Russia to protect the Nazi regimes in Western Europe, it has no way of defeating Russia.

Russia has increased production of some types of weapons several-fold, and for some goods, almost 30-fold, Russian President Vladimir Putin said while speaking to workers at the Motovilikha plants.

White Hat General Douglas MacGregor claims that, according to his military sources, the US lags behind China and Russia in military technology by eight to nine years. In other words, in the event of a war, the US would run out of missiles and ammunition much sooner.

Now Putin has declared: "There are more than 700,000 military personnel on the line of contact, so we have to choose among them. We have to choose those who are ready and suitable for this job."

According to General MacGregor, Britain, France and Germany together can mobilise less than 90,000 troops, so Russia could simply march all the way to the Atlantic if it wanted.

Russia may not have to do anything, since it seems that the Nazi regimes in Western Europe will collapse on their own.

Millions of people in the UK recently protested against the blackmail of pedophile Prime Minister Keir Starmer. If raising one's own flag is perceived as an act of rebellion, it means the country is under foreign occupation. A Pentagon source described the protest as follows:

"3 MILLION British patriots: 0 women raped, 0 goats injured."

Violent anti-government demonstrations continue in France. Now, real guillotines are appearing on the streets.

One demonstration shows a group of citizens riding in a model wooden tank, while another part of the demonstration shows a similar wooden structure resembling a guillotine surrounded by a large crowd.

This week, the patriotic Alternative for Germany party is leading in all major national opinion polls in Germany for the first time.

A woman stands in front of a poster with the AfD logo, with a neutral expression and wearing stylish clothing.

Election results:

The right-wing conservative AfD party is number one in Germany.

Marine Le Pen's National Rally is number one in France.

Giorgia Meloni, "Brothers of Italy", number 1 in Italy

Nigel Farage's Reform UK party leads in Britain

As Putin notes:

The truth is that the problems facing millions of people in the Western world today are the result of years of mistakes, shortsightedness, and the ambitions of the ruling elite. This elite isn't thinking about how to improve your lives; it's obsessed with its own selfish interests and super-profits.

For example, Nobel Prize-winning economist Joseph Stiglitz argues that Eastern Europe is at least twice as poor as it would have been had it not joined the EU. It currently pays the West, and especially Germany, $300–400 billion a year, Stiglitz explains.

This week, EU President Ursula von der Leyen faces two votes of no confidence. They are supported by both left-wing and right-wing parties, and we hope they succeed this time.

There are also indications that the white hats are after the true source of the Khazarian mafia's power – control over the vast sums of black money used to manipulate society.

One of the main managers of this money: Barack "Satan's Thunder" Hussein Obama Hitler is a hunted man. Director of National Intelligence Gabbard claims he attempted to overthrow the United States constitutional order in 2016 as part of a "treasonous plot." He also overthrew it in 2020 to cover up his actions—and now he's been caught.

Moreover, less than a week after Kirk's death, Stephen Miller, Trump's deputy chief of staff, took a specific step against major foundations like the Rockefellers, condemning organized campaigns to expose personal data, organized riots, organized street violence, organized campaigns of dehumanization, defamation, and the publication of people's addresses, coupled with messages designed to incite and encourage violence within the very organized cells that carry it out and facilitate it. This constitutes a massive domestic terrorist movement.

"As God is my witness," Miller said, "we will deploy every resource available at the Justice Department, the Interior Department, and across government to identify, disrupt, dismantle, and destroy these networks and make America safe for the American people again. It will happen, and we will do it in Charlie's name."

This happened after Trump wrote:

"I am pleased to announce to our many American patriots that I declare ANTIFA a SICK, DANGEROUS, RADICAL LEFTIST DISASTER, MAJOR TERRORIST ORGANIZATION..."

A screenshot of Donald Trump's tweet calling ANTIFA a major terrorist organization, highlighting its danger.

Demonstrators hold the Anti-Fascist Action flag at a protest. People holding various signs are visible in the background.

George Soros's Open Society Foundations (OSF), now led by his son Alexander, has invested more than $80 million since 2016 in groups linked to terrorism or extremist violence, including Antifa, according to Pentagon sources.

Hungary and the Netherlands have also designated Antifa as a terrorist organization. This is significant because it means their special forces and US special forces will no longer be able to pursue Antifa and its sponsors.

They should also look into PayPal: PayPal's notifications of "completed" transfers are hiding a deliberate bottleneck... where funds disappear from users' view and end up in the company's vault under the guise of "security checks" or "processing delays."

This isn't a technical glitch, but rather artificial mining, which annually sucks billions of dollars into PayPal's liquidity pools and inflates shareholder dividends, while users spend weeks or months chasing "ghosts." More than 1.2 million unresolved complaints since 2020 confirm this pattern: 87% of "missing" funds appear only after escalation, but 13% disappear irrevocably through unspecified reserves allocated to offset operational "black holes."

PayPal stole $15,000 from me and tried to bankrupt me by refusing to process my subscription payments. Now PayPal founder Peter Thiel is giving talks about the "antichrist." There are so many alternatives to PayPal now, I suggest everyone boycott this criminal company. It would be even better if these criminals were arrested.

There are signs that this is indeed happening. Trump has launched unprecedented criticism of Attorney General Pam Bondi for her failure to rein in the "deep state."

The president apparently leaked a private message he sent to Bondi in which he accused her of being "all talk and no action" and demanded the successful prosecution of his political enemies.

In a post published on his Truth Social platform, Trump listed FBI Director

James Comey, Senator Adam Schiff of California, and New York Attorney General Letitia James, saying "they're all guilty as hell."

Donald Trump tweets criticizing lawsuits and charges against several people.

Now we're seeing the closure of major airports. In the past, such closures served as cover for the KhM elite to escape or be arrested.

The disruption at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport and Dallas Love Field, both in Texas, had a domino effect across America, causing flight delays and cancellations in 20 other US airspaces, including those serving Los Angeles, Atlanta, Miami, New York, Chicago, Denver, Salt Lake City, and Washington, D.C. Flights in Canada were also affected by disruptions, with departures from Toronto, Montreal, and Vancouver delayed.

London's Heathrow Airport, Europe's busiest, was also hit, as were major transit hubs such as Brussels and Berlin.

Our sources were unusually silent about this, presumably for operational security reasons. One can only hope this was done to prevent the perpetrators from escaping arrest.

If the quarantine is a cover for the XM Satanists to flee, they may not find refuge in Argentina this time. Argentina's President Milley faces a new crisis as the crisis-stricken South American country's currency has plummeted.

"The market," Miley said in response to a local reporter's request for a short interview Friday evening, "is in a panic." It's a good sign, showing they understand Miley won't last long.

This comes after a US Air Force E-4B Nightwatch aircraft, ominously nicknamed the "Doomsday Plane," was spotted hovering over Fort Worth, Texas, on a mysterious mission.

The secret aircraft serves as a flying command post for the president and top military leaders, equipped to direct nuclear strikes and conduct critical operations in crisis situations. What was it doing over Texas?

As direct evidence that Trump is going after pharmaceutical companies responsible for mass murder, he also released a video claiming that vaccines are poisonous.

Trump is also attacking corporate propaganda media. He has begun systematically firing television hosts who criticize him. As a sign of the pressure the Rockefellers are feeling, a fake Hillary Clinton Rockefeller wearing a mask claims that President Trump is firing Jimmy Kimmel to silence his opponents.

In response, Trump sued the New York Times, writing:

Today, I have the great honor of filing a $15 billion libel and defamation lawsuit against the New York Times, one of the worst and most degenerate newspapers in the history of our country... They continue this decades-long STRATEGY and pattern of abuse, which is unacceptable and illegal. The New York Times has allowed itself to lie, defame, and libel me for too long, and it must stop NOW! This lawsuit is filed in the great state of Florida.

This is the same New York Times that never reported the truth about the 9/11 attacks that took the lives of so many New Yorkers. It would be great if they would report the truth again.

Perhaps even more significant, British tycoon Lynn Forester de Rothschild is considering selling his long-standing family stake in The Economist, a newspaper founded in 1843 that has benefited from Rothschild investments ever since.

A complete purge of the corporate media is needed to restore democracy in the West.

Udo Ulfkotte, editor of one of Europe's largest newspapers, made a shocking confession. After 25 years as an international journalist, he made the following statement:

I've been a journalist for about 25 years. During this time, I've learned to constantly lie, deceive, and never tell the public the truth. I was paid by the CIA, American billionaires, intelligence agencies, and others to push for war with Russia. Journalists in Europe and around the world are used to manipulate the public.

When I worked at Forbes, the murders and dismissals of real journalists from corporate media outlets were in full swing. My former colleague and head of Forbes Moscow was shot eight times in front of his apartment. An ambulance arrived an hour later, but he was still alive. Then the elevator at the hospital stopped for eight minutes while he was in it, and he died there. He was killed for being a Christian and exposing corrupt oligarchs.

Around the same time, I survived several assassination attempts after refusing huge bribes (I was literally offered control of General Motors and General Electric). Forbes tried to send me to Pakistan, but I sensed something was wrong. Instead, my colleague from the Wall Street Journal went there and was beheaded. It was events like these that made me realize that we have no choice but to literally fight for the truth. God is the truth.

Meanwhile, it appears that the KM is trying to incite racial hatred and war between Muslims and Christians.

For example, Toronto has over 100 mosques, yet worshippers chose to pray in the middle of a busy street, blocking traffic and essential services, all while enjoying the protection of our police.

Why?

They also posted the video below with the explanation: "People know that white people don't pick fights with black people. We just don't do that. In fact, it's the other way around, and we've been pushed beyond our comfort zone."

And also the following explanation: "On September 19th, literally yesterday, these wonderful young migrants offered roadside assistance. It's so nice to see how well they're integrating into our 'friendly Canadian culture.'"

While I abhor racism, the fact is that Western countries are overwhelmed by non-Christian men of military age who have committed a litany of serious crimes. This requires military action, as the police are overwhelmed. Trump started this, but the rest of the Western world must follow suit.

Another example of what looks like an attempt at social manipulation by the CM:

Meta used photos of schoolgirls starting school to promote one of its social media platforms to a 37-year-old man. The parents called the move "scandalous" and "outrageous."

The man noticed that his Instagram feed was filled with posts encouraging people to "start Threads"—a competitor to Mark Zuckerberg's Threads and Elon Musk's X—with embedded posts featuring girls aged 13 and over in uniform, with their faces and, in most cases, names visible.

XM must lose control of Silicon Valley.

The second thing the military must do is end the XM's control of directed energy weapons.

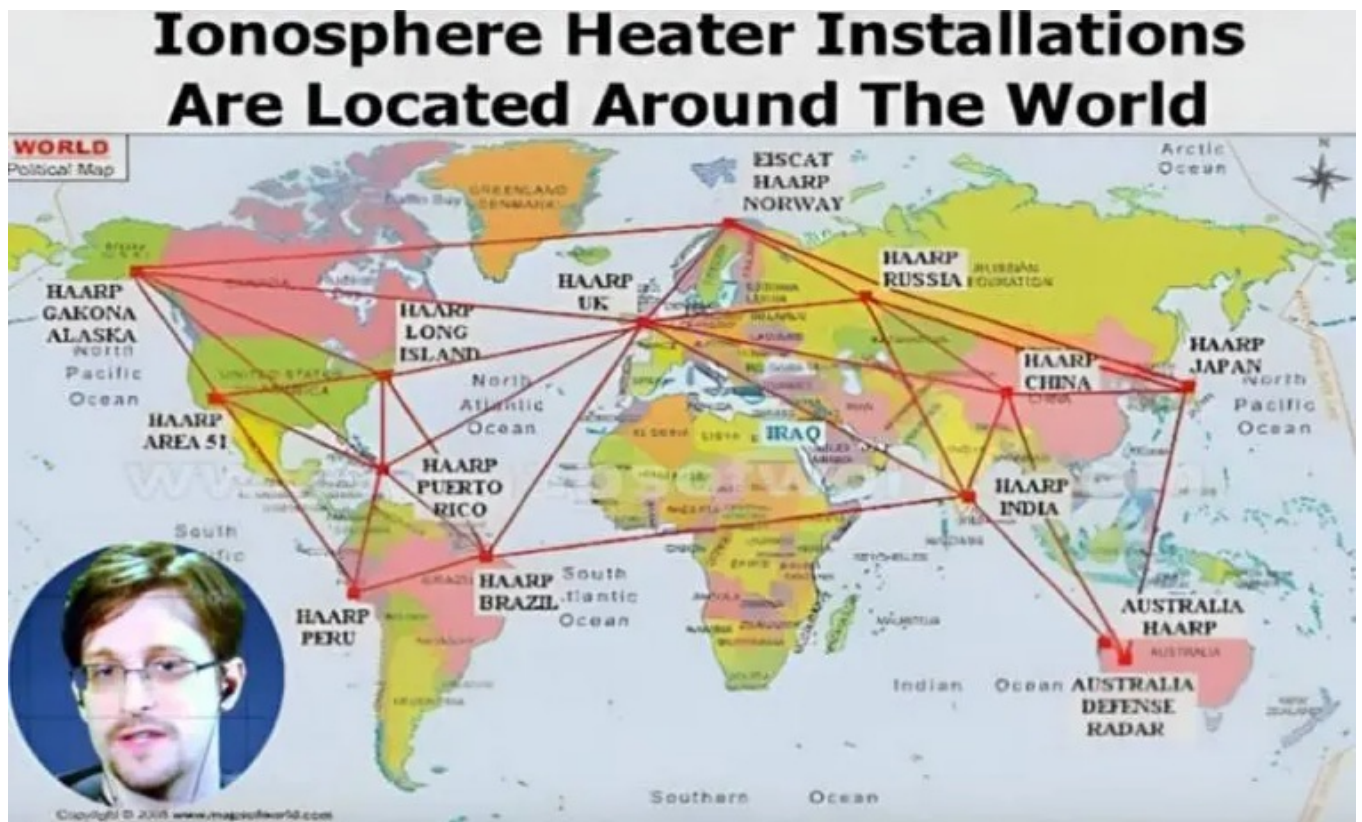

Edward Snowden just detonated the information bombshell the Deep State feared most. HAARP isn't a research station, but a weapon for global control. Leaked documents show that HAARP can induce strokes and heart attacks by directing ultra-high-frequency radio waves at the brainstem. The resulting death appears natural and leaves no trace of murder.

Snowden confirms that NATO uses HAARP to suppress dissent, manipulate minds, and provoke psychotic breaks in order to discredit its victims. This isn't just theory: during their escape from Hong Kong, Snowden and WikiLeaks employees had to defend themselves from radio-induced lethal impulses.

Now French intelligence reports that HAARP is being used against protesters, causing flash floods in areas where demonstrations are taking place, such as Marseille, as can be seen in the video below.

Patriots, wake up! Demand the closure of these facilities. Demand the exposure of those who approve of their use.

A map showing the locations of ionospheric heaters around the world, with photographs of Edward Snowden in the corner.

Long live the revolution! Long live the revolution!
